30 ENEMY SHIPS OFFERED FOR SALE BY SHIPPING BOARD

LIMITS BIDS TO AMERICANS

LEVIATHAN IN THE LIST

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Thirty former enemy-owned passenger ships seized by the United States Government when this country entered the war were offered for sale today, with the condition that the purchasers shall be Americans, and the ships must be used on lines to be designated by the Shipping Board and must fly the American flag.

The group offered for sale today includes the Leviathan, largest ship afloat; the George Washington, used by President Wilson in his trips to the Peace Conference, and other well-known vessels.

In connection with the offer Chairman John Barton Payne of the Shipping Board announced that it was the intention of the board to get the Government out of the shipping business as rapidly as possible by selling to private interests all passenger and cargo ships, including former enemy-owned tonnage, unless Congress stepped in and blocked such a program.

Shipping experts have pointed out that passenger liners operated by the United States might find it difficult to compete with foreign owned liners as a result of a decision of this Government not to sell alcoholic drinks on its passenger ships. Officials of the Shipping Board would not discuss this question. They did not admit that it had anything to do with the decision to dispose of passenger liners to private interests. The decision, it is stated, is simply in line with the general policy to get the United States out of the commercial shipping business as soon as possible.

The Internal Revenue Bureau must determine as to the privileges which may be enjoyed by passenger shipping owned by private interests and flying the American flag, and the Shipping Board has no part in the settlement of this issue.

Chairman Payne said he was unalterably opposed to a policy of Government ownership of commercial shipping, and it also became known that the decision of the board to sell its liners was determined principally by the cost of refitting the former enemy ships from their present condition of transports to first-class passenger vessels, which would be nearly $50,000,000. It was found, for instance, that rewiring of the Leviathan would cost half a million dollars.

Details Terms of Sale.

Ships will not be sold at bargain prices, however, and Government control will continue until satisfactory bids are obtained.

The Shipping Board tonight issued a call for bids for the Leviathan and twenty-nine other former German and Austrian owned passenger liners and combination passenger and cargo ships. The Leviathan was formerly the Vaterland. The complete list of former enemy owned tonnage now offered for sale follows:

Vessels of First-Class Passenger Type—Leviathan, Agamemnon, Mount Vernon, Von Steuben, George Washington, Martha Washington, America, De Kalb, Aeolus, Huron, Princess Matoika, Pocahontas, Callao, Moccasin, Black Arrow and Otsego.

For Steerage and Cargo—Eton, Madawaska, Mercury, Powhatan, Orion, Antigone, Susquehanna, President Grant, Nansemond, Artemis, Philippines, Wyandotte and Freedom.

Steps looking toward the sale of other passenger and cargo vessels, now completed or in course of construction in American yards, will be taken shortly, the effort being made to stimulate the sale to private account. The call for bids issued tonight was restricted to former enemy-owned ships, in order to dispose of them at this time if possible. Conditions of the sale will be somewhat different from those governing the sale of new tonnage.

Proposals will be received by the Shipping Board up to and including Jan. 20, and these specifications are made:

"Proposals to be accompanied by a certified check for 2½ per cent. of the total amount bid. Bids to be on either lump sum per ship or per gross ton dead weight. The following information should accompany all bids:

"First—Trade or service in which ships will be placed if bid is accepted.

"Second—Such assurance as may be possible that service will be permanent.

"Third—The amount of United States tonnage now owned by bidder.

"Fourth—Percentage of foreign ownership or interest in partnership, company or corporation bidding.

"Fifth—Foreign interest in bid, if any.

"Sixth—Particular fitness of bidder for service.

"All bids to be based on taking title of ships, it being understood and agreed that any commitments of the Shipping Board involving operation, repairs, or

2,396 Ships Passed in 1919, Was Panama Canal Record

PANAMA, Jan. 2. — Traffic through the Panama Canal in 1919 exceeded that of any previous year. Two thousand three hundred and ninety-six ships of 7,128,000 net tons, in addition to naval ships displacing 1,000,000 tons, passed through the waterway. The cargoes of the merchant ships amounted to 7,711,000 tons.

Ships measuring 7,000 tons, carrying 10,000 tons of cargo, were 2 per cent. greater than in any previous year. December broke the monthly record, 283 ships of 937,000 net tons, carrying cargoes of 953,000 tons, traversed the canal. The tolls collected amounted to $891,373 for December and $6,972,004 for the year.

AMERICAN SHIPS GOING CARGOLESS

RECORD OF THE LAST MONTH

Better Organized British Agencies Had Already Taken the Cream of Port's Business.

Copyright, 1920, by Chicago Tribune Company

MARSEILLES, Jan. 1. — Twenty-one American freighters have been forced to leave Marseilles during the last month without cargoes owing to prohibition in the United States, which makes wine, the principal export of France, contraband in America, and to the low exchange, which makes it impossible for boats paying American salaries to handle French cargoes to ports outside of the United States.

There are seven boats flying the American flag in port here waiting for cargoes, but indications are that they will have to depart light.

Captains of these boats state that unless the United States Government establishes transportation agencies in the leading ports throughout the world the United States merchant marine will be unable to compete with Great Britain and other countries, which, they declare, owing to influential local representatives, are able to pick off the cream of the shipping business and leave what is undesirable for the United States boats.

Among the American boats being held here for cargoes are the schooner Lucia, which brought a cargo of coal from Norfolk, Va.; the Melbourne, which brought to France a cargo of kernels from West Africa, and the Mantchain, which brought Lagos goods.

All along the Gold Coast of Africa an American boat does not get a show at any desirable cargo, Captain C. B. Foster, of the Melbourne, said. "This is not unexpected, because British shipping gets preference among British colonies, but I don't know a single place where the United States shipping has an edge. We consider ourselves lucky if we can get an even break."

Captains Charles Willard of the Lucia and C. Coater of the Mantchain, both old seamen, made the same comment.

"If the United States Government or Shipping Board would get able seamen, those who know this game from the galley up, to represent us in the various ports, we might get a chance at the desirable cargoes. As it is, a United States boat has to take what it gets," Captain Foster stated. "The British Government especially makes it a rule to have a man who knows what he is doing go after business for British ships. It is time the United States took a step in that direction unless it wants to sell out altogether."

The longshoremen were granted all their demands and have returned to work, after tying up shipping here for some time by a strike.

EBERT URGES GERMANS TO RESTORE THE NATION

Declares That This Year Will Show Whether They Are to Endure or Collapse.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—President Ebert requested the Chancellor to publish the following New Year manifesto today:

"In the year just ended chaos was averted and the unity of the empire was maintained and consolidated. Under the pressure of a reckless force we were compelled to conclude a peace threatening the honor and welfare of our nation and placing the fruits of our work of past and future years at the mercy of foreigners.

"The year which begins must decide whether Germany, despite all difficulties, will maintain herself as a nation and State and develop her economic life on a sound basis or whether, through internal quarrels, she will definitely collapse and bury the hopes, even of her future generations.

"With these prospects of our fate before my eyes, I urge all those calling themselves Germans, in view of the common danger, to close their ranks in order that each according to his capacity may help to the utmost in the restoration of the Fatherland."

SENATE COALITION FORMING TO SEEK TREATY HARMONY

TO OFFER DRAFT TO LODGE

CONFERENCES ARE GROWING

Democrats Defer to Wilson by Refraining from Direct Compromise Proposal.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Democratic program for a compromise on the peace treaty is now in the making.

While the Senate Democrats are opposed to offering direct proposals, a way around the difficulty has been found. The Democratic suggestions are to come ostensibly from the mild reservationist group of Republicans.

Democrats will claim no credit for helping frame thie compromise. They will not even admit having a hand in it, but they will vote for it.

The Democratic program is to be handed to the mild reservationists within a short time, according to present plans. This may be within twenty-four hours, or within a week. It embodies four points, upon which Democratic leaders have already tentatively outlined their position to the mild reservationists. These points will relate to the preamble, Article X., Reservation 14, and Shantung.

The mild reservationists are to hand the Democratic proposals to Senator Lodge, after they have worked out an agreement with the Democrats on them. Upon Mr. Lodge's verdict, his friends say, will depend their acceptance or rejection by the additional Senators whose support is necessary to effect ratification. Senator Lodge's position is such that it appears certain he will withhold his assent from these or any other proposals until there is absolute certainty that they will command 64 votes.

With the situation in this state today, leaders on both sides agreed that the final settlement and ratification are probably many days off.

Leaders on Both Sides Confer.

Both Mr. Lodge and Mr. Hitchcock today held important treaty conferences. The Republican leader saw Senator Swanson, a Democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee; Senator McNary, mild reservationist leader; Senator Lenroot, strong reservationist, and Senator Capper, a Lodge reservationist. Mr. Hitchcock called in Senators Swanson and King, the latter of whom has written a set of reservations.

The net result of the conferences, according to those who attended them, was to increase the hopefulness which nowadays pervades the Capitol, but no definite basis for which has yet been found by even the most optimistic Senator.

Senator Swanson, it was stated after his conference with Mr. Lodge, did not ask the Republican leader to consider any concrete program.

Mr. McNary discussed the forthcoming Democratic proposals and the possibility of getting enough votes for them. He also advised Mr. Lodge that unless evidences of activity were continued Senator Underwood's resolution for an official conciliation committee would be adopted after the recess with the aid of several Republican votes.

Senator Lodge has already expressed his hostility to this resolution and is understood to be somewhat disturbed at the prospect that Republicans will support it in sufficient numbers to pass it, with the aid of the Democrats. Mr. Lodge's opposition to it is founded, it is understood, upon his unwillingness that the Democrats should even appear to get credit for bringing about a settlement.

Senator Lenroot said that his talk with Senator Lodge added nothing to his information concerning the situation, but he hinted that the next day or two might bring interesting developments.

Mr. Capper found Mr. Lodge quite as partial to the Lodge reservations as he ever was, and said that he and the Republican leader agreed thoroughly that the Lodge program must stand without vital change.

Senator Lodge said after his conferences that the outlook was good. He was still waiting, he said, for something concrete from the other side. So far as he is concerned the program on which he stands is known, and his sponsorship of that program has not diminished.

Hitchcock Predicts Concession.

The Democratic conference in Senator Hitchcock's office did not produce all that was expected of it by some Senators in the way of tangible results. This, however, was due to the absence of certain Democrats, whose advice was desired. At its conclusion Mr. Hitchcock denied that the Democrats would submit definite proposals, on the ground that they were not in a position to do so. He said that the Hitchcock reservations which he presented at the last session represented the extent to which he was authorized to go.

"I am not in a position to offer a compromise and have not been asked to do so," said Senator Hitchcock. "If

LONG ISLAND TRAIN HITS AUTO; KILLS 2

Crushes Car at Babylon Pike Crossing and Carries It, with Dead, Quarter of a Mile.

THREE OTHERS ARE INJURED

Driver with Four Fares Speeding Toward Crossing Failed to Heed Danger Whistle.

Special to The New York Times.

MERRICK, L. I., Jan. 2.—At an unprotected crossing where the tracks of the Long Island Railroad cross the Babylon Turnpike between Freeport and this village the Speonk express shortly after 6 o'clock tonight struck a touring car in which were five persons. Two of them were killed and the others so badly hurt that they were rushed to the Nassau County Hospital in the effort to save their lives. The dead were:

The Dead.

CARROW, ANDREW H., 26 years old, of Baldwin.
MANGLES, FLORENCE, 22, of Bellmore.

The Injured.

HOBARTH, ANNA, of Roosevelt.
KELSKY, MICHAEL, of Hempstead.

A remarkable feature of the accident was that the express train lifted the automobile and with its occupants carried it for a quarter of a mile. When the train came to a stop about 500 yards from the station here the car, a crumpled, shattered mass of wreckage, fell off the front of the engine and with it tumbled out the living and the dead. Nothing was left at the turnpike crossing to show that there had been a collision there.

Keene, the owner of the car, drove for hire and he was traveling from his starting point, believed to have been Mineola. Miss Mangles and Miss Hobarth worked at the Doubleday-Page plant at Garden City. With them was Kelsky. They were evidently going home. It is thought that Carrow was a "fare" picked up on the way. Just how the accident happened was not known this evening, but it is generally thought that Keene was speeding his car along the Babylon road and that he did not hear the whistle of the approaching locomotive above the noise of his engine. This is borne out by the fact that there was no attempt to turn the car aside.

Keene was a friend of two young men who were killed by a train at the same crossing about two months ago. Carrow came to Long Island from Florida about four years ago and was married to a Baldwin girl.

THREE HELD IN AUTO DEATH.

Killing of Man in Yonkers Under Investigation by Police.

Three men are under arrest at Yonkers on a charge of homicide in connection with the death of William J. Duvall of Warburton Avenue, Hastings, whose body, hidden among bushes, was found lying near the estate of Samuel Untermyer on Warburton Avenue, Yonkers, yesterday morning.

The men, William Rohbach, Michael Ritz, and Thomas Mallon, all of Hastings, are being held on order of Coroner George Engle, who believed Duvall met with foul play.

Five deep wounds, apparently knife wounds, which, the Coroner says, could not have been the result of an automobile wreck, were found on Duvall's head and neck. Duvall and the three men under arrest were acquaintances.

The three men admit that while they were on their way to Hastings from Yonkers in their automobile at 2 o'clock yesterday morning the car struck and killed the man. Finding he was dead and fearful of the consequences, they dragged his body fifty feet from the roadway and threw it down a slight embankment.

Belgian Jurist Says Allies Do Not Wish to Make Him a Martyr.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 2, (Associated Press.)—H. Carton de Wiart, former Belgian Minister of Justice, whose opinion is considered reliable in Dutch circles, writes in the Libre Belgique of Brussels that the allied demand for the extradition of the former Emperor William, which is expected in the near future, will not be based on any existing international law or on stipulations in The Hague Convention of 1900, but on a "new moral right."

The former Minister hints that it is the probable intention of the Allies not to punish the former Emperor severely as, he says, this would make him a martyr in the eyes of the German people.

HEARING AT ELLIS ISLAND

Aliens to Be Deported Promptly —Citizens Will Face Trial for Anarchy.

Without a hint of its intention, the full force of the Federal authorities fell on radicals from coast to coast last night and, as reports came into the Government headquarters where William J. Flynn, chief of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation, sat directing the drive, it was said that thousands of agitators aiming at the overthrow of the Government had been trapped in the nation's greatest series of raids.

The blow was aimed at one organization only—the Communist Party of America. This band of followers of the Lenin-Trotzky doctrine of violent government has been conducting a campaign against American institutions and, admittedly, has been in close co-operation with Petrograd. Early in the drive of last night it was ascertained, that some of the highest disciples of Sovietism in this country were sought for deportation.

Flynn Says 700 Were Caught.

"I believe that with these raids the backbone of the radical movement in this country has been broken," declared Chief Flynn at 12:30 this morning. Two hours later he said that more than 700 persons had been seized and examined as a result of the raids here.

Among the prisoners that came into headquarters late were twenty-five women, half of them apparently girls of high school age. They were taken in a descent on The Communist World's publication establishment, at 207 East Tenth Street. Four of the girls were later released.

Another person who was arrested was Julian Codkind of 133 East Ninety-seventh Street, who, the Federal authorities say, is employed in the City Department of Finance, and that he told them that he believed in the principles of the Communist Party, and that the entire nation would soon adopt them. The agents also asserted that Codkind told them he believed in the overthrow of the Government if it became necessary. His arrest took place a few minutes after he had been elected Secretary of the English-speaking branch of the organization in Harlem.

Harry Winitsky, secretary of the National Communist Party, who is now out on bail under charges of criminal anarchy in this State, also was arrested. He did not give his right name and seemed anxious to avoid attracting attention. Winitsky was recognized by an operative of the Department of Justice. When his identity became known he demanded that Dudley Field Malone be sent for. He told the officials that he was a lawyer and so did not have to answer questions.

Thirteen Headquarters Raided Here.

While the agents in thirty-three cities were out on their mission, operatives in New York City raided thirteen Communist Party and Communist Labor Party headquarters. They placed under arrest several hundred men, and, according to Chief Flynn, expected to have the remainder of those named in the deportation warrants in custody before morning. One of the first places to receive the attention of the New York raiders was the publication plant of the Novy Mir, a Russian newspaper printed at 77 St. Marks Place. A quantity of literature was seized at the newspaper offices and at the meeting places.

The raiders failed to meet with any resistance, and the "visits" were quiet affairs. Instructions had been issued to the raiding parties to act with as little force as possible.

It was announced while the raids were still in progress that a special board of inquiry would convene this morning on Ellis Island for the purpose of hearing the cases of the men arrested last night. It was stated that the men arrested in New York, New Jersey, and the western part of New England would certainly be tried by this court, but that it had not been definitely decided whether Western, Southern, and Far Western radicals would come before it.

Those proved to be aliens will be deported without delay, as 3,000 deportation warrants had been prepared for service in the raids. In all, 812 warrants were written and ready for local reds. Naturalized citizens caught by the Federal agents will be turned over to the State authorities for prosecution under State law. In New York, it was said, a direct request would be made to Governor Alfred E. Smith that

Raiders Ordered to Make Cleanup Thorough; Warned Against Violence or Taking Valuables

The following instructions as to the conduct of the raids were issued in identical form to all Department of Justice men engaged in the action throughout the country:

INSTRUCTIONS.

Our activities will be directed against the radical organizations known as the Communist Party of America and the Communist Labor Party of America, also known as Communists.

The strike will be made promptly and simultaneously at 8:30 P. M. in all districts. The meeting places of the Communists in your territory, and the names and addresses of the officers and heads that you are to arrest, are on the attached lists.

You will also arrest all active members where found.

Particular efforts should be made to apprehend all the officers, irrespective of where they may be, and, with respect to such officers, their residence should be searched and in every instance all literature, membership cards, records and correspondence are to be taken.

When a citizen is arrested as a Communist, he must be present with the officers searching his home at the time of the search.

Meeting rooms should be thoroughly searched.

Locate and obtain the charter. All records, if not found in the meeting rooms, will probably be found in the home of the Recording Secretary or Financial Secretary, but in every instance, if possible records should be found and taken.

All literature, books, papers, pictures on the walls of the meeting places, should be gathered together and tagged with tags which will be supplied you, with the name and address of the person by whom obtained and where obtained.

In searching meeting places, a thorough search should be made and the walls sounded.

It is an order of the Government that violence to those apprehended should be scrupulously avoided.

Immediately upon the apprehension of the alien, or citizen, search him thoroughly. If found in groups in a meeting room, they should be lined up against the wall and searched. Particular efforts should be made to obtain membership cards on the persons who are taken.

Make an absolute search of the individual. No valuables, such as jewelry and moneys, to be taken away from those arrested.

After a search has been made of the person arrested you will take all the evidence you have obtained from his person and place in an envelope, which will be furnished you, placing the name, address, contents of the envelope, by whom taken and where, on the outside of the envelope and deliver to me with the alien.

Everybody will remain on duty until relieved, without exception.

Flashlights, string, tags and envelopes should be carried, as per instructions.

In searching rooms of an alien pay particular attention to everything in the room and make a thorough search thereof.

You are also warned to take notice "that no violence is to be used."

You will communicate with me by telephone from your several districts, the number of the telephone herewith given.

Attached you will find a list of those to be apprehended in your district, and you will also apprehend all those found arrested with these names at the time of the arrest whom you find to be active members of the Communist Party.

You are also instructed to use reasonable care and good judgment.

SOVIET OFFERS PEACE TO ITALY

Foreign Minister Holds Out Trade Opportunities Through Black Sea Ports.

REDS NEARING THAT COAST

Armies Marching on Mariupol, on Sea of Azov—Agent at Dorpat Offers Great Concessions.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Tchitcherin, Bolshevist Foreign Minister, has proposed to Italy a resumption of relations between that country and Soviet Russia, pointing out that the "imminent capture of the Black Sea coast by the Soviets will open the Black Sea route to Italy," says a Moscow wireless message received here.

The Bolsheviki, the message continues, have occupied the important stations of Yusovo and Dolia and are marching toward Mariupol (an important seaport on the Sea of Azov).

A quantity of guns and booty was captured in this section, as was also the entire Markhoff division, one of General Denikin's finest corps, the Moscow report adds.

An earlier Moscow wireless reported a rapid advance in the Donetz coal region in South Russia. It was claimed that all of the railway junctions between Bakhmut and Lugansk had been occupied and that the Red lines were less than 65 miles east of Lugansk. (Lugansk is about the same distance from the Sea of Azov.)

With the capture of Novocherkassky thousands of prisoners were taken, according to the Soviet report, which declares the occupation of Ilovayskoye deprives the enemy of the only railway leading up to the front.

On the eve of his return to Copenhagen to resume the prisoner exchange negotiations with Maxim Litvinoff, the Bolshevist representative, James O'Grady, told The Mirror correspondent that he believed the pourparlers would be successful and that the repatriation of British prisoners and British civilian residents in Soviet Russia would be effected by the end of January.

Mr. O'Grady said his consultations since his return from Copenhagen would aid materially in bringing about a settlement. He expressed it as his opinion that Russia would save herself if left alone.

DORPAT, Jan. 1.—Bolshevist Russia is willing to make great concessions to the big powers in the interests of peace, but will not hold out the olive branch to General Denikin, according to M. Klishke, Secretary of the Soviet delegation conferring with Esthonian delegates here.

"A year ago we would have considered peace with General Denikin," he said, "but now it is a fight to the finish."

M. Klishke added the Bolshevist army now numbered 3,000,000 men and declared it to be "invincible."

"Soviet Russia, however," he declared, "would be glad to disband the entire force if peace with the world could be achieved."

Bolshevist agents have reported that France is trying to organize a huge offensive against the Soviet government, he said.

RAILROAD DEFICIT BIG IN NOVEMBER

COAL STRIKE CUT TRAFFIC

Eastern Roads Especially Were Hard Hit by the Difficulties with Miners.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Government deficit from railroad operation during November will be approximately $64,500,000, a high record for the year, according to figures compiled and made public tonight by the Bureau of Railway Economics. Net operating income for the month was estimated to have fallen below $20,000,000, which the Bureau of Economics declared to be the lowest in thirty years when computed on a basis of percentage of investment.

Gross revenues for the month were estimated at close to $436,000,000. This figure is only slightly below the high mark of a year ago, but the heavy expenses, due in part to the coal strike, which also reduced the revenues, left as net little of the operating revenues.

The Government's net loss, the bureau estimated, on the basis of Interstate Commerce Commission figures, has reached $548,000,000 in the twenty-three months of railroad operation. The bureau placed the loss for the eleven months of 1919 at more than $331,000,000.

December return on the rail operation was forecast as bringing another decline to the estimate in the statement issued a few days ago by Director General Hines, who pointed to the inevitable loss in revenues incident to the coal strike.

	1919.	1918.
Revenues	$436,000,000	$440,400,000
Expenses and taxes	417,000,000	383,900,000
Net income	19,000,000	56,500,000

While the November revenues were said by the bureau to show an increase of $149,200,000, as compared with the average for the month in the three-year test period before the war, expenses and taxes also have increased more than $213,000,000. The increase in operating revenues was traceable largely to the heavy passenger traffic, which was represented to have been about 10 per cent. higher than the November average of the test period. Freight traffic, however, was estimated to have dropped several per cent.

The Eastern roads, which in other months have offset losses accumulated by lines in other sections, were unable to meet their actual operating expenses and taxes for the month, the Bureau of Economics figures revealed. Expenses and taxes of the Eastern lines were shown to have been $4,200,000 in excess of operating revenues.

Lines in the West, however, did better in earnings than in most previous months, due to the heavy grain movement and also to the fact that they did not suffer from loss of revenue through the closing of mines. Their earnings were placed at about $20,000,000.

Deportation of Prisoners Accused of Advocating Revolution Will Be Asked.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A nation-wide raid on members of the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party was conducted tonight by agents of the Department of Justice. In thirty-three cities of the country, extending from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and many neighboring towns, Secret Service operatives, armed with thousands of warrants, set out to make wholesale arrests. According to reports reaching here the total of arrests up to a late hour had reached nearly 2,600.

Excerpts made public from a manifesto of the Communist Party revealed that the organization contemplates the overthrow of the American system of government and its replacement by a "workers industrial republic," or Soviet system. It was said tonight at the Department of Justice that the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party—between which there is little difference—supported the Third International,—which was formed under the auspices of Lenin and Trotzky at Moscow, March 6, 1919.

Totals of the Arrests.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the country-wide raids, Attorney General Palmer gave out a copy of a letter he sent on Dec. 29 to Maclay Hoyn, State's Attorney of Illinois, who last night put 200 radicals in jail on his own authority and declared that he had been asked by the Department of Justice to hold off. Mr. Hoyn asserted that this was "pussyfoot politics" on the part of the Attorney General, and also said that the Reds had been warned of the forthcoming raids.

Mr. Palmer's letter shows that raids upon an extensive scale were contemplated at the time he wrote to Mr. Hoyn. For this reason the Attorney General requested the State's Attorney to postpone independent action for ten days.

This formal statement on the raids was issued by the Department of Justice:

"Agents of the Department of Justice took into custody tonight several hundred members of the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party of this country, located in thirty-three cities, on the charge that these organizations advocate and teach the overthrow of the United States Government by force and violence. The only difference between the Communist Party and the Communist Labor Party is one of leadership. Both of these parties, since their organization early last September, have been endeavoring to bring about the establishment of a Soviet form of Government in this country, similar to that which now obtains in Russia."

Quotes Communist Manifesto.

The extract from the manifesto of the Communist Party as made public was as follows:

"The Communist Party of America is the party of the working class. The Communist Party of America proposes to end capitalism and organize a workers' industrial republic. The workers must control industry and dispose of the products of industry. The Communist Party is a party realizing the limitations of all existing workers' organizations, and proposes to develop the revolutionary movement necessary to free the workers from the oppression of capitalism. The Communist Party insists that the problems of the American worker are identical with the problems of the workers of the world.

"The Communist Party is the conscious expression of the class struggle of the workers against capitalism. Its aim is to direct this struggle to the conquest of political power, the overthrow of capitalism and the destruction of the bourgeois State.

"The Communist Party prepares itself for the revolution in the measure that it develops a program of immediate action, expressing the mass struggles of the proletariat. These struggles must be inspired with revolutionary spirit and purposes.

"The Communist Party is fundamentally a party of action. It brings to the workers a consciousness of their oppression, of the impossibility of improving their conditions under capitalism. The Communist Party directs the workers' struggle against capitalism, developing fuller forms and purposes in this struggle culminating in the mass action of the revolution.

"In close connection with the unskilled workers is the problem of the negro worker. The negro problem is a political and economic problem. The racial oppression of the negro is simply the expression of his economic bondage and oppression, each intensifying the other. This complicates the negro problem, but does not alter its proletarian character. The Communist Party will carry on agitation among the negro workers to unite them with all class conscious workers."

Asked Hoyne to Defer Raid.

The Attorney General's letter to Mr. Hoyne was as follows:

"Dec. 29, 1919.

"Hon. Maclay Hoyne, State's Attorney of Cook County, Criminal Court Building, Chicago, Ill.:

"My Dear Mr. Hoyne—I have just concluded a conference with Assistant Attorney General Francis P. Garvan and Special Assistant to the Attorney General John B. Creighton regarding anticipated action by your office in Cook County which you have discussed with both of them.

"Mr. Creighton informs me that the State authorities under your jurisdiction at Cook County are contemplating extensive arrests of certain members of certain radical organizations in Chicago, with a view of prosecuting the individuals under the Illinois State laws, and, further, that you desire to initiate these arrests at a meeting which it is said will probably take place on the 1st of January, or soon thereafter.

"As doubtless you have inferred from your conversation with Mr. Garvan and Mr. Creighton, the Department of Justice is contemplating a nation-wide campaign against certain groups of radicals which, if things go as we expect, will take place in the very near future.

"The object of our activities will be to secure, to submit to the Department of Labor, cases for the deportation of a very large number of some of our most dangerous anarchists and radical agitators. It would be extremely unfortunate for the country at large, and for the Administration, if the local authorities in a city of such great importance as Chicago should conduct a raid directed at the same class of individuals on a date prior to that set for national action, and thereby, through the publicity which such local raid in Chicago would involve, send to cover all over the United States large numbers of individuals whom we have great hopes of apprehending for deportation.

"I am, therefore, asking that you defer the making of such extensive arrests for a short period of time, let us say not to exceed ten days, until the department can complete its arrangements for its nation-wide activities.

"Were the matter purely local I perhaps would not feel that the United States Government should call upon you for this favor, but inasmuch as the situation is national in scope, with such a tremendous result at stake, I feel it not improper to ask this of you at this time.

"Please rest assured that the department stands ready to render you any assistance in its power, consistent with its other official duties, in the preparation and prosecution of such cases under your State law as you may see fit to bring against offenders in Cook County, and will attempt in every possible way not to interfere with your plans.

"Mr. Creighton will leave shortly for Chicago and will have a further conference with you, after which I feel sure you will be able to come to a mutually acceptable understanding that will be beneficial to your office as well as to mine in the handling of these matters. Respectfully,

"A. MITCHEL PALMER."

More Raids to Follow.

It was intimated at the Department of Justice that many of the Reds arrested tonight would be deported, although this decision would ultimately rest with the Bureau of Immigration of the Department of Labor. Other raids will follow the ones made tonight and are expected soon.

The campaign against the anarchists and radicals has been personally conducted by William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation, and has been going on quietly for six months. Ever since anarchists sent the bombs through the mails last Spring Flynn has had hundreds of his operatives scattered throughout the country, in many instances living in the actual camps of the Reds, mixing with them by day and sleeping with them by night.

During the steel strike, coal strike and the threatened railway strikes secret agents moved constantly among the more radical of the agitators and collected a mass of evidence. For months an elaborate card index of the utterances, habits and whereabouts of these men has been made. From time to time the Department of Justice will, from now on, round up these disturbers and either send them to the courts or out of the country.

PHILADELPHIA SCORE, 200.

Headquarters of Every Known Radical Organization Raided.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Virtually every headquarters of known radical organizations in this city, Camden and Chester were raided tonight by Department of Justice operatives, assisted by the police. Hundreds found in the several meeting places were examined.

In addition, the homes of more than fifty known radical leaders were visited by flying squadrons sent out from the Federal Building. All were taken before United States Commissioner Daniels for examination.

The building at 259 North Sixth Street was the first objective of the Government forces. It yielded members of three organizations, the Technical School to Aid Soviet Russia, the Lithuanian Socialist Chorus and the Russian Socialist League. Those of the 150 persons in the meeting rooms who could not show evidence of American citizenship were arrested.

The number of prisoners totaled 200.

SEIZE COMMUNIST CHARTER.

Document Found in Boston Calls for "All Power to the Workers."

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—Among the documents seized in this city in tonight's raid was the charter of the Russian Branch No. 2 of the Communist Party. It was dated Chicago, Nov. 1, 1919, and was signed by C. E. Ruthenberg, Executive Secretary, and H. M. Wicks, member of the Executive Committee. Affixed to it was the red seal of the Central Executive Committee of the Communist Party of America, bearing in the centre a red flag with the words, "All Power to the Workers."

After announcing that the branch had been enrolled in the party, the document said:

"We welcome you to the comradeship of the workers who are pledged to the struggle to abolish the capitalist system and to establish the communist society."

400 TAKEN IN DETROIT.

Private Homes, as Well as Assembly Halls, Raided on Federal Warrants.

DETROIT, Jan. 2.—More than 200 Department of Justice operatives, assisted by police, raided assembly halls and homes tonight, rounding up alleged radicals.

SECOND RAID MADE ON CHICAGO REDS

100 NEW PRISONERS TAKEN

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Twenty-five United States Marshals, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and fifty city policemen, all carrying warrants for scores of anarchists, set out tonight to carry out Chicago's part in a nation-wide drive against the Reds. The arrests at a late hour tonight numbered 100.

The raids were conducted under the direct supervision of John T. Creighton, Special Assistant to Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, who came here a month ago especially to gather evidence against alien agitators and prepare for the roundup here. The plans provided for the arrest of every alien in Chicago and suburbs against whom the Government has a case pending. It was said at the Federal Building that these cases number several hundred.

The Federal agents had instructions tonight to disregard the raids conducted by State Attorney Hoyne on New Year's and visit every address on the list whether the occupants of the house already had been arrested or not. The Federal authorities explained that the roundup had been set for New Year's here and that Mr. Hoyne refused to wait longer when it was found necessary to postpone the raids until tonight.

The Federal authorities declared that they are still working in co-operation with the State Attorney and expect that he will turn over to them those whose names were on the Federal lists for arraignment before immigration officials.

The big problem tonight, however, was to find room for the new prisoners brought in. Every police station in the city is jammed to overflowing by the prisoners taken in the Hoyne roundup. Several more raids were conducted today by detectives from the State Attorney's office.

Mr. Creighton was assisted in the Federal roundup by E. J. Brennan, Superintendent of the Chicago division of the Bureau of Investigation, against whom Mr. Hoyne made the charge of having tipped off some of the Reds to the New Year's raids conducted by him. The Chicago office was kept in continual touch with Attorney General Palmer's desk in Washington all night by means of a special long distance telephone wire leased for the drive. Mr. Creighton had merely to lift the receiver from the hook to get instant communication with the Department of Justice.

He refused to give out the exact number of persons involved in the raids prior to their accomplishment, but issued the following statement:

"I do not feel at liberty at this time to give out details of the scope of our activities. Here in Chicago we expect to exert every ounce of our energy in apprehending the Reds we have cases against and, if evidence is obtained, enlarging the list to go on with our work until every alien anarchist is turned over to the immigration authorities for deportation.

"With regard to Mr. Hoyne's raids or his charges against Mr. Brennan's department I have nothing further to say. Mr. Brennan's and my relations with Mr. Hoyne are cordial, and we still stand ready to co-operate with him in any way consistent with our public duties and the national welfare."

Nine members of various radical organizations arrested Thursday night by raiding squads from the office of State's Attorney Hoyne were arraigned before Judge Hugo Pam in the Criminal Court this evening. Five alleged to be leaders in Chicago's radical circles were held under $10,000 bond each, the remainder under smaller amounts.

Arrangements for the impaneling of a special Grand Jury on Monday morning were hastened today as further raids on radical meeting places proceeded.

The I. W. W. reading room at 951 West Madison Street, I. W. W. headquarters at 1,001 West Madison Street, and numerous other places visited on Thursday were again raided today. About twenty were held for questioning.

Questioning of radicals by army intelligence officers, assistant State's Attorneys, and detectives continued at the Criminal Courts Building all day and far into the night.

AMNESTY PARADERS FREED.

Magistrate Corrigan Dismisses Complaints Against Three.

Three women and two men who were arrested Christmas morning for parading on Fifth Avenue without a permit in the interest of amnesty for political prisoners, and held in $500 bail each for a hearing yesterday in Jefferson Market Court, charged with disorderly conduct, were discharged by Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan.

About fifty sympathizers who paraded with the prisoners on Christmas morning were in the courtroom during the hearing and applauded and cheered frantically when this decision was announced. Magistrate Corrigan ordered quiet in the courtroom, but the applauding continued.

Mr. Driscoll jumped from his seat and shouted above the din, "This is a contempt of court, your Honor." The Magistrate smiled and said to him, "I will run my court as it suits me. Thank you just the same."

Julius Friedman and his brother, Samuel Friedman, of 703 Madison Street, also were discharged, and another outburst of applause and demonstration developed. This time Magistrate Corrigan told court attendants to lock the doors. When quiet had been restored the Magistrate singled out a woman who seemed to be the leader in the cheering and said to her caustically, "This is not a place for a monkey show. Have you folk any manners? If there is any further disturbance in this courtroom I will send the offenders to jail or impose heavy fines. Now pass out quietly," and they did.

In dismissing the complaints, Magistrate Corrigan disagreed with Deputy Assistant District Attorney Driscoll as to the alleged disorderly conduct of carrying signs which read, "Free Political Prisoners." He said that such signs were not vicious in his opinion, that they only express the ideas of persons who believe that political prisoners should be free and therefore could not comprehend any disorderly acts, so far as the testimony disclosed.

SOVIET ARK MOVES SLOWLY.

Buford, with 249 Anarchists, Not Half Way Across Ocean.

Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman, and the other deported radicals who make up the passenger list of the "Soviet Ark" Buford, now on its way to Russia, observed the passing of 1919 and the advent of 1920 on the high seas. A wireless message from the transport, filed on New Year's Day and received in this city yesterday, gave her position as approximately one-third of the way across the Atlantic. As the ship sailed Dec. 21 the promise of a slow and meditative passage is being fulfilled.

As no mention was made in the message of any unusual occurrence on board, army officers said they assumed that the trip was going well. The Buford, it was said, has taken a route well to the northward of the Azores. Therefore the first land to be sighted can be anywhere between the northerly coast of France and the Orkneys, with a possibility of passing from the Atlantic into the North Sea through the English Channel.

FRENCH GET CONVICTS TO OPEN ARMY SAFES

By HENRY WALES.

Copyright, 1920, by Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—When the French Government bought all the property of the American Expeditionary Force it acquired a number of safes installed in the paymaster's office in the Elysée Palace and in various other A. E. F. offices.

But when the Americans turned over this property to the French they forgot to give the new owners the combinations of the strong boxes, in many cases. As a result the French Government found a lot of closed and locked safes on its hands and did not know how to open them.

There was long correspondence between the French authorities and the American Liquidation Commission. The French wrote asking the Americans to tell them the combinations to open the safes. The Americans investigated a while and found, in most cases, that the men and officers who knew the combinations had long since been sent back to the United States and demobilised.

Efforts were made to trace these men, and in a few cases they were found in various parts of the United States, and occasionally one could remember the cipher to open the strong box which had been in his care. But a number of big, valuable safes remained which the French could not open. They wanted to sell the steel boxes, but could not do so without telling the customer how to open them.

Finally, M. Vautel, in charge of the safes, thought of a way to get them open. He sent out to the Fresnes Penitentiary and borrowed two expert cracksmen, who were doing long stretches. He brought them to Paris, where the safes were stored, and promised them 100 francs apiece for every safe they opened.

The cracksmen refused to open the safes under supervision, but after their withdrawn to the opposite end of the big room they went to work. In less than five minutes they swung open the big steel doors of the largest safe, and in half an hour had opened five others.

Every time any one approached the convicts while they were opening the safes they stopped work and refused to proceed until the person had withdrawn.

The French authorities requested—since the censorship is abolished—that the local press publish nothing about the affair, as it fears that if it becomes known that all the safes had been cracked open by two convicts no one will want to buy them.

SEPARATED BY HER MILLION.

Court Finds That Mrs. Slade Drove Husband Off When She Became Rich.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Justice Platt today entered a decree of separation in the suit of Henry Lewis Slade of New York against his wife Olivia H. Slade of Mamaroneck, who, he alleged, abandoned him when she inherited $1,000,000 from her father.

The couple were married on Sept. 29, 1891, and have two children. Until 1909 Mr. and Mrs. Slade lived happily, the plaintiff said, at Millbrook, Dutchess County. Later, Mr. Slade testified, his wife bought a big house at Mamaroneck on the Sound, insisted on being boss of everything, and told him repeatedly to get out of the house.

According to the evidence filed with the judgment by Justice Platt, Mr. Slade said he was finally forced to leave the house at Mamaroneck and his wife would not let him return. This was in August, 1918. He said he was only able to take away a few of his things in an automobile. When he later tried to get his clothes he received this note from his wife:

"Mamaroneck, N. Y.—Please don't come here the way you did the other day. When you want any of your things let me know ahead. O. H. S."

LEGION INVITES MALONE.

Cook Post Offers to Consider Application for Membership.

Dudley Field Malone, ex-Collector of the Port, received an invitation yesterday to make application for membership in Cook Post 321, American Legion, and to address a meeting of that organization. This letter came from Harry R. Williams, President of the post, and followed a statement made by Mr. Malone regarding his rejection for membership in the league by the Westchester County Committee.

Mr. Williams explained to Mr. Malone that the action of the Westchester County Committee was taken at a meeting at which half the posts in the county, including Cook Post, were not represented. "We will be pleased to receive your application for membership, and would consider it from the viewpoint of service, ability, and sincerity, which, in your case, would, I am sure, be satisfactory," wrote Mr. Williams. He then invited Mr. Malone to address the post.

FIGHT ALLEGED SUGAR TRUST

Beet Growers Are Organizing to Increase Production.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Country-wide organization of sugar beet farmers to fight the so-called Sugar Trust is the object of a joint convention of farmers' organizations called to meet in Denver on Jan. 26.

The call, issued by the Inter-Mountain Farmers' Association, the Farmers' Union of Nebraska, the Ancient Order of Gleaners, the Farmers' Union of Colorado, the Mountain States Beet Growers' Association, the State Granges of Washington and Colorado and more than twelve co-operating farmers' organizations, declares the country is producing less than one-fourth of the sugar consumed in it, and asserts that "the national sugar bowl is in the clutches of a few powerful corporations which are so organized and united as to form a most menacing trust."

"The trust in stress of war," says the call, "sought and obtained special privileges at the expense of the beet growers, whereby it gained enormous profits and has sought to prevent the growth of the beet sugar industry in this country."

ARREST FOUR GROCERS.

Federal Officials Accuse Cleveland Firms of Profiteering.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2.—The first step in the Federal prosecution of alleged sugar profiteers in Cleveland was taken late today when United States Commissioner Marlatt issued warrants for the arrest of four grocers, charged with violating the Lever act. The warrants will be served tomorrow, it was said.

The grocers are charged with selling beet sugar for more than 14½ cents a pound, the Government fixed price, and with selling beet sugar for cane sugar. Two of the grocers are alleged to have charged 20 cents a pound.

Sugar "Combination Sales" Illegal.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Sale of sugar or other food staples only with other merchandise in "combination sales" was declared today illegal by United States District Attorney Kane.

Prosecutions will be begun, the District Attorney said, on evidence submitted of any combination sale after today.

LINKS SOCIALIST PARTY WITH LENIN

TRAIN CHILDREN INDOCTRINE

Young People's League Forms Classes to Inculcate Bolshevist Theories and Morals.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 2.—At the hearing of the Lusk Legislative Committee investigating radical activities throughout New York State, held in the Court House here today, it was brought out that the National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party of America indorsed and pledged its support to the Communist International at Moscow, and that it is giving wide circulation and approval to the manifesto of the Communist International signed by Lenin, Trotzky, and others of the Soviet Bolshevist Cabinet.

That manifesto contains, among other things, the following:

"It is our task now to sum up the practical revolutionary expense of the working class and to further hasten the complete victory of the Communist revolution. Civilian war is forced upon the laboring classes by their arch enemies. The working class must answer blow for blow. The Communist parties, far from conjuring up civil war artificially, rather strive to shorten its duration as much as possible. It has become an iron necessity to minimize the number of its victims, and above all to secure victory for the proletariat. This makes necessary the disarming of the bourgeoisie at the proper time, the arming of the laborers, and the formation of a Communist army such as the Red Army of Soviet Russia. Conquests of the political power means not merely a change in personnel, but annihilation of the enemies' apparatus of the Government. The revolutionary era compels the proletariat to make use of the means of battle which will concentrate its entire energies, namely mass action, with its logical resultant direct conflict with the Government machinery in open combat. All other methods, such as revolutionary use of bourgeois parliamentarism, will be of only secondary significance. Long live the international republic of the proletarian councils."

The hearing brought out that by the constitution of the Socialist Party of America, aliens can hold office in its councils and control its official acts. It was also brought out that Socialists held meetings in public halls, public schools, and private houses, at which literature written by Lenin and sent over here from Russia was discussed. Literature seized in the raids on radical strongholds here Saturday night last was exhibited. It attacks, first, belief in any divinity; second, the home and the morals of the home, and third, decries patriotism in any form.

It was revealed by records seized in the raid that the Rochester branch of the Communist Party bought quantities of radical literature from the Great Western Publication Company of Chicago. This literature attacked the American Federation of Labor and showed sympathy with the German Spartacists. The communist system of support was disclosed. Assessment stamps at 50 cents each and dues stamps at 40 cents each are used in raising funds from the membership.

Clothing Workers Syndicalistic.

In the course of the investigation it was shown that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America was linked up with the members of the Communist Party, with Assemblyman Claessens, with Nuorteva of the Soviet Bureau, and with Drake of the so-called "Political prisoners' defense fund."

In the early Summer there were frequent labor disturbances in the clothing industry in the City of Rochester and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America gained control over all of the shops of the city with one exception.

Ramey W. Finch, special investigator for the Lusk committee, was called to the stand, and testified that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers was an industrial union organization, as opposed to the trade union organization represented by the American Federation of Labor and the United Garment Workers. Mr. Finch said that the Amalgamated labor organizations advocated the ultimate ownership of industries by the workers. He said that if an American did not believe in the confiscation of property, and did not believe in syndicalism, and wanted a job in a clothing factory in Rochester, he would have to subscribe to those principles in order to get a job. He also said that he knew of definite cases of sabotage and the ruining of cloth in clothing factories of this city in order to force manufacturers to sign agreements.

Among the evidence submitted, following raids in this city, were papers showing that a national emergency convention of the Young People's Socialist League was held in this city on Sunday, Dec. 27, in which they pledged themselves to the principles of the International Moscow. It was shown that the Young People's League had formed groups of children between the ages of 12 and 14, known as the Junior Young People's League, and that they were to be systematically drilled and instructed in the principles of Revolutionary International Communism, as set forth in the Communist manifesto of Lenin and Trotsky. The Rochester Communist Party has well attended Sunday schools where Communistic doctrines are systematically taught.

Evidence was introduced connecting C. A. K. Martens and the Soviet Bureau with the Communist local at Rochester and other cities, in which raids were made by the Lusk Committee. In the circulating library of the Communist local were found many books of an obscene character to which reference was made at the hearing of the committee. There were introduced in evidence works of Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, which were found in the Communist local at Rochester. The city for years has been the home of Emma Goldman, a niece of the deported Emma Goldman.

A close affiliation between the Rand School of Social Science and the local radical organizations was also shown. Senator Lusk said that much of the evidence secured in Rochester and vicinity was of such a nature that it could not be brought out at a public hearing at this time.

The hearings of the committee were adjourned tonight, subject to the call of the Chairman.

Reds Arraigned at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Jan. 2.—The validity of the cases against fifty-two persons under arrest here charged with criminal anarchy on evidence secured by the Lusk Committee, will be decided by the Supreme Court next week. This became known today when the prisoners were arraigned in City Court for a preliminary hearing.

Judge McLaughlin told the lawyers representing the Communists that their action in issuing a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Frank Cassidy, one of the men under arrest, had the effect of taking the case out of the jurisdiction of the City Court. He, therefore, denied their motion for immediate arraignment, and the prisoners were remanded.

Only eleven were able to furnish bail, forty-one being taken back to the county jail.

Jensen, Fugitive Enemy Alien, Caught.

DENVER, Jan. 2.—Carl Jensen, an enemy alien and alleged I. W. W. agitator, who escaped from the Federal internment camp at Fort Douglas, Utah, on Christmas Eve, 1918, was arrested in Silverton, Col., a month ago, according to an announcement made today by Department of Justice officials. He now is in jail here.

UNABLE TO FIX BLAME IN LOUISVILLE MURDER

Some Members of Coroner's Jury Believe Young Miss Griffith Committed Suicide.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 2.—Two of the six members of the Coroner's Jury which today returned a noncommittal verdict in the inquest into the death of Elizabeth Ford Griffith believed that the girl committed suicide, two believed she was killed by some one, and two were in doubt as to whether it was a case of murder or suicide. None of them, however, expressed the belief that Dr. Christopher G. Schott, charged with murdering the 17-year-old office assistant, had committed the murder. The jury reported inability to determine who fired the fatal shot.

Except for a letter written to Dr. Schott by Miss Griffith last May when she was a fiancée of the physician little light was thrown on the death of the girl, which the Coroner has held took place between 1 and 3 o'clock of the afternoon of Dec. 24. The letter was found in the girl's purse after the shooting.

Phrases of the letter revealed that Miss Griffith had been deeply in love with Dr. Schott, but had grown indifferent after he had shown "unjust suspicions" of her friends. It said she had always been "true" to him, though he had had a "different girl every night."

Laurene Gardner, a girl of thirteen and Dr. Schott's alleged companion on the afternoon of Dec. 24, took the stand today, reiterating that she and the doctor were delivering Christmas presents between 1 and 3 o'clock that afternoon. She told of Miss Griffith's dissatisfaction with a Christmas gift of $10 given her by the Doctor shortly before 1 o'clock when they left the office, and stated that Miss Griffith had begun to cry after she asked Dr. Schott if another girl was "receiving the manicure set."

Dr. Schott was not called upon to testify. He has been released from jail on $8,000 bail, pending investigation by the Grand Jury Dec. 9.

GIRL PRISONERS MUTINY.

Bedford Reformatory Inmates Fight Keepers, but Are Subdued.

Special to The New York Times.

BEDFORD, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The officers of the Reformatory for Women put down a rebellion among the women confined in Rebecca Hall today and they did it without recourse to head ducking, stringing up, and other forms of punishment such as resulted in the investigation of the institution now under way.

The trouble began on New Year's night when the dozen or more prisoners in Rebecca Hall were given the liberty of the corridor. The girls gave as reason for the disturbance the fact that they were not permitted to attend a moving picture show. The attendants say that the prisoners sought arrest so that they might be taken into court and so regain their freedom.

When Mrs. Henrietta Hoffman, in charge of the prison, told the girls they were not to be allowed to attend the show they began to scream and shout and varied this by smashing furniture and banging their iron beds up and down on the floor. The din became so great that the reserve guards and matrons were summoned. For a time this morning there was a battle royal, but in the end the ringleaders were subdued, tied hands and feet, and carried away to isolated cells. The guards were bruised and scratched, but no great damage was done. Tonight the mutineers were still shouting and screaming, but the officials said the trouble was over.

DEFER FRANCHISE BALLOT.

Curran Refuses to Vote on Trolley Contract Without Study.

Henry H. Curran, President of the Borough of Manhattan, and F. H. LaGuardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, took their seats for the first time in the Board of Estimate yesterday. The former refused to vote for a resolution providing for the forfeiture of the franchise contract held by the Brooklyn and North River Railroad Company, which suspended the operation of its trolley line across the Manhattan Bridge several months ago on the ground that it was unable to meet fixed charges or even earn operating expenses without an increased fare. The road had been given until Dec. 26, 1919, to resume operation. The resolution also provides that the tracks and equipment of the company become the property of the city without cost.

President Curran asked that the whole matter be laid over for one week.

"I received the calendar for this meeting only twenty minutes ago," he said, "and I have had no chance to study this matter. I want to examine it thoroughly in order that I may vote upon it intelligently. As far as I can see, no damage will be done to the city by delaying action for one week."

The Board then voted to defer action upon the resolution until next Friday.

BOOM IN SILK HAT TRADE.

British Manufacturers Rushing Orders for Germany.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The silk hat industry has revived considerably during the last few weeks and the trade is receiving more orders than can be comfortably executed.

Demand here has been supplemented by orders from Holland and Sweden, but the final destination of hats ordered for these two places, says The Mail, is believed to be Germany.

BAND IN LIMERICK RAIDS POST OFFICE

MOTORISTS BEING SHOT AT

Terrorism Resorted To by Strikers to Force Abandonment of Order for Permits.

LIMERICK, Ireland, Jan. 2.—The Limerick Post Office was raided about midnight last night by twenty masked and armed men, who seized several thousand pounds sterling in cash and money orders.

The post office staff, numbering twelve persons, was held up until the pillage was completed.

The employes were then warned not to attempt to follow the raiders, who escaped unmolested.

Military forces are occupying the post office today.

DUBLIN, Jan. 2 (Associated Press.)—The smashing of seven motor cars within the last two days and serious attacks on automobile drivers is believed to be the work of striking motor vehicle drivers who, it is reported, are attempting to force the Government to abandon its order requiring motorists to obtain permits to operate their cars.

Last night near Mullingar, County of Westmeath, a car was riddled by bullets fired from the roadside, and the chauffeur only escaped by throwing himself in the bottom of the vehicle.

Motor owners of the County of Queens have been notified in an anonymous circular that all motor vehicles will be forced to stop running until the Government order is withdrawn.

Another automobile containing two army officers, it was reported late today, was shot at near Mullingar last night. Many bullets hit the car, but the occupants were not injured.

A large force of military and police today held up traffic on the O'Connell Bridge while they searched the premises of the New Ireland Assurance Society, among the directors of which are prominent Sinn Feiners. The search apparently was fruitless, as nothing was removed from the building.

Sinn Feiners here deny that members of their faction were concerned in the raid last night on the Limerick Post Office.

Two hundred members of the Transport Union of Dublin struck today at the Anglo-American Oil Company as a protest against the Government order requiring motor drivers to secure permits. The effect of this strike will be to check the supply of petrol to the few cars which are now on the streets, driven by their owners who have obtained the necessary permits.

The police today visited Sinn Fein headquarters, the Sinn Fein bank, and the headquarters of the Dail Eireann, all of which are situated in Harcourt Street, and notified the occupants to close the premises in accordance with the order of Nov. 29 suppressing the Sinn Fein organization, the Irish Volunteers, the Gaelic League, and other societies in all counties and boroughs of Ireland.

DISARM AMERICAN CREW.

Police at Cork Board and Search the Lake Gretna.

CORK, Jan. 2.—The captain and officers of the American steamer Lake Gretna, which arrived here today from New York, protested against the action of the police, who boarded the steamer and took their firearms from them. They said that they had not been subjected to such treatment at Dublin and Belfast, where the steamer previously called.

BRONX STREETS NAMED.

Five Former Mayors Commemorated by Jerome Park Avenues.

In a report issued yesterday by Jacob Cantor of the Board of Taxes and Assessments in the Bronx, names were given to eleven new streets recently placed on the map of the abandoned section of Jerome Park reservoir. Five of the streets were named for former New York Mayors. They are Van Wyck, Strong, Low, Gaynor, and Gilroy Avenues.

Goulden Avenue was named for the late Congressman Joseph A. Goulden, who represented the Bronx for many years. Claflin Avenue, named for the late H. B. Claflin, borders one side of the property. Three avenues were named Army, Navy, and President. An avenue was named for the late Commodore Webb, who established the Webb Academy and Home for Shipbuilders in the Jerome Park reservoir site. It will probably be sold as building lots by the city next Spring. The new 8th Regiment Coast Artillery, State Guard Armory, is on the southeast corner of the property at Kingsbridge Road and Jerome Avenue.

To Try Flight from Paris to Saigon.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Messrs. Douilh and Des Noyelles, civilian aviators, will start tomorrow on an airplace flight to Saigon, the capital of French Indo-China. The route they will follow will include Naples, Athens, Basra, and Bangkok, the distance being about 9,000 miles. Arrangements for supplies at each stop have been made.

World Ruin In Treaty Delay
By Isaac F. Marcosson
A brilliant and searching analysis of the world social, political and economic situation in relation to the delay in establishing peace. No American journalist perhaps is so well qualified to state this case as Mr. Marcosson. Since 1915 he has made seven trips to Europe. He has visited every neutral and warring country and has interviewed every outstanding Allied General and statesman and most of the German leaders. "World Ruin in Treaty Delay" is an article of timely and compelling interest.

Every Operative at His Post.

The action, though it came with stunning suddenness, had been carefully mapped out, studied, and systematized. Every agency was ready, and every operative at his post. For months Department of Justice men, dropping all other work, had concentrated on the Reds. Agents quietly infiltrated into the radical ranks, slipped casually into centres of agitation, and went to work, sometimes as cooks in remote mining colonies, sometimes as miners, again as steel workers, and, where the opportunity presented itself, as "agitators" of the wildest type. Although careful not to inspire, suggest, or aid the advancement of overt acts or propaganda, several of the agents, "under cover" men, managed to rise in the radical movement and become, in at least one instance, the recognized leader of a district.

Last night was the organization's scheduled meeting night. Halls were crowded with the brotherhood, and preliminary speakers, enthusiasm stirrers, were busy through the nation—as they had been on many other meeting nights. Then came 8:30 o'clock.

The raiders were split into parties; each had its leader and each its objective. Locally, the raiders moved from their posts at the dot of the time scheduled—moved in force directly on the halls and meeting places, made rapid trips for individuals at their homes, rushed down into the east side, and, with their warrants as their authority, climbed dark tenement stairs and seized little groups. The agents acted in all five boroughs and did it with amazing speed—they had to, for news flies through radical channels and information of a raid in Brooklyn would mean an empty headquarters in Manhattan.

While the local men, under George F. Lamb, Division Superintendent, and Charles Scully, head of the Red squad, were active, squads radiated through Chicago, St. Louis, Seattle, San Francisco, New England, and even in Texas, where the net was spread to catch alien radicals smuggled across the Mexican border.

As fast as the raids were made here, those arrested were bundled into waiting patrol wagons and big army trucks loaned by the Quartermaster's Corps, U. S. A., and taken to the police station nearest the raided quarters. There they were searched and all documents obtained placed in envelopes and sealed. The arrested persons were then placed in the motor trucks, and under heavy guard of agents and police taken to the Department of Justice headquarters in Park Row. An effort was being made late last night to transfer some of the alien agitators, those proved aliens and whose deportation

DELAYS MULTIPLY IN PATH OF TREATY

PEACE BY JAN. 6 DOUBTFUL

But Berlin Government Suggests Possibility of Adjusting Disputes in Paris Conferences.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The allied plan to put the Treaty of Versailles into effect Jan. 6 now appears no longer worth talking about. Jan. 15 may be the earliest date on which this much-delayed ceremony can take place. Up to 6 o'clock tonight the German reply to the recent allied note, which the Supreme Council hoped to have at its meeting tomorrow morning, had not been received by Paul Dutasta, Secretary General of the Peace Conference.

In the meantime a new note was dispatched this afternoon, notifying the German Government formally, as it had already been notified informally, that the 80,000 German troops in Upper Silesia must be removed before the arrival of the 20,000 allied troops which are going there to arrange for the plébiscite. Among these German soldiers are several divisions of von der Goltz's force, which gave so much trouble in the Baltic Provinces. No one in Paris cares to guess how long it will take Berlin to move this army from Upper Silesia.

Still another plébiscite difficulty hinges on Berlin's claims that the German authorities should maintain civil control up to the date of the plébiscite. The Allies will not allow this. And Ebert says he will resign if the Allies insist on the surrender of the accused German officers.

The situation in Europe is such that the Allies must accept American ratification of the treaty of Versailles in whatever form it is offered, according to "Pertinax" in today's Echo de Paris. He maintains that England is foolish to balk at the American reservation respecting her six votes, asserting that America's action will have ruined the League anyhow, and that Europe needs American co-operation now much more than she needs the League of Nations.

"It goes without saying," "Pertinax" says, "that if the Democrats give way and sanction the Lodge program France and England will accept American adhesion, such as it is. The London Times remarks that the British Cabinet can cede none of the rights conferred upon the Dominions by the covenant of the League of Nations, referring to the separate votes given them in the Assembly of the League. We do not understand any such attitude. Does The Times think that after the reservations of Mr. Lodge have been adopted the covenant any longer matters one way or the other? What does matter is not the League of Nations, which was condemned in advance; what matters is the co-operation of America and the great European powers. Against this co-operation, the hope of all of us, we must let nothing intervene.

"People endanger who repeat, as Lloyd George did the other day, that in the Republican program in Washington they can see only internal politics. Let us put the capstone on the alliance of the allied nations. Let us not try any longer, as they did in London the other day, to develop the system of the League of Nations. The United States will in time take its place by our side."

Lersner Is Ill and Can't Confer.

PARIS, Jan. 1.—Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German delegation at Versailles, is ill with a cold and will not be able to confer with Paul Dutasta, Secretary of the Peace Conference, for a few days. Allied delegates and other German representatives today discussed questions concerning territories where plébiscites will be held.

BERLIN, Jan. 2 (Associated Press).—Unless the present progress in the ratification negotiations takes an unexpected turn the German Government believes it can dispense with forwarding another formal note through its Peace Commissioner, Baron Kurt von Lersner. The Government, in this case, will content itself with permitting all disputed issues to be definitely adjusted through oral conferences at Paris, according to the prevailing opinion at the Foreign Office today.

The British commission intrusted by the Supreme Council with the task of investigating the port material of Germany, in connection with compensation for the sinking of the German war vessels in Scapa Flow, left here today for Kiel.

HOLD ENGLAND CANNOT YIELD DOMINION RIGHTS

Day Is Past When Colonies Can Be Dealt with Thus, It Is Said in London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Nothing is known in official circles here of any communication from Premier Lloyd George to Washington on the vexed question of the British dominions' vote in the League of Nations Assembly. The Premier is still on a holiday in Wales, and might, of course, have taken action there, but it is considered in the highest circles unlikely.

There seems, it is contended, to be some misapprehension over the entire question of reservations. Setting aside the intense disinclination of the British Government to do anything that even seems to be interference with American domestic politics, it is not understood here how England can express any views on the acceptability of this or that reservation. The treaty was drawn up at Paris by a number of plenipotentiaries in conference. The British were only a few of them, and it is quite impossible for even Lloyd George to put forward any views as to its amendment without consulting other parties to the agreement.

As a matter of fact, the second conference is meeting next week at Paris, and that makes it all the more unlikely that the Premier would anticipate any discussions that might occur there by communications to Washington as to his attitude.

It is also pointed out here that the question of the status of the dominions in the League is not within the competency of England to direct. Certain rights were conceded by the Paris Conference to Canada, Australia, and other dominions, and Downing Street has not the authority, even if it had the desire, to relinquish them.

The days when British Ministers could cheerfully sign away the rights of the colonies are over. The dominions have won their new standing by their share in the great war, and if they were to lose it it could only be by their own consent.

Consequently it is an error to consider the matter as primarily an English question at all. It affects the dominions, and their desires and interests must be consulted.

As Gardner Sees the Outlook Here.

The Daily News tomorrow publishes an article by A. G. Gardiner headed, "Will America Come In?" He declares that if the answer is in the negative the "League of Nations covenant is a dishonored scrap of paper, and the world will be reorganized afresh for war, whereas if it is in the affirmative the tragedy of 1919 may yet be redeemed. Mr. Gardiner has confidence that "what is best in America will prevail in this great emergency as it has prevailed in the past."

Discussing the causes of "the strange reaction" of America against the new gospel which it proclaimed through its President, Mr. Gardiner says:

"They begin with the fact that America is a long way off, has little interest in and little knowledge of Europe, and has felt the war only as something remote and external to its own life. Talk to an American who has been to Europe in any administrative capacity and has seen the issue at close quarters and had its lessons burned into his soul and you talk to an American who thinks in your terms, but talk to an American who has stayed at home and the chances are he will seem to talk in terms of another planet. He seems to be beyond the reach of your voice."

As regards President Wilson's political enemies Mr. Gardiner writes:

"The determination to discredit his policy as a means of destroying his political prestige was taken long before he went to Europe. No matter what peace he had brought back, it would have been denounced by his opponents, who, while he was thinking of the peace of the world, were thinking of the fruits of office."

Discussing other elements hostile to the President, Mr. Gardiner mentions the "powerful interests in American which want to 'clean up' Mexico," and says when the President's term of office is ended "there will not be wanted a Jenkins case or a Don Pacifico's instead to arouse the patriotic indignation of the mob, and if and when that time comes it would be a nuisance to have a League of Nations covenant standing like a moral protest across the path or a profitable adventure."

After touching lightly upon the hostility of the Irish element Mr. Gardiner continues:

"And right through the country, from New York to San Francisco, the Hearst newspapers are belching out daily every truth and untruth that will poison the mind of America against England. That infamous story of the Amritsar massacre has by this time been shouted in a thousand headlines to the American people, to whom we are daily gibbeted by this malignant press machine as an ogre fattening on the innocent and helpless."

In conclusion Mr. Gardiner deplores the President's illness, which prevented him making the great appeal which he alone could make to the American people.

"The case," he says, "has not been put to the American people. * * * The impression I have brought away is of a people eager to know the truth, eager to do their duty to the world, but puzzled as to what that duty is, confused by false lights of political wreckers and turning in vain to the press for enlightened leadership.

"It is a people infinitely mixed but splendidly sound at core, a people more subject, I think, than any people extant to the impulse of great collective emotion. Let it once catch the light, let it once see clearly that Americanism is something nobler than its base counterfeit, 'American interests,' and it will take its course with a grand disregard of mean considerations that has always characterized it in the great crises of its history."

CECIL MIGHT ACCEPT OUR RESERVATIONS

So Great Is Need of American Co-operation It Would Be a Great Risk to Refuse Them.

LEEDS, England, Jan. 2.—Lord Robert Cecil, former Assistant Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in addressing the students of Leeds University today concerning the suggested reservations by the United States in the Peace Treaty, declared that he could not say that the reservations were so vital that it would be impossible to accept co-operation on the terms of the reservations.

The urgency of the European situation, Lord Robert added, was so great that it would be assuming a tremendous responsibility to refuse America's co-operation in trying to bring order out of the chaos.

JAPAN'S RATIFICATION SENT.

Formal Notification Made to Peace Conference Dec. 26.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Japan's ratification of the treaty of Versailles has been formally sent to the Secretariat of the Peace Conference in Paris under the terms of the treaty. Secretary Lansing was today advised by the American Embassy in Tokio that Japan's ratification was formally communicated to Paris on Dec. 26 by Keishiro Matsui, the Japanese Ambassador to Paris. England, France and Italy have also similarly notified the Secretariat in Paris.

When the treaty becomes effective, therefore, it will do so as ratified by four of the five principal allied and associated Governments, the only one of these that has not yet ratified it being the United States Government.

FIND HOPE IN TREATY WITH RESERVATIONS

ASSENT BY NOTES SUFFICES

League to Enforce Peace Is Told That Germany's Acceptance Is Not Necessary.

The officers of the New York State Branch of the League to Enforce Peace announced yesterday that they had received a reply from Paul D. Cravath and Henry W. Taft to questions sent to a number of distinguished lawyers in reference to the legal effect and practical results of the Senate reservations to the Peace Treaty. These questions were sent out with a view to clearing doubts in the public mind.

The reply from Messrs. Cravath and Taft reads:

"William Church Osborn, Esq.,
"Chairman New York State Committee for the League to Enforce Peace,
"71 Broadway, New York.

"Charles H. Strong, Esq.,
"Chairman New York State Executive Committee.

"Dear Sirs:—

"We have considered the questions respecting which you have asked our opinion and our answers are as follows:

"1. Will it be necessary to resubmit the treaty to Germany in case it is ratified with the preamble and reservations as proposed by the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Senate?

"We do not think that it will; as Germany is not to become a member of the League. Even if it were otherwise the question seems to us unimportant, as it is not likely that Germany would reject the treaty on account of the reservations, none of which adversely affects her.

"2. Will it be necessary to resubmit the treaty to all or a part of the allied powers?

"It seems to us that it will. The Senate committee itself appears to be of this opinion, for the preamble requires an acceptance by three of the powers by an exchange of notes. Aside from the necessary implication from this requirement it is quite clear that the second, fourth, tenth, eleventh and fourteenth reservations, as they are numbered in the copy attached to your letter, modify the league covenant so materially as to require that they be accepted by all of the other members of the League.

"3. Would formal negotiations have to be opened by the plenipotentiaries of the several powers?

"In our opinion acquiescence by an exchange of notes would be all that would be necessary. Any doubt would be removed by the participation of the several nations in the organization of the league and the appointment of representatives. If the diplomatic representatives of the foreign departments of those powers assented to the changes, there would be little chance that in the case of the one or two nations where ratification by a legislative body is necessary such ratification would not follow. We conclude that, practically speaking, either acceptance by notes or acquiescence by participating in the transactions of the league would be a sufficient acceptance of those reservations which amount to amendments.

"4. Will the reservations calling for reference to the Congress of various matters permit effective participation by this country in the transactions of the league?

"In our opinion they will, although several reservations which practically make the House of Representatives a part of the treaty-making power may cause complications. In most of the cases, however, where action by the Congress is required, the provisions in the reservations are nothing but a statement of limitations imposed by the Constitution. In our opinion they should not be mentioned, since they relate to the internal workings of our Government, with which foreign nations have no concern. If, however, they give comfort to those who are especially timorous concerning the working of the league we see no harm in them.

"5. Will the treaty with the reservations be an effective agreement for permanent peace and for the securing of justice between the nations without force?

"We do not think that the reservations radically weaken the provisions of the treaty which are intended to provide effective machinery for accomplishing permanent peace. The reservations do not materially modify the machinery of the treaty for dealing with international controversies. If the United States will loyally and sincerely join the League of Nations provided for in the treaty as modified by the reservations we think its opportunity for aiding in the promotion of peace will not be substantially diminished by the reservations.

"Very truly yours,
"PAUL D. CRAVATH.
"HENRY W. TAFT."

SEEK COALITION FOR TREATY HARMONY

we got up a proposition Senator Lodge would receive it as a partisan one. But the Republicans can draw up one and give it to Mr. Lodge, because they are all in the party together.

"There is no chance at all, absolutely none, of ratification with the Lodge reservations unchanged. There must be substantial changes—a real compromise."

Senator Hitchcock was asked, in view of the general air of hopefulness which both Democratic and Republican Senators have shown almost ostentatiously for the last ten days, what basis there was for it.

"Inexorable necessity," replied Mr. Hitchcock, "is the basis of our hope. Of course, if the reports that forty Republican Senators will not stand for any modification whatever of the Lodge program are true, and taking into consideration the fact that forty Democrats will not stand for the Lodge program unamended, there can be no ratification. But some one has to yield."

"Is there any more reason for assuming that the Republicans must yield than that the Democrats must do so?" he was asked.

"Both must yield," he replied. "And both will yield, in my judgment, when all the Senators get back to Washington. I have never predicted agreement in a hurry. I said once that I expected it in January. I still do."

Mr. Hitchcock said that the Underwood resolution "may become desirable" as a compromise machinery. He also said that mild reservationists had suggested an informal conciliation committee, concerning the details of which he was vague.

This informal committee, it was learned, is no committee at all, but represents a method of liaison between the Democrats and the mild reservation group, for the purpose of transmitting the Democratic proposals.

Senate Democrats cannot offer openly a program of compromise upon the treaty, Senator Hitchcock said, as President Wilson has put them in a position where they dare not do so. Mr. Hitchcock's explanation of the situation is that, as President Wilson cannot offer a compromise, because that amounts to asking changes in a contract which he has signed with other nations, neither can the President's followers offer one without repudiating the action of their party head in signing the treaty.

Mild reservationists regard as unfortunate the injection of the Lenroot reservation No. 14 in the Lodge list as an issue at this time. Senator Hitchcock has lately been emphasizing the menace in this reservation, which, he said, is almost as much of a stumbling block to agreement as Article X. It is the reservation on the voting power of British dominions in the League Assembly.

President Wilson, Senators contend, has raised the issue. They believe it was on this errand that Joseph P. Tumulty, the President's Secretary, saw Senator Hitchcock the other day. The President is credited by these Senators with a desire to split the Republicans still more than they are now divided by raising again the question which was one of the most hotly contested during the treaty debate.

GOV. LOWDEN ALREADY COMMITTED ON LEAGUE

Reply to Borah Is Expected to be Statement in Favor of Lodge Reservations.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 2.—Gov. Frank O. Lowden today had not received the letter addressed by Senator Borah of Idaho requesting him to state his position on the League of Nations. He declined to comment on the letter or his probable reply.

It is expected in political circles here that the Governor will give as his reply the statement in the Lowden platform which was filed in South Dakota. The platform states that the Governor favors the "ratification of the Peace Treaty with the reservations substantially as proposed by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate."

From his statements it is held that Governor Lowden's attitude on the league is one of opposition to the treaty as promulgated by the allied conference at Paris. In a letter to a friend in California the Governor writes that he is in favor of the "ratification of the Treaty of Peace with the reservations adopted by the United States Senate."

ANNE MORGAN HITS LEAGUE.

Calls Covenant a Dream Which May Be Realized in 40 Years.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 2.—"The League of Nations is a dream that may be realized in forty years or so," said Miss Anne Morgan here today. "As for the league in its present form nobody really is satisfied with that ridiculous document out of Versailles. It is simply a compromise. But back of it there is an idea. We must get together somehow against the German menace, which no one must think for one second is past." Miss Morgan, who is a daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, returned recently from relief work in France and spoke in Kansas City tonight at the presentation of "The Heritage of France," a motion picture for the benefit of the relief work of the American Committee for Devastated France.

"The tie that binds America to France must never be broken," said Miss Morgan. "Not only sentimental reasons prompt me in saying this; it is the knowledge that every fifty years or so France has been a bulwark. The Germans have been at her throat for centuries, and with the aspirations of the Germans to rule the world, commercially and otherwise, it has come to be a deep concern of ours. Those commercial ambitions of the Germans are by no means dead."

NITTI STRAINING FOR FIUME DECISION

Wants Its Status Legalized at Home Before Meeting Lloyd George and Clemenceau.

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 2.—It is of the utmost importance that the Fiume local situation be straightened out before the Italian Premier appears at Paris and he is straining ever nerve to accomplish that end before leaving Rome. Until the Fiume status is legalized in accordance with the conditions named by the allied powers Nitti cannot negotiate at Paris or London.

Even with Fiume in order under the authority of the Italian Government Nitti will face a most difficult situation. If he were able to come to terms with Clemenceau and Lloyd George, there is still President Wilson to be satisfied. America has no representative clothed with power in Europe and it is difficult, if not impossible, to reach the President by cable.

With all these adverse conditions Nitti's warmest admirers expect him to come back to Italy with a settlement in his pocket. What they pin their faith in is an ultimate settlement as the result of Nitti's persevering and practical methods. If he returns to Rome empty handed it is likely that his Government will fall and there will be a period of experimentation on other lines during which Italy is likely to experience troublous times. But the effect will be to strengthen Nitti and he will probably come back to power with a parliamentary majority and popular confidence that will enable him to carry out his policies.

It is believed in all well-informed quarters here that this hard-headed southerner has come to stay in Italian politics and, whatever may be the temporary vicissitudes, that he will finally succeed in giving Italy a business administration. He has the utmost faith in himself and in the policies he stands for. He looks far ahead, and takes adversity coolly.

The silk-stocking element in Italy opposes Nitti, but he grows constantly in public esteem, and his admirers believe that he will, soon or late, have enough influence to control the currents of sentiment and prejudice which flow on the surface and to lead the country toward her own substantial interest. He is a business idealist as well as a college professor and a practical politician, and has already rendered the greatest service in economic development. His abilities in this direction will make him one of the greatest constructive forces Italy has ever known if he should succeed in holding a foremost place in public life.

TURKS CONCENTRATING ON THE SMYRNA FRONT

Kemal, Nationalist Leader, Plans a General Attack on Greek Occupying Forces.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 2. — A dispatch from Constantinople to the Temps says that Mustapha Kemal, the Turkish Nationalist leader, is concentrating troops against the Greek front near Aidin and plans a general attack. Aidin lies southeast of Smyrna. The Greeks are said to have 70,000 troops in this territory.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 23.—Mustapha Reshid Pasha, Foreign Minister, and Nabi Bey, former Turkish Ambassador to Italy, and a member of the committee which has been preparing data for submission to the Peace Conference, will, with former Grand Vizier Tewfik Pasha, form Turkey's delegation to make peace with the Allies. Tewfik Pasha, it has been announced, will head the delegation, which will be accompanied to Paris by a large number of experts.

Detailed schemes for meeting the requirements the Allies are expected to make have been worked out. These include, it is said, guarantees to minorities and the abolition of capitulations in judicial and economic matters.

BROOKLYN MAN WOULD RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

George Washington Asks to be Placed on South Dakota Ballot for American Party.

Special to The New York Times.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 2.—Among the belated applications to get upon the ballots of different parties of this State as Presidential candidates are those of George Washington of Brooklyn, N. Y., who wants a place as candidate of the new American Party; Lucy Page Gaston of Chicago of the Anti-Cigarette League, as Republican, and Whitefield Leon Tuck of Winchester, Mass., as a Democrat.

As these applications were not accompanied by petitions and all came in after the filing date they get no places on the ballot.

DOUBLED IN THE LAST YEAR

Demand That Rich Bear a Larger Proportion of the Burden Expected in the Chamber.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The New Year advance in the prices of necessities, caused largely by the latest fiscal steps of the French Government, promises to tax the strength of the National Administration and to give rise in the Chamber of Deputies to a demand that the rich shall pay more and the poor less of the cost of running the Republic. Millionaires pay relatively much smaller taxes in France than in America, and the new rise in the price of public service and of bread, sugar, and clothes naturally affects the poor and the middle classes much more than their more fortunate brethren.

There appears to be much to be said for the cause of the "champions of the poor," who are attacking the Government program on the ground that it not only does not lower the cost of living but actually increases it. Premier Clemenceau himself has called the new taxes detestable but apparently necessary. Paris is in the throes of a money-spending debauch perhaps unequaled in her history. Nouveaux riches on all sides give "loud" evidence of their wealth, while it is becoming increasingly difficult for workmen to make both ends meet.

Figures of the prices prevailing show that the cost of living has risen from 250 to 300 per cent. over what it was in 1914, and that many articles cost nearly twice what they did less than a year ago. From a study of prices then and now I will give figures which will indicate how the cost of living has been climbing in France.

Bread, which cost 35 centimes per kilo (2.2 pounds) in 1914, cost 50 centimes in April, 1919, and the new price is 90 centimes. Sugar cost 65 centimes a kilo in 1914, 2 francs 10 centimes in April, 1919, and the new retail price is 3 francs 20 centimes per kilo. To travel 100 kilometers, first class, on a railroad in 1914 cost 11 francs 20 centimes; in 1920 it will cost 24 francs 25 centimes. For a 100-kilometer journey, second class, the cost in 1914 was 7 francs 55 centimes; in 1920 it will be 16 francs 35 centimes. The same trip, third class, cost in 1914 4 francs 95 centimes; in 1920 it will cost 10 francs 80 centimes.

In 1914 it cost 10 centimes to send a letter anywhere in France; in 1920 it costs 25 centimes. In 1914 a ten-word telegram cost 50 centimes; in 1920 1 franc. In 1914 it cost 15 centimes to telephone; in 1920 30 centimes.

In 1914 the autobus fare was 15 centimes, first class, and 10 centimes, second class; in 1920 the autobus fare is 40 centimes, first class, and 25 centimes second class.

Electricity cost in 1914 5 centimes a 100-watt hour; in 1920 the cost is doubled. Gas cost 20 centimes a cubic meter in 1914; in 1920 the price is 60 centimes.

Coming down to articles which go into the market basket: Potatoes, which cost the housewife 15 centimes per kilo in 1914, cost today 75 centimes. Milk, which cost 40 centimes a liter in 1914 and 80 centimes nine months ago, costs 95 centimes today. Eggs, which were 15 centimes each in 1914, are 80 centimes each today. Chocolate cost 3 francs a kilo in 1914; it costs 6 francs today.

The housewife paid 4 francs a kilo for coffee in 1914; she must pay 11 now. For butter, which cost before the war 1 franc 90 centimes per pound, she must now pay 8 francs 80 centimes per pound. Lard, which before the war cost 1 franc 20 centimes per pound, now costs 5 francs. Ham, which could be had in 1914 for 2 francs per pound, today costs 12 francs. One paid for rice 60 centimes per pound in 1914; one pays 1 franc 70 centimes today. Cooking oil cost 60 centimes per pound six years ago; it costs 4 francs today.

Consider articles of clothing: A ready-made suit of clothes cost 125 francs before the war; it costs 450 now. A custom-made suit cost then 175 francs; one pays now 700. Men's shoes sold for from 25 to 40 francs then; they sell for from 70 to 140 francs today; women's shoes, which used to cost from 28 to 45 francs, cost from 80 to 175 now. Cotton stockings which were sold for 2.75 francs in 1914, and for 7 francs last April, cost 16 francs today. Silk stockings, which were 6 francs in 1914, are now 30 francs. A pair of gloves, which fetched 5 francs in 1914, brings 22 francs now. A derby hat, which cost 18 francs in 1914, costs 60 francs now, and a soft hat, which used to sell for 12 francs, now sells for 50.

These are items picked at random from current prices. They are not special in their advances. On the contrary, they indicate an increase in the cost of living which is far from being met by the increased pay of the French working population. They represent a problem for the French Government, second to no other confronting it.

AID FOR GERMAN CHILDREN.

Relief Committees Send 2,500,000 Marks for Tuberculous Patients.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—The American Section of the German Red Cross is the recipient of a check for 2,500,000 marks donated by relief committees in the United States for the benefit of tuberculous and undernourished German children. More than 2,000 of these children will thus be able to go to sections where climatic and food conditions promise them health.

Only the advanced cases of juvenile tuberculosis will be transferred to Switzerland as the German Red Cross is compelled to proceed with the greatest economy in the distribution of funds.

Herbert Hoover's plan to co-ordinate American food relief so far as it concerns the transfer of personal donations from Americans to Germans is hailed here with enthusiasm.

FIRST AMERICAN TROOPS UNDER A KING.

The first semi-official account of the operations of the American troops in Belgium, directed by a King for the first time in history, appears in January CURRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE, written by the officer representing General Pershing; forty other big features, among them General Pershing's account of the American troops in Europe, and Philip Gibbs's story of the agony of Vienna; the events of every nation, as they occurred, in December—no comment; on news stands, 25 cents.—Advt.

FIERCE FIGHTING RAGES ON INDIAN FRONTIER

Tribesmen Inflict Heavy Casualties on British and Force Them to Remain in Palosina Plain.

MANDANNAKACH, India, Dec. 22 via London, Jan. 2.)—The fiercest fighting ever experienced on the Indian frontier has been in progress during the past three days, in which time the British casualties have been heavier than those in the entire campaign in the Tirah district in 1897, while the hill tribesmen suffered as never before.

The Mahsuds displayed the utmost determination in opposing the operations of the British expeditionary force, resisting in the most stubborn manner the British attempt to advance. The British column consequently was compelled to remain encamped in the Palosina Plain.

An unnamed bugler boy of the 34th Native Pioneers showed notable heroism in the course of the hand-to-hand fighting. Left with only a few comrades, he seized a pickaxe and fought the tribesmen till they retired, when he returned to camp laden with trophies.

This action was evidently a continuation of the fighting reported in London advices of Jan. 1 based on dispatches from Mandannakach, dated Dec. 18 and 20. These messages describe the driving of the British from a hill position which they had occupied and the final recapture of the position after heavy fighting in an attack lasting two hours.

GERMANY'S NEW YEAR THOUGHTS ARE MOODY

Conservative Press Calls 1919 Blackest Year in History—Heavy Burdens for 1920.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan. 1.—Some of the papers review the last year in a most mournful mood. "Twelve months of domestic decay" is the phrase in which the Deutsche Tageszeitung sums up the parting year. "The blackest and most disastrous year in German history," is the verdict of the conservative Kreuzzeitung. But the Berliner Tageblatt believes the epidemic of "spirit weariness" which has been so conspicuous during the year in Germany is decreasing and that the nation will make Carlyle's words its motto for the coming year: "Work and doubt not."

Certainly the new year will bring Germany plenty of not altogether desirable things. One Berlin paper prints a list of them, and heads it "Happy New Year." This list includes dearer bread, higher tram and train fares, dearer gas, coal and electricity, the introduction of taxes on business sales and newspaper advertisements, increase of the tax on cigars and cigarettes, a capital levy and numerous other imposts.

But it is the profiteer in imports who will receive the worst blow of all, as from Jan. 1 customs duties are increased by 900 per cent. Where the duty was formerly 1 mark, it will now be 10 marks. And so the New Year's bells really sound the death knell of the profiteer in wares from abroad, and most of those who have hitherto enjoyed all the luxuries a profiteer could bring from across the frontiers will gradually find those delights mount in price to beyond the limits of their purses. English cigarettes and French toilet soap will become almost worth their weight in—sugar.

SEINE IS STILL RISING; THOUSANDS MAROONED

French Government Officials Hope Crest of the Flood Will Be Reached Today.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The Seine has risen four feet in the last twenty-four hours. Government officials today expressed the hope that an additional rise of two feet tomorrow would mark the high point. Scores of Paris houses and hundreds in the provinces along the Seine, Marne, Yonne and other rivers are isolated.

The Versailles railroad has been cut off and thousands of commuters are waterbound. In Paris the Seine is eight feet below the disastrous 1910 flood, but seepage is commencing. A few sewers have burst, flooding small areas.

Directors of railroads and of plants endangered by the rising waters of the Seine has been summoned by the Ministry of Transportation to discuss measures to protect menaced property.

It is expected the Oise will today reach the 1910 stage and the Prefect of Compiegne has taken steps to remove inhabitants whose homes are in danger. Reports received here indicate the Rhine has been falling since Wednesday.

BRITISH RAILWAY MEN WIN WAGE ADVANCES

Government Award, Not Yet Announced, Expected to Fix $15 Weekly Minimum.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The long-pending wage dispute between the Government and the railway unions seems to have been settled. The victory apparently is on the side of the railway men.

The details of the new offer by the Government which the National Union of Railwaymen has accepted will be announced Sunday. In broad outline they amount to a minimum wage of 60 shillings a week for the lowest grade of workers, some of whom previously have been paid only 50 shillings, with proportionate increases for men of higher grades. Moreover, under the plan, should the cost of living increase before next September, wages will be increased 1 shilling for every 5 per cent. in the rise in prices. After September there will be a sliding scale, varying with the cost of living.

FEWER LABOR DISPUTES THAN FOR THREE YEARS

Federal Conciliation Director Sees Excellent Industrial Outlook for 1920—Unrest Is Decreasing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The United States entered the New Year with fewer pending industrial disputes than at any other time during the last three years, said Hugh L. Kerwin, Director of Conciliation of the Department of Labor, today after receiving reports from the department's conciliators in the thirty-five great industrial centres of the country.

With the exception of the steel strike, the actual strikes throughout the country are few in number and of minor importance, Mr. Kerwin declared. There now are, he said, 101 industrial disputes before the department for adjustment, only twenty-one of which have reached the strike stage.

The industrial outlook for the year is excellent, Kerwin said, as all indications point to a cessation of the industrial unrest under which the country has suffered since the end of the war. The general tendency, he said, is for the employer and the worker to attempt adjustment of their differences without stopping work.

JELLICOE VISITS CITY INFORMALLY

Admiral Comes from Ottawa to be the Guest of Charles M. Schwab for Three Days.

TAKES SIGHTSEEING TRIP

At Navy Yard, Woolworth Building, and Stock Exchange—Attends Dinner at Night.

Admiral Viscount John Jellicoe, former Commander of the British Grand Fleet, and hero of the Jutland naval battle, arrived unexpectedly in New York yesterday morning on an unofficial visit. The Admiral came from Ottawa in the private car of Charles M. Schwab, and will be Mr. Schwab's guest for the three-day stay here.

The morning was spent in a visit to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, the Woolworth Building and the Stock Exchange. At the Navy Yard, Admiral Jellicoe and his escort made a thorough inspection, and spent some time on the battleship Arizona. The party arrived at the Stock Exchange at noon, and entered the visitors' gallery on the New Street side of the trading floor. Three hearty cheers were given by the brokers when the Admiral's presence was discovered, and when he accepted an invitation to "come on down" to the floor as many as could get near him shook hands with the guest.

Admiral Jellicoe took luncheon at Mr. Schwab's residence at Seventy-third Street and Riverside Drive, the other guests being Admiral Commander Ramsay of the British Navy, who accompanied Admiral Jellicoe from Ottawa; Rear Admiral James Glennon, commander of the Third Naval District, and the Rev. J. A. Zahn. The afternoon was occupied in shopping at various New York stores.

A dinner, hastily arranged on Wednesday afternoon when it was first learned that Admiral Jellicoe was coming, was held last evening at Mr. Schwab's house.

Admiral Jellicoe expressed delight at his first visit to America and declared that New York was indeed a wonderful city. He jokingly said that although he had visited the Guaranty Trust Company, J. P. Morgan & Co., the National City Bank, and other financial institutions, he had no money.

At the close of the dinner selections were sung by Mrs. Merle Alcock and Miss Florence Hinkle, after which the guests began to disperse. Each received an autographed photograph of Admiral Jellicoe bound in a brown folder tied with red, white, and blue ribbon.

Telegrams of invitation had been sent to Governor Smith, Mayor Hylan, and Rodman Wanamaker, but none of the three were able to attend because of previous engagements. Among those at the dinner were Rear Admiral James H. Glennon, who represented Secretary Daniels; General Cornelius Vanderbilt, Commander J. Ackerson, Le Baron Hepburn, Colonel William B. Thompson, Elbert H. Gary, Frederick D. Underwood, George W. Perkins, Governor William C. Sproul of Pennsylvania, Otto H. Kahn, William E. Corey, Frank A. Munsey, the Rev. J. A. Zahn, Alvin Krech, William H. Truesdale, Le Roy Baldwin, Paul D. Cravath, James M. Beck, E. G. Grace, Archibald Johnston, Dwight W. Morrow, Dr. S. A. Brown, and Captain Jackson, U. S. N.

Tomorrow Admiral Jellicoe will meet Lady Jellicoe when she arrives from Ottawa, and will see her off for England on the Adriatic, and in the evening will be the dinner guest of the University Club. He expects to remain here until Sunday morning, when he will leave for Washington.

FIND GIRL AND DOG DEAD.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 2.—Miss Pauline Zelsse was found dead in the dining room of a fashionable apartment house at 1617 N. Thirteenth Street here this evening. Death is believed to have resulted from eating poisoned candy. By her side was found the body of "Toddles," her pet dog. On a table near a couch upon which the woman lay were three bottles of stick candy, one of which had been opened. A small piece of the candy was discovered near the dog's mouth.

W. V. Smalley, 3,447 Collins Street, a prominent manufacturer, who was found in the rear yard of the apartment house, was placed under arrest by detectives and taken to a police station. He has been held as a material witness.

The candy will be analyzed for traces of poison.

DR. KOO WON'T RETURN.

Chinese Minister, till in France, Seeks European Post.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Saddened by the misfortunes he sustained while in Washington, Dr. Wellington Koo has decided not to return to this city in the capacity of Chinese Minister, a post which he has filled since December, 1915, when he came to America as the representative of the Reformed Chinese Republic.

Yesterday the Chinese Commissioners were to have sailed from Marseilles for China leaving Dr. Koo behind in France. It is understood that he has been arranging with his foreign office for a transfer to one of the European diplomatic posts, probably London. In that case Mr. Sze, now Chinese Minister in London, is expected to come to Washington to succeed Dr. Koo.

SALOMON WILL FILED.

The will of William Salomon, banker, who died at 1020 Fifth Avenue, leaving an estate estimated at more than $25,000,000, was filed for probate yesterday. He gave $25,000 each to the United Hebrew Charities and the Educational Alliance, $10,000 each to the Mt. Sinai Hospital and the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, and $5,000 each to the Presbyterian Hospital, Roosevelt Hospital, the New York Throat, Nose & Lung Hospital, and the Hermon Knapp Memorial Eye Hospital.

Mr. Salomon gave all his personal effects, including his garage at 69 East Eighty-fifth Street, to his wife, Helen Naomi Salomon, with a trust fund of $500,000 and the residuary estate. Upon her death she is to dispose of the principal in her will. His sister, Mrs. Ella Samuel, got $100,000, and $50,000 each went to his sisters, Mrs. Louise Hendricks and Miss Rosalie Alice Salomon. He gave $10,000 to his godson, William Richard Evelyn Gully, son of Viscount Selby of England.

Old Guard Ball on Jan. 9.

The Old Guard ball is to be held this Winter on Jan. 9 in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Commodore. Former Governor Whitman, who is an honorary member of the organization, has promised to lead the march, escorted by Colonel Edward Havemeyer Snyder, the Old Guard commander. Adjt. Gen. Berry and Governor Smith's staff will follow. Then will come members of the Diplomatic Corps and officers of the army, navy and State guard. The committee announces that the demand for tickets and boxes is greater than in any previous year.

Sues for War Seizure Damages.

The All Package Grocery Company began suit in the Federal Court yesterday to recover alleged damages of $372,846. It is charged that in February, 1918, the Government requisitioned the space occupied by the plaintiff in the Bush Terminal and that the amount awarded by the Board of Appraisers was short the amount sued for in actual injury to the plaintiff's business.

LANSING DENOUNCES EUROPEAN LOAN STORY

Characterizes It as Absolutely False and "a Despicable Piece of Business."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—Secretary Lansing today used vigorous language in denouncing the published report that Viscount Grey, British Ambassador to the United States, soon to sail for England, had obtained a pledge of support from the Wilson Administration for a $13,000,000,000 loan from the United States to Great Britain.

"The story is absolutely idiotic and asinine," said Secretary Lansing. "The man who wrote such a story must have intellectual degeneracy or softening of the brain."

Secretary Lansing said that Viscount Grey had never spoken of a loan during his whole stay in

For Rosy Slumbers

Sleep in silk the faint pink tint of petals, and your dreams will blossom with a color equally rosy. And drowsily waiting on our shelves are trailing lengths of silken nightgowns all ruffled fairily up with lace, all knotted Frenchily with ribbon.

The Crepe of China

Crepe de Chine is slenderly fashioned into a lovely garment topped with a wide band of creamy lace. Two straps of the lace slip over the shoulders, and a pink ribbon, fluttering into a gay bow, ties itself in the front. This engaging bit of sleepy silk is priced at $13.57, including the luxury tax.

Tricks with Lace

Another model, more elaborate, has a whim for lace. It, too, is made of Crepe de Chine, and has an intricately delicate yoke of misty lace. Tiny inserts of Georgette crepe, tucked and lacily frilled, add their bit of magic. Perched on the shoulders flutter gleaming bows of satin ribbons, tinted pastel orchid and blue. This nightgown is priced at $17.97, including the luxury tax.

Ideas in Azure

Dreams, Little and Big

Will float to your pillow, once you have said your prayers in one of those flower like robes for sleepy heads.

MOONSHINE FOES RAID IN BROOKLYN

MANY SALOONS ARE VISITED

Wood Alcohol Intended for Hair Tonic Sold for Whisky in Newark.

Under the direction of J. William Allen, Jr., who was brought here from Kentucky, where he was chief agent in running down moonshiners, revenue agents yesterday visited a number of Brooklyn saloons and arrested the proprietors and bartenders on the charge of violating the war prohibition law. The raids were made two hours after there had been a shakeup in the personnel of the revenue service in that borough, resulting in the transfer of eight agents elsewhere for duty. Their places were taken by an equal number of Government men brought here from the South.

The first arrests were made in the Assembly, at 308 Fulton Street, for many years the rendezvous of borough politicians and business men. Here, according to the revenue agents, they were served with liquor, which they poured into a bottle as evidence. Nicholas R. Middleton, one of the proprietors of the Assembly; William Dannenfeld, bartender, and Joseph Competill, a waiter, were arrested. They were taken before United States District Attorney Leroy Ross and released on bail for a hearing today.

A cafe at 99 Court Street, conducted by Mrs. Rose Schulman, also frequented by officials and politicians, was next visited and the proprietress and Charles Tracy, her bartender, were arrested.

William J. McCarty of 309 East Fourteenth Street, Manhattan, bartender in Burton's cafe at 142 Flatbush Avenue, was arrested a short time later. John H. Davis, one of the revenue agents, testified that he obtained a glass of sherry in the place. McCarty was released by United States Commissioner McGoldrick in $500 bail. It was said that three other places in the borough were raided, but the details were not made public.

On charges of manufacturing liquor, the revenue agents also arrested Frank Monturi, of 136 Bedford Avenue; Nicholas Alatese, of 298 Bedford Avenue; Joseph Salzarrullo, of 63 North Penn Street, and Gaetano Avitable, of 217 Willoughby Street, all Brooklyn addresses.

In Newark, N. J., two saloon keepers and a security salesman were arraigned before United States Commissioner Matthews on charges of violating the Volstead act and released in $2,500 bail for hearings on Monday. The defendants were Julius Amsterdam of 246 Orange Street; his brother, Abraham Amsterdam, of 78 Prince Street, and William Landow, a salesman, of 63 North Thirteenth Street. According to the police Landow admitted that he had sold to Abraham Amsterdam at $30 a gallon five barrels of wood alcohol which had been originally purchased for use in a barber supply business. Landow was quoted as saying he figured it would be more profitable for him to sell the alcohol than to continue making hair tonic and bay rum.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE TO SPEND $28,000,000

Expects to Raise Fund to Enforce Prohibition in America and Extend Drive Abroad.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Anti-Saloon League expects to spend almost $28,000,000 in a campaign to enforce prohibition in this country and to extend the no-liquor campaign throughout Latin America and in Europe. This vast sum the prohibitionists hope to raise by popular subscription. The following budget is taken from the American Issue, official organ of the Anti-Saloon League, for Dec. 27:

FAILS TO FIND FLAW IN RATIFICATIONS

Secretary to Governor-Elect Edwards Reports Action by States Valid.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Another hope that the ratification of the national prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution might have been improperly achieved was dispelled today when it became known that J. Harry Foley, private secretary to Governor-elect Edwards of New Jersey, after a careful examination of the ratification documents in the State Department, had failed to find anything that looked like a flaw in the matter of ratification.

BRYAN GREETS DEMOCRATS.

Sends New Year's Cards to Thousands Throughout Country.

All the compliments of the season have been received by Democrats all over this broad land in missives from Colonel William Jennings Bryan, according to formal announcement made yesterday by Frank H. Warder, Secretary of the Bryan League.

"Colonel Bryan has sent out thousands of New Year's cards to his friends all over the country," read the announcement.

"Some of the New Yorkers who have received cards had not heard from Colonel Bryan since he was last a candidate," Mr. Warder added.

Then the announcement goes on to say that "many members are urging that Bryan headquarters at the Hotel Commodore should be opened immediately and offering to subscribe to a campaign fund." Mr. Warder did not state whether these offers would be accepted.

According to Mr. Warder great curiosity exists in the minds of many Democrats "who have telephoned to know if Colonel Bryan was not really for Mr. Hoover. In such minds also, according to Colonel Bryan's spokesman, there is lurking a suspicion "that Harry W. Walker was secretly booming Hoover in connection with Colonel House."

STRIKE HITS WHISKY EXPORT

Philadelphia Port Tieup May Force Removal of 1,000 Barrels.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—There were no signs of an adjustment of the harbor strike today. Several steamers scheduled to sail remained at their berths because of inability to have tugs haul them into midstream. Six others which entered the port today, after having passed up the Delaware Bay last night, dropped anchor. No attempt will be made to dock them until tugs are available.

One of the freighters which was to have cleared today for Havana is the steamship Coquina, which in addition to a cargo of general merchandise has on board 1,000 barrels of whisky, sent here from Louisville for export to Cuba. If there are no indications of an early settlement of the strike the owners propose to unload the whisky and send it to another port for shipment.

The employes of the tugs are demanding higher pay and shorter hours.

TO HALT KENTUCKY LIQUOR.

Not Time Enough to Export—35,000,000 Gallons on Hand.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 2.—Movement of liquor out of Kentucky for export to foreign countries will be discontinued next Monday, it was announced here tonight.

R. L. McKellar, foreign freight traffic manager for the Southern Railway, said it would be almost impossible to accept shipments for export later than Jan. 5 because of inability to ship the liquor to seaports and place it on board ship by Jan. 16, when national prohibition becomes effective.

The suspension, according to local liquor interests, will leave at least 35,000,000 gallons in the warehouses of Kentucky when the constitutional amendment goes into effect.

GAIN FOR "DRYS" IN ITALY.

Decree Limits Sale of Liquor with More Than 20 Per Cent. of Alcohol.

ROME, Jan. 2.—Prohibitionists claim their first notable achievement in Italy in the issuance of a decree by which the sale of liquor containing more than 20 per cent. of alcohol will be permitted only between 8 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon on week days and until 4 o'clock on Saturdays.

Sales must cease at noon on Sundays and are completely prohibited on holidays, according to the decree.

NEW NON-STOP RECORD.

Air Mail Pilot Flies 215 Miles in 83 Minutes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—All American records for a nonstop flight of more than 200 miles are believed by Post Office Department officials to have been broken today by James H. Knight, an air mail pilot, who flew with a load of mail from Cleveland to Bellefonte, Pa., 215 miles, in 83 minutes.

The flight was made at an average of 156 miles an hour, and was seven minutes better than a similar trip made by Knight last September. The start from Cleveland was made in a heavy snowstorm.

Comments Severely on Report That He Ordered Walker Made Senate Leader.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 2.—Governor Smith tonight issued a rejoinder to an article which The New York American printed today in reference to the selection of Senator Walker as Democratic leader of the Upper House. The Governor said:

"My attention has been called to a news article in The Mud Gutter Gazette, commonly known as Hearst's New York American, of Friday, Jan. 2, the headline of which says: "Smith Orders Walker Made Senate Chief."

"The Gazette begins the New Year, running true to form, spreading lies and misinformation. The fact is, so far as I know, that Senator Walker was selected in the regular way by a caucus of his Democratic colleagues, without either advice or suggestion on my part. The article contains an alleged interview with a friend of Senator Boylan. This is a characteristic method used by these degraded newspapers to express their perverted opinion of things. In order that the people may understand the purpose of such an article, I challenge Mr. Hearst, the owner of The Gazette, to mention the name of the friend of Senator Boylan who gave that interview.

"In dealing with our public men for the year 1920, let us all resolve that we be honest, decent, manly, straight-forward and truthful inasmuch as none of these attributes can be expected in any of Mr. Hearst's newspapers, the statements made in the article are, therefore, not surprising.

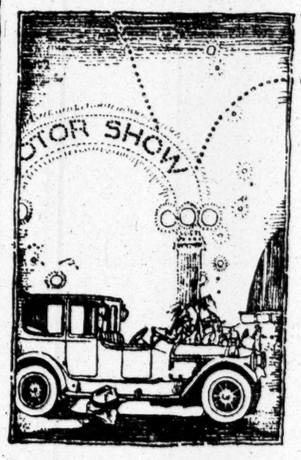
THE CENTER OF INTEREST



The Dual Valve Six Pierce-Arrow lightens the labor of the driver and enlarges the performance of the car. It is easier to steer, easier to shift gears. It starts instantly. It accelerates more quickly. Increased power adds to its range. It races along, or moderates the pace, picks its way through traffic, passes laggards, mounts difficult hills, without that confession of weakness—the incessantly shifted gear. But when a gear must be shifted, it is done with ease, without noise, and without hesitancy; adding not only greater comfort, but equally greater safety.

The center of interest at the Automobile Show is the space where the Dual Valve Six is exhibited. Its fame has spread throughout the country. The improvements of the past year have materially enhanced its performance.

Russian Czar and German Kaiser

will be published in

The Globe AND Commercial Advertiser

THESE HISTORIC DOCUMENTS were found by the Soviet authorities among the personal effects of the Czar after his execution in July, 1918, at Ekaterinburg.

THE AUTHENTICITY OF THESE LETTERS has been established beyond shadow of a doubt by Mr. Isaac Don Levine, who saw the originals in Moscow. Experts in London have added their testimony that the letters are genuine.

IRREFUTABLE AND UNQUESTIONABLE DOCUMENTS showing that the Kaiser dominated the Czar; that he worked systematically to involve the Czar in ambitious Asiatic adventures; that he labored for an alliance between Germany and Russia, aimed at Great Britain and her sea power.

THE LETTERS ARE WRITTEN IN ENGLISH, the favorite language of the Russian Imperial family.

HARDING DEFENDS ANTI-STRIKE CLAUSE

Senator Writes to Railway Unionist That It Is a Gain to Public and Workers.

SEEKS JUSTICE WITH PEACE

Letter Is the First of a Series Declaring the Presidential Aspirants Views.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2, 1920.—Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, in a letter today addressed to E. J. Miller, Secretary of a railway union at Newark, Ohio, defended his course in supporting the anti-strike section in the Cummins railroad regulation bill and defined his position toward organized labor.

This letter, it is declared, is the first of a series of communications which Senator Harding will write as a means of placing his position on vital public questions thoroughly before the public. It can be said upon the authority of a powerful Republican leader that some of the most practical politicians are determined to force the nomination of Mr. Harding for President at the Chicago convention and from this time on Mr. Harding will enter the race with vigor.

Text of Harding Letter.

Senator Harding's letter reads:

"My Dear Mr. Miller:

"Permit me to acknowledge your letter of Dec. 24, and to say that I am very glad to make reply, because you and every other citizen of Ohio have a right to know my reasons for any vote which I cast as one of Ohio's representatives in the Senate.

"You address five specific questions as follows:

"1.—Why did you vote in favor of the Cummins Railroad bill?

"2.—Why did you support the anti-strike clause in the same bill?

"3.—Do you think this will prevent strikes?

"4.—What is your attitude toward organized labor?

"5.—Do you expect organized labor to support you?

"Let me omit direct reply to your fifth question and say simply and truly that I wish the support of all citizens, organized and unorganized, who believe me to be a trustworthy public servant.

"Question four ought to require no answer in Ohio. In my private pursuits, as a newspaper publisher, I am an employer of organized labor, having never known a controversy, and I believe most cordially in rational unionism. Organization and collective bargaining, under wise leadership, have done more to advance the cause of labor than all other agencies combined, and any one who thinks to destroy sane unionism, by legislation or otherwise, is blind to conditions firmly established, and is insensible to a public sentiment which is deliberate and abiding.

"But the advancement of unionism is one thing and the domination of organized labor is quite another. I subscribe to the first and oppose the latter. I do not believe in any class domination and the long fight to remove the domination of capital, now fairly won, is lost if labor domination is substituted in its stead.

"This bring me to the specific reply to your inquiries relating to the Cummins bill and its anti-strike clause. I voted for the bill because I believed it to be the best measure presented to the Senate for the restoration of the railway lines to their owners.

Calls Strike Clause an Advance.

"I favored the anti-strike clause because it applies to a public service under governmental regulation, in which Congress exercises its power to limit the return on capital invested, fixes rates at which the public must be served, enacts the conditions under which service must be rendered, and, finally, in the anti-strike clause, provides a capable tribunal for the adjustment of all labor grievances, so that no interruption in transportation need be apprehended.

"In our modern life all the people are dependent on railway transportation for food, comfort, health, security and the necessary materials for productive activity and attending livelihood. It has become a prime necessity. This transportation is a public service and is no longer a speculative private enterprise. It is not competitive, except as to quality of service. It is limited in profit and the investment comes under governmental restrictions. Expenditures are limited because earnings are limited.

"All this assumption in regulation is designed for the public good. Is it not wholly consistent and fair, then, that the same governmental authority should prohibit the paralysis of the public service, so long as it provides a competent tribunal to adjust all labor grievances and awards to railway employes every just consideration? I believe it not only consistent but a distinct advance in behalf of the public and the workmen alike.

"If the Government, representing all the people, can not guarantee transportation service under any and all conditions, it fails utterly. If that same Government cannot provide just consideration of the workmen operating the transportation systems it fails again. It ought to and must do both.

"It is far afield from the main question to talk about enslaving the laboring man. Nothing is further from the truth. Nobody holds such a desire or the semblance of such a thought.

"The law specifically preserves to the individual his right to quit his employment. It provides the Government's guaranty of just treatment while he remains in the railway employment. Government itself is the lawful agent of justice.

Public Welfare Paramount.

"There has been no intent to interfere with the plan of collective bargaining in competitive, private enterprise. This provision deals solely with a public service, the continued and uninterrupted maintenance of which is vital to the whole people, and in the one act we pronounce public welfare paramount and at the same time commit the Government to a plan of awarding full and prompt justice to every man engaged in the great and complex operation.

"Instead of reaction, this is a great step forward and there is the highest American conscience in all that is intended. Surely the organized railway workers ask no more than full justice, and in this act the Government establishes the tribunals for the award of that justice.

"If our boasted present day civilization can not find a plan to avoid industrial conflicts in a public service under strict governmental regulation, without resort to wasteful warfare and suffering, then our civilization is less advanced than we have boasted.

"I do not assert that the Cummins bill is perfect but it proclaims our Government to be jealous as concerned about a service essential to the public and solemnly commits the same Government to the just treatment of the men who perform that service.

"I do not know that such a law will prevent railway strikes, but I do know that it ought, and I think the great rank and file of railway workers ought to welcome it. It suggests the nation-wide aspiration for industrial peace with unfailing justice to all concerned, which is in the heart of the American millions today.

"If you and your associates know a better plan, if you know of anything surpassing the supremacy of just government, if you know a hope more promising than your Government's committal to just treatment, let me know it, and I will be happy to subscribe to it instead of the measure which I believe to be the best yet offered to all who are concerned with the good fortunes of our common country. Very respectfully yours,

W. G. HARDING."

"Mr. E. J. MILLER, Secretary, B. & O. Local Federation, Newark, Ohio."

FRIENDS MAY PUT BRYAN IN MICHIGAN PRIMARY

But He Declares in Florida That He Knows Nothing of the Proposed Move.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 2.—William Jennings Bryan will be entered in Michigan's presidential preference primary as a candidate for indorsement as Democratic nominee for President, according to local friends of the former Secretary of State.

Petitions in his favor, which will require only 100 names, will be in circulation shortly, it was said. The primaries will be held on April 5.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2.—"It must be a mistake, for I have heard nothing of it," William Jennings Bryan said today regarding the statement from Detroit that his name would be entered in the Michigan presidential preference primaries. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan are spending the Winter at their home here.

BERGER TAME IN BOSTON.

American Legion on Guard Outside Socialist Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—Victor L. Berger, re-elected Wisconsin Congressman, gave voice to no seditious utterances when he spoke in Convention Hall tonight under the auspices of the State Executive Committee of the Socialist Party. The only outburst came when one of the audience called on Berger to read in full statements he had been accrediting to President Wilson.

There were cries, "Put him out," but the police spread through the audience and order was quickly restored. About ten uniformed policemen were on hand and fifty service officers were held in readiness close by. Members of the American Legion gathered outside, but made no disturbance.

Providence to Bar Berger Speech.

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 2.—Victor L. Berger, who postponed an engagement to speak here Saturday night with the understanding that he would speak in the city at a later date, will not be allowed to make a public address here. After conferences with Mayor Gainer and the city solicitor, on a protest filed by Providence post of the American Legion, the police commission issued a statement asserting that "to allow him to make an address in public here would permit him to further assail American institutions, besides endangering the public peace. We have decided to do everything in our power to prevent Victor L. Berger or speakers of a similar type from addressing public gatherings in Providence."

SCIENTISTS BAN POLITICAL THEMES

FINAL SESSIONS ARE HELD

Dr. Lee of Columbia Urges Value of Physiology In Aiding Production.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—Just before the annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science ended today a resolution was adopted by the Executive Council prohibiting the scheduling for discussion at future conventions of political subjects which have no direct connection with scientific research.

This action resulted from criticism because of the discussion of the League covenant at a session of the social and economic science section when eight speakers opposed the covenant and there was no one on the program to support the plan.

Seymour C. Loomis of New Haven, Secretary of the section, asserted that more than 100 League adherents were invited to make addresses but failed to accept.

One of the addresses of the day was by Dr. F. S. Lee of Columbia University, who told the physiology experimental section that one solution for increased production lay in larger use of scientific means to use properly the physical power of workmen.

"I am convinced the time is coming," he said, "when all industries will have permanent staffs of physiologists to keep in tune and overhaul their human machinery just as they employ engineers and mechanics today. A maximum amount of work will thus be obtainable."

Dr. Lee told how industrial physiology was developed by the war. First steps were taken in England, especially in the munitions factories, where study was made of fatigue and the remedies for it.

Dr. Lee thought the plan of Lord Leverhulme for a universal six-hour day was unwise at this time. He held that even the eight-hour day, as applied to railroads, was unscientific, because it was not aimed to better conditions for the workmen.

Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, Professor of Public Health in Yale Medical School, told the physiology and elemental medical section that if the influenza epidemic appeared again next year the medical fraternity and scientists would be "practically without defense and almost powerless to combat it."

DU PONT EXPLOSION KILLS FIVE WORKERS

Detonation from 75,000 Pounds of Powder at Hagley Plant Shakes Wilmington.

SOME RESIDENCES DAMAGED

Four Years Ago an Explosion in the Same Powder Plant Killed Thirty Men.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 2.—One of the grinding mills of the Hagley plant of the du Pont Powder Company blew up this morning. Five workmen were killed. After a close investigation the five victims of the explosion were identified. While several men were injured, none had been hurt enough to be sent to a hospital.

Wilmington and the surrounding country for thirty miles were violently shaken and some houses in the immediate vicinity of the plant were badly damaged. The home of former Federal Judge Edward G. Bradford, about half a mile distant from the mills, was partially wrecked. All of the doors and windows were broken and other damage was done. Judge Bradford, who is recovering from a long illness, was affected by the shock.

It is estimated that between 50,000 and 75,000 pounds of powder exploded, which accounts for the severity of the shock and the extent of its effect.

The building was of flimsy construction. The plant is on Brandywine Creek, three miles from here. Four years ago an explosion in the same plant killed thirty workmen.

alterations will be subject to further negotiations."

Bidders must state definitely the terms upon which payment or payments will be made, it being understood that the bill of sale shall not be delivered until at least 25 per cent. of the total purchase price shall have been paid. In the event that the bid is accepted by the Shipping Board and the board still ready and willing to deliver the bill of sale, and the bidder is in default, the Shipping Board shall retain the 2½ per cent. as liquidated damage.

The Shipping Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. They are to be addressed to the Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, Washington, D. C., and marked "Proposal for purchase passenger ships." Action may be expected at the first meeting of the Shipping Board after Jan. 20.

Chairman Payne said today that plans for routes to the Orient were taking shape and that it was proposed to start the operation of three lines from ports on the western coast as early as May. At the start twelve fast liners will be used, each capable of not less than seventeen knots. One line, with weekly sailings, will take in ports in Japan, China, and the Philippines, and a second line, with five ships in service, will reach out to Japan, China, and Vladivostok. The third line, with sailings every three weeks and with two ships in service, will go to the Philippines and the Malay Straits ports, including Singapore. It is the intention to more than double the number of ships in these services when tonnage of the proper type is obtainable.

Steps to build up America's foreign commerce in all parts of the world to provide business for the great merchant marine also are being taken by the Shipping Board. Chairman Payne today sent to the Secretary of State a letter in which he announced that agents of the Shipping Board are being sent to many parts of the world to co-operate with American Consuls. It shall be the duty of these agents to give every aid possible to American interests and to pay particular attention to arranging for the speedy loading and unloading of American tonnage. Decision has been made so far to establish headquarters for the agents in the following places: London, Liverpool, Newcastle, Cardiff, Paris, Havre, St. Lazarre, Larochelle, Dunkirk, Bordeaux, Marseilles, Rotterdam, Antwerp, Hamburg, Copenhagen, Naples, Gibraltar, Lisbon, Bermuda, Havana, Panama, and Shanghai. Agents at these headquarters will cover certain specified territories. The Paris headquarters, for instance, will reach out into France, Spain, and parts of Portugal.

Shipping Board Exceeded Plans.

The shipping program of the Emergency Fleet Corporation of the United States Shipping Board more than met expectations for the calendar year of 1919, and 1,159 vessels of 6,229,323 deadweight tons were delivered as follows:

Kind of Ships.	Number of Ships.	Deadw't Tons.
Steel	741	4,838,673
Composite	12	42,000
Wood	103	1,338,650
Concrete	3	10,000
Total	1,159	6,229,323

Since the Shipping Board began its program of construction 1,740 ships of 9,557,444 dead weight tons have been delivered as follows:

Kind of Ships.	Number of Ships.	Deadw't Tons.
Steel	1,200	7,717,394
Composite	18	63,050
Wood	519	1,767,050
Concrete	3	10,000
Total	1,740	9,557,444

The number of launchings, which includes ships launched and delivered, have been 1,975 ships, of 10,892,440 tons, and the keels have been laid since the shipping program was started for 2,261 ships, of 13,055,161 tons.

FRENCH PROTEST GRANT OF SHIPS TO BRITAIN

Transfer of Seven German Liners Causes a "Painful Impression," Interests Say.

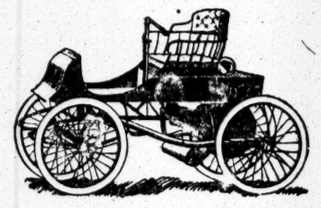
PARIS, Jan. 2.—A committee of shipowners of France has sent a letter signed by Denis Perouse, its President, to Pierre Depuy, Commissioner of Maritime Transport, in which, after quoting newspaper articles concerning the handing over of seven former German steamers, including the Imperator to the British, M. Perouse says:

"I cannot help informing you of the painful impression this news has created among my colleagues. Must I recall that the French mercantile marine has lost 925,000 tons, of which 220,000 tons were packet boats? * * * Our packet boat fleet is entirely insufficient to insure the transport of freight and passengers which our flag must face."

The letter adds that the steamers loaned to the United States for the transport of troops leave the situation without remedy, that it even aggravates it by giving "to an allied flag means [illegible] lines when penury in tonnage prevents us from reinstalling our-

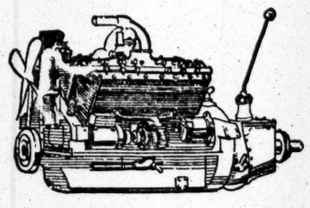
The letter says that the people of France "will not understand why the national flag does not benefit by the changes for the better to which their losses give them the right."

The Greatest Car Improvement Since the Multiple-Cylinder Motor



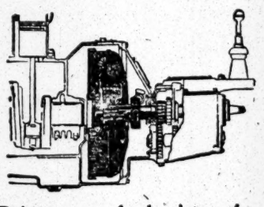
THE old "one-lungers" represent, by modern standards, the zero point in car performance and motor flexibility. "To get there and back" was the only demand of their pioneering owners.

Development of high-gear ability, ease of handling and road-worthiness really began with the advent of the multiple-cylinder motor.



ENGINEERS have traveled fast upon the trail, and have recorded a notable series of achievements. Cylinders have multiplied—fours, sixes, eights, twelves—valves have multiplied, revolutions per minute have multiplied; and motor efficiency has risen to a new high point which seems near perfection. Yet car performance is still a compromise.

The Radcliffe Turbine-Drive is the solution of this compromise. It corrects the prime deficiency of all gas-motors—inherent in the finest modern twelve as in the pioneer "one-lunger"—by the simple conversion of motor power to hydraulic energy. Hydraulic energy as flexible, positive and efficient as steam!



THE Turbine-Drive opens fresh vistas of motor car advancement. Elimination of gear-shifting, simple throttle and brake control; increased motor ability, greater safety—these are but the beginning of its possibilities. It links car ability and motor efficiency giving car performance which is the sum of the two. It is a forward step as great as the building of the first four.

Why You Ought to Stop at the Columbia Six Exhibit

Any car which can rise to the position of leadership today occupied by the Columbia Six, among the two or three most popular and fastest selling cars in the middle price field, must have features worthy of your attention.

Show visitors this year must choose the exhibits most worth while. And in selecting the exhibits most worthy of your attention, it will pay you to include the Columbia Six.

The beauty of Columbia Six body designs, the exquisite harmony of the furnishings and fittings, prove a delight to every motor car connoisseur. You will want to see them.

Those mechanically inclined will find the Columbia exhibit equally interesting.

You will want to see the automatic thermostatically controlled radiator shutters, which are today recognized by automotive engineers generally as being one of the most important motor car improvements within a decade. The Columbia Motors Company was the pioneer in adopting them.

Time spent at the Columbia Exhibit will be time well spent.

The Columbia Six Exhibit will include

Resignation of Secretary of Police Department Asked After Many Complaints.

SWANN TO OPEN INQUIRY

Investigation to Cover Reported "Tipping Off" of Merchant Accused by Girl.

The resignation of John C. Hackett, Secretary of the Police Department, which was said to have preceded the public report of a controversy between Hackett and a Brooklyn policeman, which lead to an appeal for redress to Mayor Hylan, was demanded by Police Commissioner Enright, it was learned yesterday. The department was said to be making an investigation of the further allegation to the effect that Secretary Hackett and a private detective, who formerly was an Inspector, had been seen together at the office of a silk merchant who had escaped arrest after a charge by a young woman accusing the merchant of attempting to attack her in his Riverside Drive apartment.

These matters affecting Mr. Hackett, the Commissioner said, had not been the direct cause of enforcing his resignation, but they were taken into consideration in reaching a decision to let him go. According to Commissioner Enright, he had been dissatisfied for some time with Secretary Hackett, against whom he had received other complaints, and the two incidents mentioned were a culmination of them and had brought about the resignation.

Deputy Commissioner Ellen O'Grady had assigned two of her women detectives to investigate the complaint of the young woman against the merchant, with the result that Chief Magistrate McAdoo had issued a warrant, and it was then found that the suspect had left town. It was charged that he had been "tipped off" and fled to escape arrest. It was said that two women detectives had complained that they were interfered with by some persons when they sought to serve the warrant at the man's office.

Deputy O'Grady offered yesterday to give the details of this feature of the case, providing Commissioner Enright permitted her to do so. After a lengthy conference with the Commissioner, however, Mrs. O'Grady said she could not discuss the subject. Further details of the situation were obtained by District Attorney Swann, who said he intended to begin an investigation of the subject Monday. He said:

"I went personally to the office of Commissioner Enright. I told him that some persons seemed to think that some policeman or a police official was involved in some way and that I thought the matter should be cleared up. Commissioner Enright assured me that no one in the Police Department was in any way connected with the alleged offense. He said one of them (the alleged offender) was a private citizen—a silk merchant. The Commissioner gave me his name but I had never heard of the man before. The other man was, at one time, connected with the B. R. T., I believe. I am not sure he is now."

Mr. Swann said he would include in his investigation the reported "tipping" of the merchant that a charge had been made, or that his arrest impended. Concerning the report that Hackett had been seen at the merchant's office, Mr. Swann said:

"Commissioner Enright did say that Hackett was at the man's office. The Commissioner said he had then asked Mr. Hackett for his resignation. He said that was the occasion for asking for Hackett's resignation, but not the only reason for it. That was the culmination. The Commissioner said that former Inspector Edward Hughes was with Hackett at the merchant's office."

TROLLEY 'BOUNCER' FINED.

Pays $100 for Ejecting Brooklyn Passengers Refusing to Pay 2 Fares.

As an outcome of the second fare disturbances at Flatbush and Foster Avenues early last month, Frank Monarch, a special inspector employed by the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, was yesterday afternoon found guilty of assault in the Court of Special Sessions, Brooklyn, and fined $100. The complainant in the case was Allyn S. Crum, President of the Thirty-second Ward Taxpayers' Association. Mr. Crum alleged that he had been violently ejected from a car because he asserted what he considered to be his rights in refusing to pay a second fare.

On the ground that the court should have received the evidence objected to by the District Attorney, an appeal from the conviction will be taken by counsel for the company.

HEAD OF BANK CELEBRATES.

J. S. Alexander's 35th Anniversary at Bank of Commerce.

James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce, yesterday celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of his joining the staff of that institution. In point of service, Mr. Alexander is the oldest employe of the Bank of Commerce, having been with it continuously since he joined its staff, with the exception of a few months in 1907, when he was Treasurer of the American Express Company. Mr. Alexander became President of the bank in 1911.

When the President joined the Bank of Commerce forces on Jan. 2, 1885, the institution had a capital and surplus of $7,000,000, deposits of $30,137,965 and resources of $39,317,173. At the present time its capital and surplus amount to $50,000,000, its deposits to $410,350,000 and its resources to more than $507,837,000.

"You can vary the tone-color of each record, giving the music a freshness and spontaneity possible to no other phonograph"

The AEOLIAN-VOCALION

In a Most Attractive Model at Very Convenient Terms

THE Aeolian Company's phonograph—the Aeolian-Vocalion, in the matter of tone, is the most perfect phonograph in the world. When a violin record is played upon this wonderful instrument, one hears, not simply music, but a real violin playing.

This is not only true of the violin, but is the case with every instrument and vocal record. The musical tones produced are not only beautiful, they are characteristic. The tones of the flute have the pallid purity that distinguishes this instrument; those of the clarinet are plaintive and mellow; of the trumpet, full, pealing and military; of the trombone, grave and majestic. Human voices sound real and lifelike, with never a question as to whether they are soprano, tenor or baritone, or as to the identity of the singer.

Moreover when an orchestra record is played there is a wholly new sense of fulness and richness, due to the lower fundamental orchestral tones being, for the first time in phonographic reproduction, given their proper emphasis.

THE GRADUOLA

The wonderful Tone-Controlling Feature that makes the Vocalion the only phonograph that is a truly artistic musical instrument

The immense advantage the Graduola gives to the Aeolian-Vocalion from an artistic standpoint is obvious.

Artists never play or sing twice with exactly the same feeling. Without actually changing the spirit of their interpretations, they vary them in detail with each performance. This is exactly what anyone can do with the Graduola. Without changing the artist's interpretation (its arbitrary elements, tempo and phrasing, remaining the same) it can be varied in tone-color, thus giving it a freshness, livingness and spontaneity utterly unlike and far more interesting than the performance of any other phonograph.

Other Vocalion Features

Vocalion Universal Tone-Arm—Plays the already famous Vocalion Records and those of any other standard make with great distinctness and beauty.

Vocalion Automatic Stop—Simpler to operate and superior in mechanism to any other stopping-device on the market.

CRIMINALS WITNESS HANGING IN CHICAGO

200 Hardened Convicts Shout "When Do We Eat?" as Comrade Drops to Death.

SOCIAL WORKERS ROUSED

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Two hundred convicts in the County Jail were forced this morning to witness the hanging of Raffio Durrage for the murder of his wife, Mary, and Onofrio Gargano. The spectacle, which was staged by Sheriff Peters and Jailer Davis as an experiment in psychology and to bring home to these hardened criminals, selected from among the "worst" in the prison, the terrible expiation for murder, has aroused much criticism from social and welfare workers and organizations in Chicago.

The convicts selected to witness the hanging were transferred to the cells overlooking the courtyard in which the gallows had been erected. The criminals saw Durrage led from his cell to the gallows. They heard two priests intone a prayer for the condemned man's soul, and saw the white cap placed over his head. Deadly silence reigned until the noose had been slipped over the doomed man's head, and then a voice from one of the upper cells shouted:

"When do we eat?"

The cry was taken up by the 200 witnesses until the wardens' voices were drowned in the tumult. The trap was sprung and Durrage dropped to his death, while his 200 hardened comrades in harsh voices continued their requiem: "When do we eat?"

After the execution it was learned that shortly before the hanging the receiver of the only telephone connecting the prison with the outside world had been removed. It was reported that this action was taken to prevent a last minute reprieve for the condemned man. Jailer Davies when questioned said:

"I can't say why it was done. You see, the telephone is out of order."

Would Prevent Recurrence.

Among the most emphatic in their protests against Jailer Davis's action were Miss Jane Addams, Dr. Graham Taylor, head of Chicago Commons; Miss Mary McDowell, head resident of the University of Chicago Settlement; Miss Harriet Vittum, head of the Northwestern University Settlement, and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, representing the Woman's City Club.

Sheriff Peters, in answer to the criticisms, issued the following statement:

"In my opinion, the modern coddling of criminals by well-meaning but misguided sympathetic theoretical reformers and self-constituted organizations is one of the greatest causes of the present crime wave in this city. Their interference with the vigorous enforcement of the law has destroyed the fear of punishment of criminals to the extent that it is no longer a deterrent to the further commission of crime to be incarcerated in our penal institutions. A large number of prisoners openly acknowledge that they would prefer to be incarcerated in the county jail, where they are better fed and where sanitary conditions are far better than in their ordinary environments.

SUGAR CROP SEEMS AMPLE.

Wholesale Grocer Arraigned on Charge of Profiteering.

The Sugar Equalization Board, of which George A. Zabriskie is President, announced yesterday that all information concerning the future plans of the board must come from Washington. It is understood that the board has not yet received official notice from Washington that President Wilson had signed the McNary Sugar Control bill, under which the Sugar Equalization Board is continued in power for a year.

An official of the board said there appears to be ample sugar in sight for the requirements of the United States for the next year. In addition to the 4,500,000 tons it is expected to get from Cuba there will be 2,000,000 tons from other sources, making a total of 6,500,000 tons, which is about 2,000,000 more than the normal requirements.

H. Weiss, of 30 Henry Street, a wholesale and retail grocer, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and held in $500 bail for further examination on a charge of having sold 3,000 pounds of sugar at a profit of 14½ cents a pound.

PLAN BIGGEST CANDY STORE

United Retail Company to Open 40 Establishments in Town.

The United Retail Candy Stores, Inc., plans to open what it terms the biggest candy store in the world at 27 West Forty-second Street, which has been leased beginning Jan. 20. The store will have about 4,000 square feet of space, for which the fixtures are now being made. The property runs through to Forty third Street. The company has also acquired the Acker-Merrall Building at 135 West Forty-second Street, where another large store will be opened. The lease on this property begins Oct. 1. The company has closed leases on eleven other sites in New York city, one of these at Broadway and Thirty-third Street and another on Broadway between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Streets.

Additional leases have been closed on places at Fulton and Nassau Streets, in the Fifth Avenue building, at Thirty-fourth Street and Seventh Avenue, Forty-seventh Street and Seventh Avenue, Fiftieth Street and Broadway, one at Broadway and Park Place, and another at 125th Street and Seventh Avenue.

More leases are being considered in New York city, and during 1920-21 it is expected that there will be from thirty-three to forty stores in operation. The company is also planning to enter many other cities.

United Retail Candy is one of the projects with which George J. Whelan and James B. Duke are identified. The company, it is asserted, has over $7,000,000 cash on hand, which has been loaned out at prevailing call money rates. A New York factory is to be established in one of the Bush Terminal Buildings in Brooklyn.

Ask Rabbis' Aid in Zionist Drive.

Judge Julian W. Mack and Dr. Stephen S. Wise entertained a group of reform rabbis at the City Club yesterday to enlist their support for the $10,000,000 Palestine Restoration Fund Campaign, which begins Jan. 18. Judge Mack asked the rabbis to lay aside all partisanship and to support the Zionist effort. Among those who spoke were the Rev. Dr. Maurice H. Harris of Temple Israel, Harlem, and the Rev. Dr. Nathan Krass of the Central Synagogue.

? THE GREAT ? IMPERSONATION

By

E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

GERMANY hated E. Phillips Oppenheim. In fact his name was on the official list of dangerous English people to be SHOT when German soldiers occupied Great Britain!

THE REASON? Oppenheim was the first writer of fiction to proclaim the Teutonic Menace—and had long been a thorn in Germany's side.

This gifted writer has written many novels dealing with this theme, but in "THE GREAT IMPERSONATION" he has surpassed himself.

It is a happy blending of romance, mystery and intrigue. There is a love story of charm and appeal; a revelation of German espionage that thrills and amazes; and a mystery that holds the reader to the end.

Crisis Imminent in the Cloak and Suit Industry

The Cloak and Suit Industry is the most important in the City of New York

Working conditions are maintained under a Collective Agreement between

THE CLOAK, SUIT AND SKIRT MFRS. PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

and

THE INTERNATIONAL LADIES GARMENT MAKERS UNION

entered into June 1st, 1919, for a term of three years.

This agreement provided a minimum scale of wages to be paid to the slowest workers which is the highest minimum scale paid in any industry in this state. It was fixed at a standard to enable the slowest worker to maintain his family at the prevailing high cost of living.

Wages of more efficient workers were fixed at rates, in proportion, by comparison of their productivity with that of the slowest workers.

Thus, the average wage was established at figures more than fifty per cent (50%) above the minimum scale.

The agreement also provides—

> "There shall be no lock-out or strike in the shops of the members of the Association during the period of this agreement, nor shall there be any individual shop lock-out, stoppage or shop strike pending the determination of any complaint or grievance. Should there be a stoppage of work or shop strike in any factory, immediate notice thereof shall be given by the Association to the Union. The Union agrees to return the striking workers to their work within twenty-four hours after the receipt by the Union of such notice, and until the expiration of such time it shall not be deemed that the striking workers have abandoned their employment. The consideration of stoppage cases shall have precedence over all other complaints and grievances arising hereunder."

Immediately after the contract was signed, the workers, by means of threats and a systematized method of coercion upon individual manufacturers in the industry, forced additional advances of from 10% to 35% to the already high wages that had been established in each shop.

Though the contract is but six months old, the Union, disregarding the agreement fixing wages and the subsequent advances obtained from employers, made demands upon the Association for a further increase of 30% on the ground of higher cost of living, and threatened, if the demand was not conceded, it would obtain it through the unlawful method of shop strikes, forbidden by the contract. The Association declined to accede to the Union's demand upon the following grounds:

THAT under the agreement made June 1st, 1919, weekly working hours were reduced from forty-nine to forty-four, the working system was changed from piece-work to week-work, causing a greatly decreased production, and the repeated increases of wages obtained since that time more than doubled the labor cost in the production of garments.

THAT Cloaks and Suits had reached prices to the consumer that were almost prohibitive.

THAT the prevailing high prices had already seriously jeopardized the industry.

THAT the earnings of the workers are fully adequate to meet the present standards of living.

THAT to advance the prices of garments under these circumstances would be an imposition on the Public.

Therefore

The Association takes the position that in the present state of the Public mind, and in conformity with the avowed purpose of the Government to lower the cost of living, it is a moral obligation of the Association to co-operate to this end and in the Public Interest to prevent, as far as possible, unjustified increases in prices, especially as labor in this industry is already among the highest paid in the country.

Notwithstanding our repeated assertions clearly justifying the position taken by us in a series of communications sent to the Union, and of the obligations of the Union under the contract,

The Union Has Fulfilled Its Threat

and has already instigated twenty-eight individual strikes (all of which are, at present, actively carried on) in the shops of members of this Association, in direct violation of the express provisions of the contract, thus bringing about a crisis in the industry.

In this connection we wrote the Union, under date of December 30th, 1919, as follows:

> "Notwithstanding the fact that our agreement is barely six months old and that it expressly prohibits stoppages of work and strikes, yet there are at the present time twenty-eight strikes in the shops of members of this Association (some of which are more than two weeks old), and you have failed to respond to our repeated demands to return the men to work, in accordance with the terms of our agreement.
> "Such conduct of your part leaves us no alternative than to insist that you return these men to their work in their respective shops on or before January 2nd, 1920.
> "You have at all times maintained that you have full control over the workers, and should you fail to return these men to work, we shall be justified in believing that you did not exercise your power (as is your duty), in this regard. As this was the basic consideration for our entering in the agreement with you, we shall be compelled, under the circumstances, to make such publicity as we deem proper to show the injustice of the methods employed by you and the integrity of our position."

We received, under date of December 31st, 1919, a reply from the Union, reading as follows:

> "In reply to your letter of the 30th inst., we wish to say that we do not know of any strikes at present in any of the shops of the members of your Association, and that no strikes will be called or tolerated by our Organization in any of these shops, as we are determined to live up fully to the terms and letter of our agreement.
> "As regards the stoppages occurring in any of these shops, we wish to call your attention to specific provisions in our agreement governing and regulating same."

And immediately thereafter there occurred fourteen additional strikes.

Therefore:—The Association is compelled to take a definite stand:

BECAUSE:—Wages have been advanced, since the signing of the contract, more than any possible increase in the cost of living that may have occurred during that time.

BECAUSE:—The wages of the workers are among the highest paid in any industry.

BECAUSE:—Further increases of wages would be added to the price of garments and passed on to the Public.

BECAUSE:—The Government requested organized labor, especially in industries where compensation is high, to cease making unfair demands, which mitigate against the Government's efforts to lower the cost of living.

BECAUSE:—Wearing Apparel is a necessity, and the Association has resolved to maintain prices, as far as lies within its power, at the lowest possible level.

BECAUSE:—The Association holds that a contract, eminently fair, fully protecting the interests of the workers, entered into in good faith, should be respected, and the mutual obligations thereunder be observed with scrupulous integrity, so that it may be recognized as something more than a scrap of paper . . . and

BECAUSE:—of these facts and others of an industrial nature, involving control of an industry, the Association is prepared to oppose unjust demands at all cost to itself, so long as it receives the moral support of the Public or until such time when it will be indicated by the Public that increased wages to the workers and increased prices of cloaks and suits are desirable.

A BALTIC TRUCE.

Esthonia has signed an armistice with the Bolsheviki—nominally for a week only, but it is expected to be extended until it may perhaps take on the character of a formal treaty of peace. One of the terms of the truce is a complete recognition of Esthonian independence by the Bolshevist Government, an arrangement by which the Esthonians go forth from Bolshevist control with all the legal advantages that they held as Russian citizens, and none of the disabilities; Esthonia is even freed from the assumption of any portion whatever of Russia's pre-war debt. The newly freed States of Central Europe have taken their share of the debts of the empires of which they once formed a part, by stipulations in the peace treaties; without doubt the Bolsheviki want to make it clear to the Esthonians and the world how much more profitable it is to accept independence from LENIN than from CLEMENCEAU. The peace negotiations were interrupted on Christmas morning because of a dispute over the frontier; the Bolshevist envoys said they had made the last possible concession, and talked of a great offensive to start immediately. But they communicated with Moscow, and now the frontier question is settled by voluntary concession to the Esthonians of a strip of territory ten kilometers wide.

Skeptical persons might think that such ready yielding by a Government controlling a hundred million people to a Government of two millions must mean that the Bolsheviki expect to get something worth their while in exchange. A correspondent on the spot, however, seems to be impressed by the assertion of the Bolshevist envoys that they were "honorable representatives of a responsible Government whose sole purpose was to promote order and happiness within its own borders and live at peace with its neighbors." When one of them says that "our one desire is to disband every one of our soldiers and throw ourselves heart and soul into the internal organization of our country," the correspondent remarks that the whole world will watch with interest the doings of the Soviet Government during this "period of probation."

It will, indeed. The New Year's greeting to the world sent out apparently from Moscow by the Bolshevist wireless service predicts that the year will see Soviet Governments installed in London, Paris, Berlin, and Washington. If this message be authentic, it is probably to be set down to the credit of some enthusiastic Socveteer; but that it represents the hope of the Bolshevist leaders we know from their own declarations. All the "internal organization of their own country" and "promotion of order and happiness within their borders" will not save the Communist experiment, they have admitted, without world revolution which will turn over the resources of better developed industrial countries to the group ruling in the Kremlin. Peace with Esthonia is a minor move in the great game; the Bolsheviki can afford to give the Esthonians an extra ten miles of territory and all the paper privileges they want, for they expect presently to swallow Esthonia bodily. The Esthonians know it, and signed the truce with misgivings. If Western Europe will support them and their Baltic neighbors, the danger of Soviets in Washington, and in Reval, will be materially reduced.

HARVARD AND OREGON.

When Governor CALVIN COOLIDGE of Massachusetts sent greetings to the Harvard football team at Pasadena on the eve of the intercoast game with Oregon on New Year's Day he prepared the Crimson hopefuls for defeat as well as triumph. "Massachusetts," telegraphed the prudent Governor, "knows you are game, believes you are superior, and hopes you will win." Such was the inspiration from the stern and rockbound coast of Suffolk. But football is uncertain, and the Governor thought it well to add a word of consolation to fit the case of success by the Lemon Yellow: "There is a victory in doing your best, of which nothing can deprive you." Thus stimulated and cautioned, the stalwarts of Dr. FISHER and POOCH DONOVAN advanced to the fray. As the event proved, the Oregonians drew the Massachusetts Governor's consolation prize. You never can tell on the gridiron.

But the defeat was almost as glorious as the victory. It was a great football battle, so full of vicissitudes and thrills that only those of regular heartbeats should have witnessed it. A Harvard substitute, unknown to fame on the Pacific Coast and known in the East only as a promising player, made the touchdown that had been attributed to the immortal CASEY if Harvard was to win, but an analysis of the flitting through the line with the ball shows that the phantom pride of Harvard put success in the way of the nimble CHURCH. Football is so full of ironies. Oregon was prepared to look out for a touchdown by the pivot Harvard man, and a modest stranger did the trick.

A closer game, a more strenuous contest, was never played on an American football field. The Atlantic Coast was only a shade better than the Pacific. The honors in manhood were even. It will now be hands-across-the-continent for Oregon and Harvard. They have fought together in a test of brain and brawn, and each will have to admit that the other knows something about football. Memorable the game between Coast and Coast in the City of Roses with the snow-capped mountains ranged about, the atmosphere that of Summer, the players contending with a high thermometer as well as with one another. The football season of 1920 began in a blaze of glory, torrid, hectic, the men from the land of snows prevailing. It now becomes the turn of the Pacific Coast athletes to take the long trail and try a change of climate.

MR. BORAH'S QUESTIONNAIRE.

The apparent determination of Senator BORAH and "those for whom I speak" to split the Republican Party wide open, or at least to make it as difficult as possible for that party to present itself fairly before the people in the coming campaign, may seem good in the eyes of intensely partisan Democrats, but is a bad thing for the country. If the Peace Treaty, including the League of Nations, becomes the issue of the coming campaign, the campaign will be fought on a dead issue. The Treaty will be ratified, without doubt, some time this month, that is to say five and six months before the two conventions meet. The labor problem, heavy taxes, the expenses of government, the high cost of living, and similar questions greatly occupy the mind of the public now, and will occupy it to a still greater extent when the Treaty is confirmed and working. No one has ever been very successful in conducting a campaign on a dead issue, a campaign of revenge against men who voted this way or that, when new issues engross the public mind. Mr. BORAH is an old politician and knows this; his efforts to throw a bone of contention among Republican candidates now seem ill-intentioned.

His letter to Governor LOWDEN, to be followed shortly by one to General WOOD and others, can have no effect except in answers or silence which may alienate some of the supporters of those candidates in the primaries. He is not going to send a letter to Senator JOHNSON, and thinks that Senator HARDING, the fourth of the principal candidates, "has defined his position fairly well," although "there might be circumstances under which a letter would be sent to him." If this is not holding a club over Senator HARDING, it would be difficult to define it in any other colloquialism.

The manner of Mr. BORAH'S manoeuvre is worse than its matter. He asks Governor LOWDEN to say whether, if elected President, he would consent "to the abandonment" of the principles of WASHINGTON, JEFFERSON, JACKSON, and LINCOLN. It has a faint flavor of the historic question, "When did you stop beating your wife?" The words are so nearly insulting as to lead to the belief that Senator BORAH believes Governor LOWDEN is in favor of the Treaty and means to provoke him.

There is, too, a quality which in any one less highly placed and less eminent for personal qualities than Senator BORAH we should not hesitate to characterise as disingenuous, in his implication that if the Governor favors the Peace Treaty he will be supporting a policy that will place "upon our taxpayers the burden of the financial and economic life of both Europe and Asia." He knows that the Treaty will involve nothing of the sort, and he is too experienced a public man not to know that the defeat of the Treaty would not have a tendency to lessen the taxes of American citizens. He knows that the immense armies and navy which we should have to support if there were no League of Nations would eat deeper into the taxpayer's pocket than did the war and the costly year that followed it.

Finally, who are "those for whom I speak"? Is Senator JOHNSON, a Presidential candidate, one of them? Is he a party to this attempt to intimidate the other candidates? We hope not; for Mr. JOHNSON has earned too high a reputation for straightforwardness and downrightness to warrant the suspicion that he would allow another man to do for him what he would not dare do for himself. The fact that Mr. BORAH specifically exempts Mr. JOHNSON from his list of victims should not prejudice the California candidate in the public mind. Still, it would be well if Mr. JOHNSON made known the fact that he had no hand in this very shoddy affair.

AN AMERICAN JURIST.

In the chorus of applause that justly accompanies with regret the retirement of the Hon. ROBERT LUDLOW FOWLER from the post of Surrogate of New York County, THE NEW YORK TIMES begs to share with a certain addition of its own. Mr. FOWLER has illustrated, in a way that probably only the most famous students of the common law, like Mr. Justice OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, could thoroughly understand, the whole practice and tradition of the common law in regard to wills and inheritance. He has accompanied that knowledge with the broadest intelligence of French and more particularly of the Roman law, upon which that is built. Looking back, one remembers of Judge FOWLER'S opinions the clear and salient knowledge of our own practice that he has displayed and his immense collateral studies.

In glancing over that large treasury of all the precedents that his most famous opinions are, the still strong surviving part of the American bar that was brought up on the ancient doctrines and the modern cases sees in Judge FOWLER a just descendant of the long line of Chancellery Judges that have made English equity, continuing in our own courts the old race of JAMES KENT and JOSEPH STORY and LEMUEL SHAW and JOHN MARSHALL.

If THE NEW YORK TIMES wished to make a personal compliment to Mr. FOWLER it might say that, outside of his professional distinction, it had a personal interest in his work. Two years ago one of the most original, intelligent, and constructive theories of the future of American life and international reactions and readjustments was presented in a series of articles in THE NEW YORK TIMES, exciting a just and international curiosity. It is proper to say now that Judge FOWLER was the author of the series of letters signed "An American Jurist," which excited so much interest and were read by a large circle of thoughtful men and women.

NEW YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

In the polite request to the Executive Committee of the New York Historical Society, asking leave to present at the annual meeting on Tuesday a ticket which eliminates all of the present officers, the reform or "opposition" element of twenty-five members has not only cast to the winds the traditional conservatism of more than a century, but has still further recognized modern ideas by nominating two women. On the opposition ticket, which is headed by ERNEST K. SATTERLEE, whose grandfather was an honored member of the society, are the names of Mrs. EDWARD H. HARRIMAN for First Vice President and Mrs. FRANCIS BISHOP for Domestic Secretary. The name of GEORGE A. PLIMPTON is a source of strength for the new ticket. He is one of New York's noteworthy collectors, owning the finest collection of early printed educational books in the country. The regular ticket renominates JOHN ABEEL WEEKES, who has been President of the New York Historical Society for several years, and for other offices appear the names of WILLIAM CHURCH OSBORN, ARCHER M. HUNTINGTON, ARTHUR CURTISS JAMES, and STUYVESANT FISH.

Unlike the agitation aroused in the venerable society two years ago by Mrs. JOHN KING VAN RENSSELAER, who called the society either "dead or moribund," the present situation has its origin in the co-operative effort of a group of members who, in their circular for support, disclaim any desire to criticise the present officers, but who state that the new by-laws, adopted two years ago, virtually bar the members from any initiative in the activities of the society, the Executive Board being the controlling governors for three-year periods, with the result that, it is claimed, the actual management has to a large degree fallen into the hands of subordinates.

The ultimate aim of the opposition is to restore the society to its old-time standing as a recognized medium of usefulness in some of the elements of civic life apart merely from possessing valuable collections for historical research. With its commodious building on Central Park West, containing an excellent gallery of paintings, including one of the best collections of portraits of famous Americans by early artists; a large Egyptian collection, but too little known to the public, in addition to its extensive library and interesting memorials of old New York, there has for some years been a feeling on the part of many members that the society has not recognized its responsibility toward the city by taking a broader view of its opportunities for civic usefulness and the public good.

AS WE SEE OTHERS.

There is still a pleasure in hearing what distinguished foreigners say of us, though it is becoming a different pleasure. Time was when criticism made us feel humiliated or chastened and spiritually ennobled or borne aloft on the wings of pride, as the case might be. Latterly we have realized that, almost everything having already been said, the chief function of criticism is to reveal the soul of the critic. "If New York were as beautiful as its women," says MAURICE MAETERLINCK, "I should want to linger here forever." We had not hitherto suspected such resources of modish urbanity, such a mingling of frankness and felicity, in the soul of the Belgian mystic.

Let us set aside for the moment the compliment, though to do so requires a herculean effort of modesty. It is the polished thrust at the skyscraper that most pointedly fixes attention. Admittedly our city is not in itself surpassingly beautiful. But it does present a touchstone for divining the disposition of distinguished guests. Men of letters speak of it despitefully, almost without exception. But architects see in it a phenomenon that interests them hugely—a new style of construction that is possibly destined to become a world style, the characteristic expression of the age of steel. They envisage great possibilities of taming it to the spirit of beauty. Painters and etchers do more than this. They prowl about the waterfronts and rooftops, and they return with the materials for plate or canvas which the world recognizes as interesting and indeed enjoyable. Paris has a spacious and measured seemliness, and Vienna a touch of imperial splendor. Rome has its ancient sublimity. These are qualities quite impossible to any American city. New York is gigantically disordered, disproportioned; its central Avenue is, as ARNOLD BENNETT called it, a street of insistent cornices. But character the city has—and, for those who know it's moods, picturesqueness. One might hope that the ladies of Manhattan may prove so charming that M. MAETERLINCK will remain to discover this.

There is, however, a danger, and a great danger. A part of their charm is a superiority of spirit that eventuates in sheer domination. We have another distinguished visitor, who is so far from being a poet and mystic philosopher as to be a realist of vivid perceptions. "What do I think of American women?" exclaims BLASCO IBANEZ. "I do not think of them; I think of American men. For a century you endured the slavery of the negro. Then a great leader arose and emancipated the slave. If I were an American, it should be my aspiration to become the Abraham Lincoln of the American husband."

Among ourselves we may whisper that both of our critics are wrong. But to let them suspect our thought would scarcely be wise. Then all future visitors would know, when we meet them at the steamer with a question as to what they think of America, that we were only trying to find out what we are to think of them.

THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW.

In the opening today of New York's twentieth annual automobile show, one is impressed not so much by the wonderful progress of the horseless carriage within the first two decades of this century, but rather at the rapid readjustment of the motor-car industry from its extensive war work activities barely a year ago to its present condition of optimism. The exhibition is more complete than any former national automobile show in that passenger cars and commercial vehicles are displayed for the first time during the same week, each type in its separate building. In this respect the New Year show presents a convincing object-lesson of the wide field of efficiency and utility of the motor car.

The passenger cars, with their countless refinements in mechanical and body design, are less characteristic of luxury than of convenience. It is self-evident that, with more than 7,000,000 cars in this country at the close of 1919, the automobile long ago became indispensable to the American public, and figures show that the greatest increase in use during the last two years has been in the agricultural districts of the Middle West and the South. The motor trucks, represented by an output of seventy different factories, portray even more vividly the necessity of motor use for the country's needs. They have given an impetus, immensely stimulated by the war, to highway transportation which, under more normal conditions, would hardly have been possible for several years to come.

To provide good thoroughfares for proper transportation new bond issues and large appropriations have been authorized by more than half the States in the Union, and it is estimated that nearly one billion dollars, including the Federal Aid moneys, will be available for new projects this year, which means the ushering in of an era of highway construction such as has never before been seen in the United States.

By far the most encouraging as well as surprising fact illustrating the stability of the American motor-car industry is that during its first post-war year more cars were made than in any previous year. The year 1917 had held the record with a total of more than 1,868,000 cars, but the authorized figures just compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce show that 1919 exceeded this by a small margin, the total production being nearly 1,892,000 cars. Of these, 1,586,000 were passenger motor cars, about 200,000 short of the 1917 production, but the new record production was rendered possible by a greatly increased output of motor trucks, of which 1919 showed more than 300,000. Estimates for this year are for 2,250,000 passenger cars and 425,000 commercial vehicles.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Startling Decision Is Rendered.

No small part of the innumerable army of metropolitan tenants who sign leases without reading them are likely now at least to attempt perusal of those impressive documents. For the Appellate Term of the New York Supreme Court has just made a decision which, in reversing one made in the Municipal Court, has held, in effect, that if the terms of a lease give the landlord the power to turn out on five days' notice any tenant whom he considers "objectionable" that power can be exercised legally, and the tenant must go without even stopping to inquire in what respect or by what acts he has earned that unpleasant epithet.

Obviously, if this ruling should be sustained in those higher judicial circles where ultimate truth and fact are supposed to be controlling tenancy under such a lease is merely at the landlord's will, for the form of lease that was under the court's consideration not only allowed the dispossession of the "objectionable" tenant, but dispensed the landlord from justifying his objection, or even telling what it was. Indeed, the tenant's only offense might be that somebody else wanted his apartment and was willing to pay a higher price for it than was nominated in the existing bond.

It has long been common knowledge that leases were so drawn as to give the landlord all the rights and privileges he wants and to impose on the tenant all the duties and obligations the landlord can think of, but this particular extension of the landlord's authority must be of rather recent devising, and conscious acceptance of it by a tenant is hardly conceivable in other circumstances than when refusal to sign involves the alternative of letting the whole family sleep under a bridge or on an ill-guarded doorstep. But to many a worried metropolitan that alternative has been presented, since the population of the city outgrew its housing, and the wonder is, not that many tenants have signed leases that are not leases at all, but that even one of them has ventured to resist dispossession by any other means than that of paying whatever the landlord demanded.

Other Judges Are Yet to be Heard.

Of course, not all the arguments, even as to a lease that makes the landlord sole judge of its duration, are on the tenant's side. Conditions might arise in which, for the sake of other tenants, a landlord should have the power of immediate ejection, even though his evidence against the objectionable tenant was something less than would convict him—or her—of breaking the law. Such a power, however, is evidently one of such easy abuse that the occasional inconvenience of its absence would probably be less harmful than its wrongful exercise by greedy or unreasonable landlords.

But clearly one of these new leases is an "improvident contract," so far as the tenant is concerned, and though the courts sometimes enforce the keeping of such contracts, they view them with displeasure, as a rule, and have been known to void them as against public policy. On general principles, a tenant, if expelled from a house as "objectionable," would seem to have a justifiable grievance unless told the nature of the objection and permitted to make what defense he could.

Hence is there excuse for—well, for waiting till we hear what a still higher court has to say about this ruling before we hold as settled the landlord's right to make and enforce terms so extraordinary. "Objectionable" is a rather vague word, to be sure, but it is not supposable that landlords can extend its meaning to any length that suits their interest or caprice.

Substitutes Never Satisfactory.

Though the price of sugar is high and threatens to go higher, the promise of "something just as good" in the form of a syrup made of malt will excite neither confidence nor enthusiasm. It has been known for years and years, of course, to everybody with even the first glimmers of knowledge of chemistry that any starch can be turned into sugar. There is nothing incredible, therefore, in the announcement that sugar of a sort can be made by brewers out of the grains hitherto used in making beer, and that they are already doing it on a large scale. But the Germans, with all their skill as chemists and all the impulsion that was given by the war, did not discover one really satisfactory substitute for any of the common staples.

They had an "ersatz" for almost everything of which the allied embargo deprived them, but the best of these things were only tolerable, and the others shaded off toward the worse than worthlessness that marked not a few of the much-advertised triumphs. What American consumers want is the sugar they know, and it is not chemists, but experience and habit, that they trust to tell them what is just as good and what isn't.

A syrup derived from malt may have merits, but it will remain a substitute, to be accepted only under compulsion.

Reviving an Old Delusion.

Sheriff PETERS of Chicago holds opinions that were next to universal 200 or 300 years ago, here and in Europe. They lingered in a good many minds well into the nineteenth century, but they were supposed to have disappeared in this one. Because of this peculiarity the Sheriff, having occasion to hang a murderer yesterday, conducted the operation in the sight of some 200 criminals, selected as the worst men in the prison.

His expectation, it seems, was that the spectacle would give them an edifying realization of the consequences of crime and frighten them into a determination to keep within the law. It had no such effect so far as could be deduced from their behavior. Wakened at dawn, their one thought seemed to be breakfast, and after the drop fell there went up a loud shout, often repeated, "When do we eat?"

In memoirs not very old there is recorded the taking by respectable parents of little children to see men hanged or decapitated. The sight was expected to make them virtuous, or at any rate afraid to sin. Sheriff PETERS did not invite children to his lesson in ethics, but, in consistency, he should have done so. It would have been hardly more shocking than what he did and no more out of accord with the teachings of experience or the sentiment of this age.

FACTS ABOUT THE PARK.

Need of Full Knowledge of Plans of Designers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In today's issue of THE TIMES L. D. Cox of the New York State College of Forestry points unerringly to the fundamental cause of the deterioration of Central Park, "the lack of continued expert oversight." In 1911, at the request of the then Park Commissioner, the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States sent experts to examine and report on the condition of the soil of the Park. Following their recommendations, the Board of Estimate appropriated $150,000. Fifty thousand of this sum was expended, the public deprived of the use of many acres of ground for two years, all to absolutely no avail, and solely because of the "lack of continued expert oversight." Mr. Gallatin, the present Commissioner, is planning to ventilate the soil by means of explosives. His plan, irrespective of its merits, is doomed to the same failure and for exactly the same reason.

Mr. Cox states with equal clearness: "The Park must be continued under the guidance of an artist similar to the one who originally created it if it is to be kept permanently as excellent as originally planned." Mr. Olmsted, who with Mr. Vaux created the Park, said, referring to the same lack of expert guidance: "I cannot see, although it is so apparent to some few friends of the Park, what is to be gained by saying to some one man, 'Go work your own sweet way there until we find we have had enough of you,' making no official provision for watching against that man's personal hobbies and freaks, ambitions and weaknesses."

Yet such is the all prevailing tradition of the Park management of this City of New York today. The great powers held by the Park Commissioner are such that nothing can protect the parks against his personal freaks, ambitions, and weaknesses except a perfected codification of all the facts of design and intention shown in the Park plans and records, such as will reveal at a glance the inconsistencies and improprieties of his hobbies and freaks where they exist. Nay, even the best-intentioned Commissioner is liable to go as far wrong as the worst intentioned, unless such information be available; and this information is not now available to the Park Commissioner. It does not exist in the department, yet it is to be had.

It was the custom of the original Park Board to ask of Olmsted and Vaux written opinions with respect to all suggestions made for the supposed benefit of the Park. These written opinions contain a wealth of information, explaining in detail the original description and plan of the design. Definite information is to be had with respect to Central Park in the reports which these same architects made in their planning of other parks. Professor Sargent of Boston would doubtless be willing to give invaluable aid. The writings of Mr. Stijes, editor of Garden and Forest, are available; Mr. Parsons, who for so many years was under the direct tutelage of Mr. Vaux, has a wealth of information. Mr. Olmsted, the son of one of the original designers, has many valuable documents. Mr. Vaux, son of Mr. Olmsted's coadjutor, has furnished me personally with many valuable papers left by his father. Mrs. Hendrickson, the daughter of Mr. Vaux, once explained to me the intentions of her father, by which I was enabled to point out through your columns the easily remedied but serious defect of the design of the Gapstow Bridge. Only lately I found valuable information in respect to Central Park in a report by Mr. Olmsted for the Mount Royal Park at Montreal, and personal correspondence between Mr. Olmsted and Mr. Vaux while the former was in California sheds needed light on the subject. Mr. Olmsted, on his way to California, passed through the Isthmus of Panama, and, stimulated by what he saw there, wrote to Mr. Pilat, one of his able assistants in making the Park. The letter clearly shows that the Park was the result of many minds working, each in its own way, to produce beneficent results. A public appeal would probably unearth much that is known to individuals least suspected of such knowledge.

I have repeatedly urged the necessity of codifying, indexing, and arranging all this valuable information, and have invariably met with the response that no funds were available. Yet millions of dollars are spent and the Park goes from bad to worse.

May I give specific evidence of the pernicious working of this lack of continued expert oversight? An extensive open view was obtained by the makers of the Park, at great expense, across the Sixty-fifth Street transverse road. When Mr. Tweed's lieutenants superseded Messrs. Olmsted and Vaux, trees were planted which would destroy the view. On the return to office of Messrs. Olmsted and Vaux the trees were removed. Some few years later the obstructing trees were replanted. Commissioner Ward, when his attention was called to this fact, again removed the trees; today they are there, needing only time to destroy once more the view. Yet (I quote verbatim the creators of the Park), "the carrying out of this most important purpose in the scenery of Central Park, owing to the rocky and heterogeneous character of the surface, involved much more labor and a larger expenditure than any other landscape feature of that undertaking."

I have referred to the fact that even the best intentioned Commissioner is liable to go as far wrong as the worst intentioned unless such information be available. Lying before me is a letter from the present Commissioner dated Aug. 30, 1919, in which he very courteously thanks me for "giving him permission" to copy Official Document No. 55, which a search of the records of his office had failed to disclose. This document was dated Jan. 7, 1874, and contained invaluable information with respect to one of the most important problems of the Park, that problem being actively before the Commissioner at the present moment.

Of course no codification of principles can prevent a malicious Commissioner from accelerating the work of destruction, but a Commissioner who honorably endeavors to preserve the Park can by such codification be given that aid without which the Park is inevitably doomed to continual deterioration.

CONDEMN GREEK ACTIVITIES IN ANATOLIA.

Findings of International Commission on How Entente Representatives Were Ignored and Brutalities Practiced—Turkish Officials Exonerated.

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 1.—On Nov. 28 I cabled to THE TIMES accounts of Greek activities in Anatolia. At that time I was unable to mention the source of my information. I may now do so. The information was obtained from the findings of an international military commission composed of Admiral Mark Bristol, United States Navy, and Generals representing England, France, and Italy. Their report was unanimous after forty sessions. I am able to give herewith some verbatim excerpts from this report, as follows:

"1. Since the armistice the safety of the Christians in the Vilayet of Aidin has not been interfered with. * * * Since the entering upon his duties of the present Governor, Isset Bey, all the inhabitants, without race distinction, were treated with impartiality. * * * Fears of massacres of Christians were not justified. Investigations have proved that the proclamations calling the Moslems to a massacre of the Greeks, which fell into the hands of the Greek authorities a few weeks before the landing, and which were sent to Athens, were not written by the Turkish gendarmerie officers whose signatures were attached to the proclamation. Those documents are certainly not authentic.

"The conditions of security in the Vilayet of Aidin, and at Smyrna in particular, did not justify the occupation of the Smyrna forts in accordance with Article VII. of the armistice conditions.

"The internal conditions in the Vilayet did not call for the landing of allied troops at Smyrna. On the contrary, since the Greek landing the situation has been disturbed because of the state of war existing between the Greek troops and the Turkish irregulars.

"* * * No resistance to the landing was organized by the Turkish authorities; the shots fired by the Turks were only isolated cases. * * * On the road which they [the Greeks] traversed between the Konak Square and the transport Patris, where they were imprisoned, the first convoy of prisoners, including officers and soldiers as well as the Vali and other officials, were made the objects of acts of brutality by the crowd which accompanied them, and even by some of the Greek soldiers who were escorting them. All of the prisoners were robbed. All of them were forced to shout, "Zito Venizelos!" and to march with hands raised. With one or two exceptions, the Greek officers showed no effort to restrain their men. During May 15 and 16 Greek troops arbitrarily arrested 2,500 persons, including children under 16 years of age. * * * * There were numerous acts of violence and pillage. Numerous women were violated. Some assassinations were committed. While most of these acts were committed by civilian Greeks, the soldiers took part in them, and the military authorities were slow in taking action to put a stop to them. * * *

"The Colonel in command of the Greek occupation forces on May 21 received a telegram from Venizelos at Paris ordering the extension of Greek occupation.

"The High Commissioner of the Greek Government, who arrived at Smyrna on May 21, contrary to the telegram received that day, on May 23 gave orders for:

"(a) The occupation of Aidin.

"A large number of Turks, men, women, and children, who tried to escape from the quarter that was burning (at Aidin) were killed without cause by the Greek soldiers. * * * The Greeks evacuated the city on the night of June 29 after having committed numerous crimes and acts of brutality. * * * The reoccupation of Aidin was ordered by the Greek Commander in Chief in spite of the strict orders to the contrary of the Entente representative. The Greek authorities acted in conformity with the formal orders sent from Paris by Venizelos on July 2. This order did not permit any intervention by the Entente representative in this connection. * * *

"Losses resulting from conflict between Greeks and Turks in the Meander Valley are estimated at $33,000 000 by fires at Aidin and $6,000,000 by damage to crops."

Among the recommendations of the Committee of Inquiry are:

"(a) To replace as soon as possible all or part of the Greek troops by allied troops, much less in number. (Note by C. H. G.: The Greek forces number 72,000, five divisions.)

"(b) If, in order to safeguard Greek self-respect, it is decided that a part of the Greek troops may co-operate in the occupation, these should be prevented from coming into direct contact with the Turkish national forces.

"It is the duty of the commission to observe that the Turkish national sentiment, which has already manifested its resistance thereto, will never accept this annexation. Nor will it ever peacefully submit before a military expedition which Greece alone could not carry out with any chance of success."

The report of the commission is unanimous, and is signed by:

Admiral Mark L. Bristol, Delegate for the United States.
General Hare, for Great Britain.

RADICAL FINNS AND OTHERS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

According to newspaper accounts, Miss Meta Rumel, a witness before the Lusk Committee, has testified that there are 300,000 Finns in America who are members of the I. W. W., and whose object is to create disturbances in the community life of America and to strive to bring about the crushing of the present form of organized government.

Among the Finnish Americans the most radical elements have attracted the most attention and for that reason the understanding is quite prevalent among Americans in general that the Finns in America are as a rule radicals, and even anarchists. This, however, is a great error. The radical Finns are quite active and make a lot of noise about themselves, but actually they form a comparatively small part of the Finnish Americans.

According to figures compiled as accurately as is possible, it has been estimated that there are 400,000 Finns in all in America, including those born in America, children and adults. The number of Finns living in Canada is probably 50,000. On the basis of these facts alone, it is absolutely impossible that there could be 300,000 Finnish I. W. W., even if every adult Finn in America were included as a member of that group. The children surely are considered to be outside of all factions.

Furthermore, the Finns in America have extensive religious associations in which the adult membership reaches about 60,000 persons. In addition to these there are about 25,000 Finnish members in other societies which are not socialistic. The Socialist Party has 227 local societies, with a total membership of 10,884 among the Finns in America. There are fewer local societies of the I. W. W., and their total membership is not more than 5,000, probably only 3,000.

These figures show not only the fact that the Finnish Reds in America who belong to the I. W. W., or support its ideas, cannot amount to 300,000, but also that the supporters of these ideas are a small minority among the Finnish Americans.

There are 29 newspapers printed in the Finnish language in America; of these eight are socialistic. Only one paper, the "Industrialisti," announces itself as the organ of the I. W. W. among the Finns. It must be admitted that the other Finnish Socialist newspapers also use language which is very agitative, but they have, however, announced themselves as being more or less hostile to the I. W. W.

The Finnish non-socialistic newspapers, which form the great majority, are all loyal papers and in no respect revolutionary.

The Finns in America are quite scattered. They long for association and if some one in the community happens to start a society, which may be socialistic or I. W. W., there will be many to join this sort of society who do not care about its aims, but who join it merely because they are alone and desire association with those who speak the same language.

As is known the Bolshevist question has been decided in Finland sooner than in any other country. On account of the proximity to Petrograd a Bolshevist revolution was staged in Finland quite early, which, however, was crushed, for the greater part of the people of Finland took up arms against Bolshevism. Among the 200 members in the Finnish Parliament, there are eighty Socialists even now, but no Bolshevism in its early form is to be found. Conditions in the Republic of Finland are orderly and the Government functions with full authority. The life and property of every citizen is protected, and the teachings of Lenin have no support there.

Yeomen (Female) Also Need Jobs.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Would it be asking too much of you to give a little publicity to the fact that the Navy Department is constantly releasing the former yeomen (female) who find themselves in the same predicament as some members of the A. E. F., wanting a job?

There is no employer so exacting as Uncle Sam, so you readily understand whoever is in need of bookkeepers, typists, switchboard operators, and clerks will be getting the best help possible. Miss ROSE LEDWITH,
Vice President Dolly Madison Post 115, American Legion, 509 East Seventy-seventh Street.

HOURS OF WOMEN WORKERS

Opposition to Mrs. Kelley's Effort for New State Laws.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In this morning's issue a letter from Florence Kelley, General Secretary, National Women's League, states that the cause of strikes in so-called women's industries—milliners, waist makers, white goods makers, flower and feather makers, &c.—during the last year was the fact that the 1919 Legislature did not enact into law the minimum wage law for women and the eight-hour factory law for women.

Mrs. Kelley does not tell the whole truth. The strikes in the occupations mentioned by her were not for a forty-eight-hour week or for a minimum wage of $16.50. These women were striking for a forty-four-hour week and in some cases for a forty-hour week. They made a wage demand ranging from $30 to $65 a week.

It is doubtless true that the strike in the millinery trade was due to the present fifty-four-hour law for women in this State, as millinery is a highly seasonal occupation. The women formerly worked much overtime in the busy season, and made enough money to live on during the slack season. Being now forbidden by law to work more than nine hours in a day, they find it necessary to strike for an increase in wages, which will enable them to save for the slack period. Any woman who has bought hats recently knows that the prices of the milliners' efforts have soared skyward.

Mrs. Kelley refers to the District of Columbia minimum wage of $16.50, recently awarded. There isn't a girl in any of the occupations she mentioned who makes less than $30 a week.

The want advertisement pages of THE NEW YORK TIMES, if scanned daily, will prove that the eight-hour day, even the forty-four-hour week, and the five-day week are common practices in New York City and environs. As Greater New York contains more than three-quarters of all the factories in the State, and the shorter work day is so firmly established here, as proved by the want advertisements in all the morning papers, a law making it a crime to employ any woman more than five minutes after eight hours is nothing short of an absurdity, in addition to being a grave menace to women in professional occupations whose work cannot be standardized.

As for the minimum wage: Although applied to both men and women in England and Australia, it has never proved satisfactory. It kills initiative, causes the discharge of those who cannot keep up to a certain pace, and kills all effort toward advancement, making the worker nothing but a machine. Under no circumstances has the minimum wage proved a preventive of strikes, even that minimum wage which is set by a labor union.

TO ASK POLICE AID IN TAKING CENSUS

Enumerators Have Difficulty with Foreign Population in First Day of Count.

PURPOSE NOT UNDERSTOOD

Proclamation by President Wilson, Printed in Fourteen Languages, Is Distributed.

Difficulties encountered with the foreign population during the first day's enumeration of the fourteenth decennial Federal census will lead to an appeal today to the police for co-operation. Particularly in the Italian district did the census takers in Manhattan report that doors had been slammed in their faces, that excited women, entirely ignorant of the visitors' mission, had demanded that they wait until "the man" came home, and that many persons were unable to speak enough English to answer the simple questions.

In many smaller cities the police have volunteered their aid, and Supervisor Samuel Foley of the Manhattan district expected no difficulty in having some of his enumerators here accompanied hereafter on their rounds by the uniformed majesty of the law. At the same time a corps of Italian interpreters will be sent into the districts where there was trouble so there may be no delay in the work.

An effort was made last night to have all the foreign language newspapers in the city call the census taking and make their readers understand that it is purely for the purpose of compiling abstract statistical information, that the answers to questions are secret and can be used against no person, and that under the Federal law it is obligatory to reply to them truthfully. A proclamation in behalf of the census, issued by President Wilson, reached the city yesterday printed separately in fourteen languages.

Proclamation Is Circulated.

These were distributed throughout the five boroughs and each of the papers published in an alien tongue is to be asked to print the appropriate one.

The proclamation set forth that the census is necessary to determine the representation of the several States in the House of Representatives and that it has nothing to do with taxation, military or jury service, school attendance, immigration or the enforcement of any law. No information, it is stated, will be disclosed regarding any person or his affairs and the purpose is solely to obtain statistical information. Any person refusing to answer questions on the census schedule is subject to a penalty.

The progress of the census on the first day will not be known exactly until today, when the initial reports of the enumerators and inspectors have been examined at the offices of the four district supervisors. It was learned last night, however, that there was a shortage of nearly 17 per cent. in the number of enumerators who reported for duty in Manhattan. Only about 1,250 started on their rounds, instead of the 1,500 who had accepted appointments. Since the law requires that the enumeration be completed within fifteen days, appointments were rushed at once to those lower on the competitive lists than the first appointees and hope was expressed that a full quota would be at work in a day or two. There is some shortage of competent negro enumerators.

Nearly all the enumerators were on hand in Brooklyn and Queens and despite the intense cold the "nose counting" went forward steadily. Arthur G. Dore, Brooklyn supervisor, appealed for co-operation of every man, woman, and child, predicting once more that a complete count will show that Brooklyn at last leads Manhattan in population. Mr. Dore also has charge of Staten Island, and his combined count is expected to be the biggest of any one district in the country.

Rodman R. Madison, Queens supervisor, predicted that the population of that borough would prove to be between 600,000 and 700,000, as compared with slightly more than 500,000 ten years ago.

Work in Queens Hampered.

Owing to a shortage of supplies only 165 of the 270 enumerators in Queens could start yesterday. Mr. Richardson hoped to have them all at work today.

The first day's work in the Bronx proceeded smoothly. William D. Fischer, supervisor there, had made use of public school children with the co-operation of the teachers in spreading the gospel of the census, and the enumerators who called at the homes found a general understanding of their purpose and their authority.

Bachelors to Give Supper Dances.

A series of supper dances for home charities, popular in ante-bellum days, will be resumed this season, under the auspices of The Bachelors, at the Hotel Vanderbilt. The first will be held on Jan. 9. The other dates announced are Jan. 16 and 23. Alfonso de Navarro of 30 Broad Street is the Treasurer, and the committee in charge is made up of Richard Peters, Horace C. Stebbins, Hamilton Fish, Jr., William W. Hoffman, William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., Maurice Roche, Mr. de Navarro, Thornton Wilson, Schuyler Parsons, and Whitney Warren, Jr.

Marquis of Blandford Weds Feb. 17.

The wedding of the Hon. Mary Cadogan and the Marquis of Blandford, son of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, the latter formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, is to take place on Tuesday, Feb. 17, in London. The ceremony is to be performed in St. Margaret's Church. It is not known at present whether any of the relatives of the Duchess in this city will be in London for the wedding.

Blind Children Entertain.

Eighteen blind children from 4 to 12 years old sang, danced, and played various musical instruments at a reception given by the Sunshine Society, of which they are protégés, to 150 women's club Presidents at the Hotel Astor yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Harry Lilly, President of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an address. Some of the children's hand work was exhibited.

Reception for Jan G. Masaryk.

A reception for Jan Garrigue Masaryk, Czechoslovak Chargé d'Affaires in Washington, will be held on Tuesday evening, Jan. 6, at 9 o'clock, in the Rose Room at the Hotel Plaza. During the evening a program of Czechoslovak music will be given by artists of the Prague and Chicago Opera Houses.

SIR F. C. LASCELLES DIES.

Ex-British Ambassador to Germany Had Long Diplomatic Career.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Sir Frank Cavendish Lascelles, British Ambassador to Germany from 1895 to 1908, died here today. He had held many posts in the diplomatic service, serving as Minister to Rumania in 1886 and to Persia in 1891, and as Ambassador to Russia in 1894. He was born on March 23, 1841.

His career in the diplomatic service was an exceptionally long one, dating back to 1831, when he went to Madrid as an attaché. For several years he gained experience in minor capacities in most of the large capitals of the world, including Rome, Paris, Berlin and Washington. In 1879 he went to Bulgaria as agent and Consul General, and in that difficult position displayed such ability that in 1886 he was awarded a K. C. M. G., and promoted to the position of Minister at Bucharest.

Paul Adam, Novelist Dies in Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Paul Adam, the novelist, died today. He was born in Paris on Dec. 7, 1862, and was an officer of the Legion of Honor.

Among the works of M. Adam was a series of novels in sequence, giving a history of the campaigns of Napoleon, the Restoration, and the government of Louis Philippe, the first of which, "La Force," was published in 1899. His novel "Stephanie," published in 1913, was a forceful plea for marriages arranged by parents as against those resulting purely from a romantic attachment.

Elmer E. Rittenhouse.

Elmer E. Rittenhouse, Assistant Secretary of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, died at 1:30 yesterday morning in the Mountainside Hospital, Glen Ridge, N. J., of blood poisoning caused by an infected tooth. He was 58 years old and lived at 22 Prospect Terrace, Montclair.

As a young man Mr. Rittenhouse worked as a telegraph operator and became Superintendent of the telegraph system of the Colorado Midland Railway. In 1898 he went to Korea to build railroads and did not return until 1902, when he entered upon three years of editorship of The Daily Telegraph of Colorado Springs. His appointment as Deputy Commissioner of Insurance of Colorado followed.

In 1907 he was elected President of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society, resigning in 1911 to become Conservation Commissioner of the Equitable. During 1914 and 1915 he was active in the formation of the Life Extension Institute, of which he was a Director.

DANCES FOR DEBUTANTES.

Misses Eva C. Stewart and Helen Bull Introduced.

A number of dances for young people were the chief feature of the society last evening. Mrs. Percy Hamilton Stewart of 907 Park Avenue gave a dance to introduce her daughter, Miss Eva Cochran Stewart, in the large ballroom of the Ritz-Carlton, which was attended by between 300 and 400 young people, a supper being served before 1 o'clock. Mrs. Stewart and her daughter received alone, and among the débutantes present were the Misses Lowrie Sage, Eunice James, Muriel Vanderbilt, Constance Jennings, Katherine Van Ingen, Audrey Riker, Sara Larkin, Millicent Rogers, Grace Vanderbilt, Margaret Krech and Barbara and Florence Loew.

Miss Helen Bull, a granddaughter of Mrs. William Lanman Bull, made her début at a dance which her sister, Mrs. Edward W. Clucas, gave for her in the Sherry Apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria. It was preceded by a dinner which her father, Frederic Bull, gave for her at the Ritz-Carlton, and another by Mrs. Gustave E. Kissel. There were 250 guests for the dance, and among the débutantes were the Misses Louise V. Schieffelin, Marian Carroll, René Carhart, Elise Hughes, Edith Sinedberg, Katharine Sharpe, Helen Johnson, Katharine Bliss and Henrietta English of New Haven.

Mrs. Samuel G. Gant of 471 Park Avenue entertained at the St. Regis with a dance for her daughter, Miss Lucy Barret Gant. Receiving with Miss Gant were Miss Dorothy Vu Wie and her cousin, Miss Sophie Stites. Some 200 guests attended the dance, among those accepting being the Misses Ada Heinze, Laura Mabon, Katherine Knapp, Helen Gould and Charlotte Phillips.

Clarence H. Mackay entertained at his town house, 834 Fifth Avenue, with a small and informal dinner dance for his second daughter, Miss Ellin Mackay. The guests were all girls still at school and the younger college and other boys. There were about 100 guests.

Miss Winchester to Wed Today.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Tarleton Winchester, a daughter of Mrs. Tarleton Winchester of 940 Park Avenue, to Robert Porter Patterson, will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the chantry of St. Thomas's Church, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street.

ENGAGEMENTS.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland F. Griggs of 154 East Seventieth Street, New York, and Ardsley-on-Hudson, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Maitland Lee Griggs, to Francis King Murray, a son of Professor Augustus T. Murray and Mrs. Murray of Palo Alto, Cal. Miss Griggs was graduated from Westover, and has not made her début in society, as she left Bryn Mawr last year to engage in war work. Mr. Murray was graduated from Stanford University and has recently returned from France, where he served with the 40th Engineers, U. S. A. He is a brother of Lindley Murray, a tennis champion.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Dudgeon of 969 Park Avenue, this city, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen L. Dudgeon, to Marion Whitney Lee, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Lee of 24 Gramercy Park, and a Harvard man. Miss Dudgeon is a member of the Junior League, and was active in Red Cross work during the war. Mr. Lee was a naval lieutenant and saw service on the Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roome Parmele of 102 Hamilton Avenue, New Brighton, S. I., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emilie Frances Parmele, to Frank Thorpe Kettle of Hollis, L. I. Mr. Kettle is a brother of Mrs. Henry Butler Parmelee, whose husband is a brother of Miss Parmele. Miss Parmele is the Executive Secretary of the Red Cross of Staten Island.

EX-PRESIDENT FENG OF CHINA IS DEAD

WON FAME AS GENERAL

PEKING, Tuesday, Dec. 30 (Associated Press).—Former President Feng Kuo-chang of China died here today.

In a circular telegram issued from his deathbed to warring Governors he urged cessation of civil strife and reconciliation between the factions of the North and South.

Feng Kuo-chang, who was about 60 years old, came into prominence chiefly through his military abilities. Educated at the military college at Tientsin, he was one of the able assistants of the late President Yuan Shih-kai in modernizing the Chinese Army. The year 1906 saw him appointed Director of the Military Council in the Board of War, and in 1909 he became head of the General Staff.

When the revolution against the Manchu Dynasty began, in 1911, General Feng was in command of the Imperial Army at Wuchang, and he recaptured Hanyang from the rebels, bringing into play his superior tactical skill in gaining this vital point for the Government. He was made a Baron of the Second Class for the victory, and later recalled to Peking and put in command of the Imperial Guard, a transfer that was considered a high promotion.

On the establishment of the republic he was appointed Chief of the President's Military Council. He was active in the suppressing of a second revolution, in 1913, and the following year obtained the rank of Field Marshal.

After the death of Yuan-Shih-kai, General Feng was elected Vice President of the republic upon the assumption of the office of President by General Li Yuan-hung, the then Vice President. On General Li's resignation of his office, in 1917, Feng Kuo-chang became Acting President, and retained the office until the regular election of Shu Shi-chang, in September, 1918.

When the Chinese Cabinet declared war on Germany and Austria in August, 1917, President Feng approved its decision.

Judge J. Warrant Castleman.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Jan. 2.—Special County Judge J. Warrant Castleman died Thursday in the Hahnemann Hospital after a brief illness of blood poisoning. He was infected on Christmas Day when he caught his finger while closing the door of a taxicab. He presided over the Children's Court, and had established a clinic in connection with it. All children brought before him were given a mental, physical, and genealogical examination.

Edward W. Bailey, Grain Operator.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Edward W. Bailey, a member of the Board of Trade since July, 1870, died suddenly today, aged 77 years. Mr. Bailey was known in all leading grain markets of the country, making his start in Vermont and coming West in 1871.

His operations were large and highly successful. In 1893, during the panic, he was forced to suspend through the failure of John Cudahy. Fourteen years afterward, in 1907, he paid out over 125,000 with interest at 6 per cent. to all creditors, although not obliged to pay a cent. He regarded it as a moral obligation.

Rev. Dr. Daniel Hoffman Martin.

A. D. MCMXX

WHAT IS IT?

1. A. D. 1920. Another anniversary of the birth of that Prophet of Galilee whointernationalized Moses; Whose disciples have printed the Old Testament in every language of the world; Whose life created the New, the World's best-seller, bound with the Old, among all books; and who, sceptreless, founded the Kingdom of Affection, Homage, and Obedience whose frontier is including the whole human race. Civilization has derived its rules of equity from the spiritual statutes of a King whose crown was of thorns. The centuries have not revised Him; the world's highest spiritual and social philosophy, endowed by Him, yet borrows from Him; and all realms recognize His right to rule by dating their records from the advent of the Race's First Citizen—its Saviour, its King.

2. The Three Hundredth Anniversary of the Landing of the Pilgrims, bearing in their hearts Christ's ideals of liberty and duty, and in their hands the Book from which more light was yet to break.

3. The One Hundred and Thirtieth Anniversary of the first census of the American Republic, the first census in the race's history to be built on belief in the worth of the individual, and of his rights to personal participation by proportional representation in the law-making of the land.

4. The One Hundredth Anniversary of the statute which compels the inspection and registration of every new immigrant into the domain of the Republic. In 1910, the foreign-born in New York City were over half of the whole population of the United States at the time of its first census. The law was passed not only to protect the Republic, but to secure the immigrants' safe transportation in the sailships of the time—another application of the protection of Christianized law to personality.

5. The One Hundredth Anniversary of the commencement of New York's upward climb to primacy among the cities of the world. From 1810 to 1820, New York City did not grow as rapidly as the nation at large, but from 1820, onward, it increased until in 1910 5.18 per cent. of the whole nation's population were lodged within its borders.

6. The Seventieth Anniversary of the first census enumeration of the foreign-born in the United States. Sixty-five and three-tenths per cent. of them were then within the area of the Thirteen States that formed the Republic; in 1900, 48.6 per cent.; in 1910, 51.7 per cent.; in New York City, 14.4 per cent.

7. The Fortieth Anniversary of the first enumeration of the parentage of the foreign-born in the United States

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO HOCKEY TEAM SKATES RINGS AROUND THE SEXTET FROM PRINCETON

TORONTO CRUSHES TIGERS AT HOCKEY

VICTORS PLAY GREAT GAME

Speed and Stickwork of Canadians Baffle Opponents Utterly Despite Sturdy Rallies.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 2.—The University of Toronto hockey team, with a new lineup save for the veteran Devoe, played rings around the Princeton 'Varsity at the Pavilion this evening. The Canadians won by eleven goals to none, counting six times in the first twenty-minute period, three times in the second, and then being satisfied with two goals in the third.

Greater speed and stick work far superior to that of the Tigers made the going easy for the players from across the border. Princeton had several flashes and there were times when the Toronto netkeeper was busy. However, most of the Tiger shots either were made from a distance or were hurried. The Toronto wings followed back with remarkable speed and generally outwitted the Jersey collegians.

Maxwell, the Princeton goal, made some splendid stops, being fairly peppered in the second period. Cook, Corcoran, and Tiery of Princeton worked their way up the ice often, but with no effective result. The Tigers made the mistake of running for resubstitutions. This just suited the Canadians, who kept shifting their wings and centre and thereby held continual speed.

Carson Makes rGeat Showing.

Carson, the Toronto center, played some whirlwind hockey. He made four of the goals and combined in some of the others. Ramsey and Westman also did some great dribbling. When these fellows got going the puck seemed glued to their sticks. The Canadians will play Harvard tomorrow night, probably a shorter game, but with no resubstituting.

The Princeton team played its defense too far out, and both Bell and Haight were passed time and again, thereby providing open shots.

The Canadians scored six goals in the opening period, by good individual play as well as by some very clever combining. For nearly five minutes the Tigers kept the puck down at Toronto's end of the rink most of the time, but when the Maple Leaf players got started there was nothing to it.

After six minutes Sullivan, the Toronto veteran, broke down the middle of the rink, and just as Captain Haight of Princeton checked him he shot to the corner of the cage. Maxwell made a pretty stop, but could not clear the puck away before Carson flashed through and drove the disk into the cage. A little more than a minute later Carson made another goal, unaided, on a wicked shot, following a long race up the ice.

After this the Tigers came back, forcing the play continually, but being unable to do any very accurate shooting when at the Toronto end of the rink.

Midway through the period Toronto got under way again. Smythe, at centre for Carson, got the third goal, after taking a pass to the boards from Defoe, and soon afterward Smythe wound up a pretty rush by passing over to Ramsey, who counted on an open shot. Smythe then got the fifth goal on one of the prettiest shots of the match, a high lift sent between the two Tiger defense men, who were not quick enough to check him.

The Canadians scored on the first play in the second period. From the face-off Defoe, who first received the puck, passed quickly to Olson, whose shot from the left boards caught Maxwell off guard for the corner of his cage. Soon after Ramsey swept up the side and pipped the puck past the Tiger cageman.

Princeton in Hard Offensive.

The score was now 8 to 0, but with a generous sprinkling of substitutes Princeton again forced the going. Cook and Tiery both had chances for clean shots, but delayed too long, and then were hurried. Princeton was now playing its entire team on attack, trying for a goal, and Langtry had a busy time at the Toronto cage. He had five stops in less than two minutes. It was in the midst of one of these Princeton rallies that Ramsey picked up the puck midrink and had a clear field. He skated slowly and "foxed" Maxwell prettily at the goal.

The teams went into the third period pretty tired, but the Canadians soon picked up speed. Shortly after the start Westman caged Toronto's tenth goal, aided by a "break" when, after Bell had blocked a swift shot, the puck caromed into the net. From the next face-off Olson broke away and through Princeton's defense, counting on a line shot when six feet from the cage. This was the windup.

The lineup and summary:

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO (11).		PRINCETON (0).
Langtry	G.	Maxwell
Evans	P.	Bell
Westman	C. P.	Haight
Olson	L. W.	Corcoran
Carson	C.	Tiery
Sullivan	R. W.	Cook

Substitutions—Toronto: Defoe for Sullivan, Smythe for Carson, Ramsey for Evans, Sullivan for Smythe, Evans for Defoe; Princeton: Ehret for Cook, Knox for Tiery, Keyes for Corcoran, Raleigh for Keyes, Corcoran for Tiery, Merritt for Bell, Welsh for Corcoran, Wood to Ehret, McIhee for Maxwell.

HOCKEY VICTORY FOR YALE.

Ellis Defeat St. Michael's College Alumni in Toronto, 3 to 2.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 2.—Flushed with its recent victory at Brockville, the Yale hockey team made its Toronto debut tonight against St. Michael's College alumni and was returned the winner, 3 to 2. Considerable interest was manifested in the Americans and Smith, on the defense, easily carried off the honors for the visitors. He blocked exceptionally well and scored two of the three goals credited to Yale.

St. Michael's trotted out Jerry Laflamme and Tex White on the defense, with Jack Spratt, McCamus and Vic Dunn doing the bulk of the offensive work. Combination was a minus quantity, and each man dug away for himself until the middle of the second period, when the Saints woke up to the fact that they would have to pull together if the two-goal lead of the American boys was to be pulled down. White scored one goal and made many brilliant rushes, but missed many opportunities by his failure to pass the puck. Laflamme did not take the game very seriously until the last period, when he uncorked some of his old speed and was all over the ice.

Yale, at home, plays on an open-air rink, and was at a disadvantage on the Arena ice area. The team breaks quickly with the puck, but slows up when carrying it, and is rather weak in shooting. Smith, the right defense man, was easily the best, and slipped around the redoubtable Laflamme in handy fashion for both of his goals.

The lineup:

YALE (3).		ST. MICHAEL'S (2).
Walker	G.	Moore
Smith	P.	Laflamme
Willson	C. P.	White
Ingals	C.	Spratt
Carson	R. W.	Dunn
Lawrence	L. W.	McCamus

Some Important Matches to be Held at Van Cortlandt Park.

The Grand National Curling Club of America has announced its list of national medal matches for 1920. The Utica Cup Match, one of the feature events of the season in this vicinity, is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 8, at Van Cortlandt Park. The Utica Cup is given by the Utica Curling Club for the encouragement of curling in the vicinity of New York. For the purpose of carrying out that intention the Grand National Club, in addition to affiliated clubs, invites entries from clubs devoted to outdoor sports. These entries may be made up to 10 A. M. on the day of the match. Some other matches also are planned for Van Cortlandt Park.

The rules governing the match for the W. Fred Allen Memorial Medal, presented by the Utica Curling Club and other curling friends, September, 1911, is that this medal shall be played for annually at Utica, N. Y. One rink only from each affiliated club shall be entitled to compete in this match, and the skip of the winning rink shall hold this medal for one year or until played for. Competing rinks will be paired by numbered ballots, and no rink is to be entitled to more than one bye in the match. Each game shall consist of 17 heads.

The schedule of matches for the season is as follows:

North vs. South of Scotland Match—For Dalrymple Medal and other trophies, at Van Cortlandt Park, Saturday, Jan. 3, 1 P. M. Alexander Fraser, umpire. Managing Committee—A. Gillies, James Whyte, T. Archibald. Directors—For the North: Daniel McKaskill; for the South: Robert Lauder.

Champion Rink Match—For Gordon Medal, at Schenectady, Monday, Feb. 9. F. G. Vaughen, umpire. Souvenir medals to the winning rink.

Champion Club Match—For Mitchell Medal, at Utica, Tuesday, Feb. 10. A. H. Munson, umpire.

W. Fred Allen Memorial Medal Match—At Utica, following finish of Mitchell Medal match. N. R. Gurley, umpire.

Scots vs. Other Nationalities — Wherever played, Jan. 11 to Feb. 22. Scores to be sent to Grand National Secretary by Feb. 26.

Scots vs. Americans—For the John Patterson Medal, at Van Cortlandt Park, Saturday, Jan. 24, at 1 P. M. William H. Smith, umpire.

Utica Cup Match—Van Cortlandt Park, Thursday, Jan. 8, 10 A. M. H. A. Gittin, umpire. This match is open to clubs other than curling clubs in the vicinity of New York devoted to outdoor sports.

COMING EAST FOR REGATTA.

Pacific Coast Will Be Represented in Races at Poughkeepsie.

Incidental to the interest shown all over the country in the inter-sectional competition between Harvard and Oregon in yesterday's football game at Pasadena, is the assurance that at least one Far Western college will be represented in the big rowing classic next June at Poughkeepsie. Of the three Pacific Coast universities where rowing is firmly established—Washington, California, and Leland Stanford—two managements are highly favorable to sending one or more crews to the East. The condition of rowing affairs at Stanford, however, is such that nothing definite is known at this time.

Although the coast crews have their own rowing interest in the Pacific Coast regatta, which has been set for May 1 on the Oakland estuary and which in other years has determined largely which Western eights would compete at Poughkeepsie, there is strong sentiment at the University of Washington to enter the regatta on the Hudson regardless of the outcome. The Washington crew squads have just moved into a new building and boathouse, valued at $18,000 and regarded by many as the most completely equipped college crew house in the country, and renewed enthusiasm is exhibited by the students who resumed college studies after war service.

In a letter to THE NEW YORK TIMES, Darwin Meisnest, general manager of the Associated Students of the University of Washington, writes:

"The general outlook is very good because of the fact that eight letter men are registered in college. As to the effect produced by men returning from the army, there are a great many men registered who had at least two years on the squad before the war, and many having only one year. This gives us a great deal of excellent material to pick from."

Washington will enter one 'Varsity and one Freshman crew in the Pacific Coast regatta and Mr. Meisnest adds "It is probable that we will send one crew to Poughkeepsie."

The University of California is having a new shell built this Winter by A. E. Ward & Co., of Edgewater, N. J., and expects that the winner of the coast classic will be sent East to Poughkeepsie At Berkeley the outlook is good, with a large squad of fine, big material, including a few experienced men who have returned from war service.

At Leland Stanford there is some danger that rowing will not be attempted on as large a scale as in former years. Only disorganized and occasional practice was held during the Fall. A vote of the students will be taken this month to decide whether the crew will be continued as an intercollegiate sport or whether it will revert to merely a form of physical education and be confined to intra-college competition.

COLUMBIA VS. ALUMNI.

Many Former Basket Ball Stars to Play In Tonight's Game.

A basketball team composed entirely of former stars among the alumni will face the Columbia Varsity quintet in the Morningside Heights gymnasium tonight. The game is the feature of the preliminary schedule and is expected to be a hard battle from start to end.

The lineup of the graduate five as announced yesterday by Lester C. Danielson, graduate manager of athletics at Columbia, includes some of the most brilliant players who ever competed for the Blue and White. Claus D. Benson, present coach of the five, will be at one of the guard positions. Benson played on four Columbia championship teams and in addition was picked as all-American guard in 1912. Another star of the same name, Reynolds Benson, will be seen at the other guard. He captained the 1915 team.

The two Lees, Murray and Charlie, will be at the forwards. Murray Lee was one of the important cogs of the 1908 to 1910 championship quintets while Charlie played four years, from 1911 to 1915, twice on victorious fives. Dan Meenan, captain and star of the 1914 team, will be at centre. He will be remembered as the player who defeated Pennsylvania for the championship in 1914 almost single-handed while playing with one arm stripped to his side.

The Varsity may play without the services of Johnson, the colored star forward, who is suffering from a boil on his knee. Horowitz will probably take his place. As in the C. C. N. Y. contest, Tynan will be at forward, Watson at centre and Captain Farrell and Stutz at the guards. The lineup follows:

ALUMNI.		COLUMBIA.
Lee, M.	R. F.	Tynan
Lee, C.	L. F.	Horowitz
Meenan, D.	C.	Watson
Benson R.	L. G.	Stutz
Benson, C.	R. G.	Farrell

W. VA. TO PLAY GROVE CITY.

Only One More Date Open on Mountaineers' Football Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 2.—The next to the last date on West Virginia's football schedule for 1920 was closed today when an agreement was reached with Grove City College to play here Oct. 16.

The only other date, Sept. 25, has been offered to West Virginia Wesleyan for a game at Fairmont. Following this Lehigh, Pittsburgh, Grove City, Yale, Princeton, Washington and Lee, Rutgers, Allegheny and Washington and Jefferson are to be met.

YALE QUINTET WINS FROM PITTSBURGH

Takes Basket Ball Game by One-Point Margin, 26 to 25, with Van Slyck as the Star.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 2.—Yale University's basket ball team defeated the University of Pittsburgh quintet tonight at Trees Gymnasium, 26 to 25, in the fastest contest seen on the Pitt floor in years. The bulldog combination carried off the honors because its five representatives played as one man. Taking the lead in the first few minutes, when Van Slyck scored from field, the visitors held the advantage all the time, with the exception of a few minutes late in the game when the Panther tossers managed twice to tie the count. Van Slyck soon put his team ahead in each case. He played a remarkable game, both at foul shooting and at tossing them from the floor. Hamill, the Blue centre, was a close second. The latter did not register any scores but he was the mainspring of the team play and repeatedly outwitted Pitt's defense men.

Had Pitt shown the same clever team play that was the strong point of Yale's game she might have been returned a winner. Laughran, who came into the limelight on Warner's football team, and Levine kept the home crowd in the running, Laughran getting three scores from field and Levine twelve points from the foul line. McLean played an exceptional game at guard, giving the clever Van Slyck no end of trouble.

The lineup:

YALE (26).		PITTSBURGH (25).
Van Slyck	R. F.	Levine
Crane	C. F.	Laughran
Hamill	C.	Robinson
Flynn	R. G.	McCracken
Cohen	L. G.	McLean

Substitutions—Pittsburgh: Reisgen for Robinson, Kelly for Levine, Brady for Laughran. Field goals—Van Slyck (3), Crane (2), Cohen, Laughran (3), Robinson (2), McCracken. Goals from foul—Van Slyck (14), Levine (12), Kelly.

Referee—Mr. Slack. Umpire—Mr. Baird. Time of periods—Twenty minutes.

CITY COLLEGE WINS AGAIN.

New Yorkers Defeat St. Joseph's College Basket Ball Five, 26-22.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Nat Holman's New York City College basket ball team, conqueror of the Yale and Columbia quintets, came to town tonight and was barely able to escape defeat at the hands of St. Joseph's College five, by a score of 26 to 22. It was one of the fastest and best-played games seen here this season.

Contrary to expectations, the St. Joe team went into the lead at the start, when Duff shot a brace of foul goals and Healy succeeded in caging a score from the field. Two foul goals by Ball and a field goal by Kornsky made the count even, and, when the latter shot his second two pointer after a pass to Feigan, it looked as though the visiting five would walk away with the game.

Duff, out of 10 foul shots, caged 14, while Ball made 12 out of 18. Kornsky led in field goals with four, while Duffy, Duff, Feigan, Fleigel and Ball made one each.

This was City College's fourth game of which they have lost only one, that to Princeton, by a margin of two points.

TIGERS SWAMP CARNEGIE.

Princeton Five Plays Whirlwind Game and Wins, 35 to 17.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 2.—The Carnegie Tech. basket ball five was no match for the brilliant Princeton team, the Tigers winning by 35 to 17 here tonight. They started in like a whirlwind, and scored twelve points before Carnegie tallied and, by superior all-around work, finished the first period in the lead by 23 to 7.

In the second half the Carnegie players braced a little, but the teamwork of Princeton bewildered the locals, and they fell before the onrush of the forwards.

The lineup:

PRINCETON (35).		CARNEGIE TECH., (17).
Netts	L. F.	Hammond
Hynson	R. F.	Lynn
Dickson	C.	Moon
Opie	L. G.	Nichols
Davis	R. G.	Carey

Substitutions—Princeton: King for Netts, Winfield for Hynson, Margetts for Opie, Wittmer for Davis. Carnegie Tech.: Dorsey for Lynn, Levy for Nichols.

Field goals—Netts, Hynson (5), Dickson (4), Opie (3), Hammond (3), Dosey, Moon, Levy, Carey. Goals from fouls—Netts (5), King (4), Lynn (3).

Referee—Mr. Dougherty. Time of halves—Twenty minutes each.

CRESCENTS WIN ANOTHER.

Brooklyn Quintet Defeats Toronto University Five, 46 to 72.

The Crescent Athletic Club basket ball team scored its twelfth straight victory of the season last night when it defeated the Toronto University five at the Crescent gymnasium by the score of 46 to 27. The Brooklynites went to the front in the first few minutes of play, and held the lead throughout, the first half ending with the score 29 to 10 in favor of the home team.

Stewart, though he held down a guard position, was the heaviest scorer of field goals for the Brooklyn quintet. He registered six, while Nicklas and Kinney, the Crescent forwards, each scored four. Holmes excelled for the visitors with five baskets.

The lineup:

CRESCENTS (46).		TORONTO (27).
Nicklas	R. F.	Holmes
Kinney	L. F.	Coles
McTigue	C.	Bell
Stewart	R. G.	Logan
Butler	L. G.	Graham

Goals from floor—Nickals (4), Kinney (4), McTigue (2), Stewart (6), Butler, Griffin (3), Holmes (5), Coles (3), Graham (2), Bell. Goals from foul line—Kinney (6), Coles (2), Bell (2), Graham.

Substitutions—Crescents: Lundon for Butler, Heath for Stewart, Griffin for McTigue. Toronto: Kemp for Logan.

Referee—Tom Thorp, Columbia. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

Holy Name Girls' Five Wins.

The Holy Name girls' basket ball team defeated the National City Bank girls' five last night by a score of 8 to 1 on the court at Public School 179, 102d Street and Amsterdam Avenue. Miss Marjory Brennan and Miss Genevieve Connor were the stars for the winning team. The Westminster Girls' Club of Jersey City will furnish the opposition to the Holy Name quintet on the same court next Friday.

Red Ball Up at Prospect Park.

The red ball went up at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, yesterday, and for the first time this Winter there was skating on the lake and ponds there. The ice was about five inches thick and in fine condition. Many thousands of skaters visited the park during the day. There was skating also on the ponds in a number of the small parks of the borough yesterday.

WANTS HERRMANN TO STICK TO JOB

Johnson Opposes Efforts to Oust National Commission Chairman from Office.

At the request of President John A. Heydler of the National League, the annual meeting of the National Commission scheduled for Cincinnati on Monday has been postponed until Thursday, Jan. 8. Mr. Heydler says that the only reason for the postponment is that he has some business to finish before going West. After the meeting of the commission, President Heydler and Johnson will get to work on the schedules for next season and a tentative draft of the games will be drawn up so that it can be placed in the hands of the joint schedule committee as soon as possible.

There has been much speculation about the coming meeting of the commission because of the attitude of Chairman August Herrmann. Mr. Herrmann announced to the National League club owners last month that he would voluntarily retire from the chairmanship in thirty days. As that thirty days will expire on the day the commission meets in Cincinnati, it is possible that Mr. Herrmann will abide by the wishes of his fellow club owners and refuse to serve again.

However, President Jonhson of the American League is known to be strongly in favor of retaining Mr. Herrmann as Chairman, and it is believed that he will prevail upon Herrmann to take the office again. If Johnson should vote for Herrmann and Heydler should refuse to vote for him again, the election of chairman would result in a deadlock, and Herrmann would continue to serve as a holdover official.

Johnson has never been in sympathy with the National League's effort to oust Herrmann from the commission. Since the commission was established in 1903 Johnson and Herrmann have served continuously, and the American League head argues that, after his long and faithful service, it is not advisable to depose the Chairman.

However, Herrmann himself has admitted to his fellow club owners that a neutral official would be advisable for the welfare of the game, so the National League club owners expect that next week Herrmann will announce that he will not serve on the commission any longer. It is believed by those who are in close touch with Johnson, however, that his influence with Herrmann is stronger than the influence of the National League club owners, and that Herrmann will not retire as he has promised.

The Brooklyn club has sent two of its players back to the minors. Pitcher Lafayette Hennion was sent to the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League in part payment for Catcher Rowdy Elliott. Pitcher Harry Heitman was released to the Buffalo club of the International League.

Outfielder Tom Griffith of the Dodgers announced last season that he was through with baseball, and it begins to look as if he meant it. He is now in a stock broker's office in Cincinnati and says that he has decided to retire from the game. If Griffith refuses to report next Spring Manager Wilbert Robinson will have to shift his lineup again. He may solve the difficulty by placing Jimmy Johnston back in the outfield and trying out Schmandt at second again.

Secretary Harry Sparrow of the Yankees left for the South yesterday to finish the arrangements for the Spring training trip of the Yankees at Jacksonville. Manager Huggins is expected here next week to tackle the annual task of getting the unsigned players in line for next year. The Yankees are far better off in this respect than the other major league clubs, however, for he already has eight players signed, including the infield, with the exception of Baker.

FOR 100-YARD SWIM TITLE.

Colleges and Clubs Well Represented in Brookline Events.

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—Colleges and swimming clubs will be represented in the 100-yard open national championship swim at the Brookline tank on March 11, and it is expected that Perry McGillivery, present title holder and member of the Illinois Athletic Club, will defend his title. Invitations have also been sent to his club mate, Norman Ross, Leo Giebel of New York, Harold Vollmer, former Columbia star, and Ted Cann.

From the colleges will come Georgic of Princeton, Hincks and Binney of Yale, Rodger of Columbia, and Sidney Biddell of Tech.

Two Brooklyn Players Released.

The Brooklyn Baseball Club has released players Harry Heitman to the Buffalo Club of the International League and Lafayette Henion to the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League.

With the growing scarcity of all-wool woolens, especially the finer qualities, we might have found it difficult to keep our manufacturing humming, had it not been for our close and personal relations with the great mills of Scotland and England.

It's this way:

Australian wools, which are the finest in the world, are controlled by the British Government.

Home needs naturally come first in time of stress. But we have been much favored as long established customers, our imports having been on a large scale for many years.

Not only got our usual yardage, but landed Scottish and English woolens at prices under those of domestic fabrics of less fine quality.

This is one of the reasons why we can continue to offer clothing for men and boys of precisely the same high standards of ante-bellum years — at prices no more than those asked elsewhere for quality not nearly so good.

Everything Men and boys wear. Also Sporting Goods and luggage.

COLUMBIA IN LEAD FOR CHESS TITLE

Blue and White Defeats Crimson, 4 to 0, and Princeton Beats Yale by Same Score.

One-sided play was the order of the day in the second round of the twenty-seventh annual chess tournament among Columbia, Harvard, Yale, and Princeton, contested at the rooms of the Brooklyn Chess Club yesterday morning and afternoon, and at the close of play the champion team of Columbia University held the lead with a total of 6½ points, followed by Princeton with 5½, Harvard with 4, and Yale last, without so much as a draw to her credit. In yesterday's matches Columbia defeated Harvard, 4 to 0, and Princeton beat Yale by the same score.

Princeton played white on the odd-numbered boards. The openings: 1, Ruy Lopez, 2, Max Lange attack; 3, Queen's gambit declined; 4, Sicilian defense.

In today's final round, which will be started at the Brooklyn Chess Club at 11 o'clock, Columbia will be paired against Yale and Harvard against Princeton.

RETURN MATCH FOR BARRY.

Defeated Sculler to Get Another Chance at Title Next Spring.

Ernest Barry, England's leading sculler, who lost the world's championship sculling title to Alfred Felton of Australia a short time ago, will have an opportunity to regain his lost laurels next Spring. Plans under way call for a return race on the River Parramatta, New South Wales, in either April or May.

The London Daily Mail has agreed to put up £500, the stake money required by Barry for a return race and subscriptions are now being received to make up the remaining £1,500 which will be needed for expenses to send Barry and his trainer to Australia. About one-third of this amount already has been subscribed and it is expected that the entire sum will be in hand within a short time. Word has reached England from Australia that sport followers in that country are so keen for the race that they will raise all the money needed to bring Barry to the antipodes, but that will not be necessary.

Barry held the world's championship honors for seven years before he lost the race with Felton on the Thames on Oct. 27 last. Felton won by six lengths. Barry won the world's title in 1912 by a victory over Arnst.

HIS ELEVENTH LONG BOUT.

Dundee's Experience in Boxing Over a Distance May Help Him.

When Johnny Dundee, the local Italian lightweight, enters the ring against Benny Leonard, world's champion, for a twenty-round bout at New Haven, Conn., Jan. 16, the Italian boxer will be competing in his eleventh contest over this distance. In his career, which extends over a period of nine years, Dundee has boxed some of the leading lightweights of the country over the championship distance, including Joe Azevedo, Joe Mandot, Stanley Yoakum, Grover Hayes, Jack White, Frank Conley, Joe Rivers, Jimmy Hanlon, Johnny Kilbane, and Willie Beecher. His bout with Kilbane was held when Dundee was competing as a featherweight.

This experience in long-distance bouts is expected to serve Dundee well in his coming meeting with Leonard. The latter has never boxed more than twelve rounds, and, therefore, is unaccustomed in the matter of gauging his speed. Leonard's longest bouts have been against Ever Hammer and Harvey Thorpe, both matches ending in Leonard's favor in twelve rounds.

HARVARD STARTS ON RETURN TRIP

Special to The New York Times.

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—A small knot of Harvard men gave the regular college cheer this forenoon, under the leadership of Bill Witmes, Secretary of the Harvard Club of Southern California, as the Crimson football forces left town, after their well-won victory, on their journey to Cambridge, Mass.

The Harvard victory was not popular in these parts, as far as native sons are concerned, but the Tournament of Roses Committee treated the men like princes, and the recollection of their visit to the Coast will always remain with the lads that made it.

William L. Leishman, Chairman of the committee, said today that $50,000 had been taken in on the football field. The expense of bringing Harvard West reached close to $17,000. An automobile escort of seven cars was always available for both teams, and no money was spared to see that they had a good time.

One happy bellboy at the Raymond tonight is sporting the jersey Eddie Casey wore in action, and the ball which started the game and was thrown from an airplane went to Tom Woods of Harvard, who caught it.

Viola Dana, movie star, claims it was mental telepathy which won the game, and figures that when she sent thought waves to the Harvard men they came through and won.

Speno and Cohen Are Matched.

Tommy Speno and Benny Cohen have been matched by Dave Mackay for a bout to be fought on Jan. 12 in the 1st Regiment Armory, Newark, and to constitute one of the preliminaries to the Frank Moran and Fred Fulton bout which will be the feature of the card on that date. The Speno-Cohen match is attracting as much interest among Newark and Jersey City boxing followers as the heavyweight number.

COLORS OF HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY IN VAN TWICE ON FAIR GROUNDS COURSE AT NEW ORLEANS

MADGE F. IS VICTOR IN STIRRING FINISH

Beats Sweeping Glance by a Neck in Lady Astor Purse at New Orleans.

WHITNEY HORSES IN VAN

Cointreau Shows Way In Opening Sprint and Stickling Triumphs at a Mile and 70 Yards.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 2.—A skillful ride by Jockey Robinson, who outgeneraled his rivals, enabled the Ogden Stable's Madge F. to gain a very close decision in the Lady Astor Purse at a mile, for fillies and mares, which was the feature at the Fair Grounds today. Madge F. beat Sweeping Glance by a neck, and, though she led all the way, would probably have been defeated but for the fact that Robinson cleverly avoided the interference which some of the others met with at the first turn and steered a clear course throughout. Ballet Dancer 2d appeared to be much the best in the race but, with, poor handling by Pierce and interference which nearly put her out of the race in the first quarter of a mile, she was unable to do better than finish third.

There were only five starters in the Lady Astor Purse, a field that called for little jamming or interference, but shortly after the start Pierce got into a bad position with Ballet Dancer. He got in behind Madge F. and Tailor Maid and though his mount had the speed she was unable to get through. Pierce had to take up and move to the outside, and in doing so lost ground and was running next to last when the horses turned into the stretch. At the start Ballet Dancer had a good post position, and a little more alertness on the part of her jockey might have saved her a lot of trouble.

Robinson rushed Madge F. to the front from the rail position and headed off the others at the first turn, saved ground and kept clear of the others all the way. The horses were closely bunched in the early part of the running, and, when Ballet Dancer could not get clear, Robinson took advantage of the situation to draw away to a fairly good lead. But once in the stretch he had to do his best to keep the winner in front, for she was tiring under him, and Sweeping Glance came with a rush, cutting down the lead until she was almost abreast of the winner at the finish line. Ballet Dancer finally got clear and then made up for most of the distance lost by a fine spurt through the stretch, in which she gained so rapidly on the two which were out in front that with fifty feet more to go she would have won despite her mishaps. As it was, she was beaten for second place by only a head, and Pierce appeared to be of little assistance to her. Tailor Maid ran well until she reached the head of the stretch, when she weakened and fell back to fourth place, Lorena Moss being last all the way.

Whitney Entries in Front.

Now that racing has shifted to the Fair Grounds some of the better known horsemen are being represented in the daily events. There was an indication of this today, when the colors of Harry Payne Whitney were twice carried to victory, once by his débutante two-year-old, Cointreau, and again by his fine filly, Stickling.

Cointreau, which captured the first race on the card, for two-year-old fillies, is by Rabelais-Paradise 2d, and is one of several of the Whitney youngsters which Trainer Simons will try out during the Winter campaign. Cointreau, which appears to have plenty of speed and courage, had trained and schooled so well that she was well played today and went to the post a 4 to 5 favorite in a field of nine youngsters.

Ambrose, on Cointreau, had a break in the luck, however, which enabled him to get home a comparatively easy winner. E. K. Bryson's Oh Yes had the most speed in the early part of the three furlong dash and set the pace for half the distance. Cointreau was running third and close to the rail when the turn was reached. Here Oh Yes ran out, carrying the balance of the front runners except Cointreau, wide. Ambrose was able to slip through on the rail and once clear drew away easily to win by two lengths. Oh Yes ran a very promising race and when straightened out saved second place by a head from Queen of Trumps. The others were never factors except Kathleen K., which tired badly after going a quarter of a mile.

Stickling, one of the fleet fillies of the Whitney string, ran in good form and showed a fine flash of speed in the mile and seventy yards test for four-year-olds and upward, but had to be hard-ridden in the stretch to hold the victory safe from J. W. McClelland's Sailor, which, with a better start, might have been the winner. Sailor propped as the barrier was sprung and was practically left at the post.

Stickling raved into the lead at once, and easily disposed of the other contenders, first shaking off Gourmand, which tired after trying to keep up with the pacemaker. But Butwell put the whip to Sailor and made up ground fast from his bad start. Just before turning into the stretch Sailor caught the main flight, and disposed of all but Gourmand and Stickling. A moment later Gourmand quit and Sailor began to gain on the leader. He got within a head of Stickling, when the early effort began to tell and he hung slightly right at the finish, so that the Whitney racer was able to go over the line with half a length to spare. Duke John took third.

General Wins by a Nose.

There was a close finish in the second race, a six-furlong sprint, when T. H. Wilson's General got up in the last few strides to win by a nose from Cobalt, while the latter saved second from Mack Garner by a head. General had to be much the best to win the race, for he was carried wide turning into the streetch and seemed to be out of it, while Cobalt was leading, with Mack Garner second. General got his bearings again, and finished so stoutly that he caught Cobalt a few feet from the wire. Mack Garner was also gaining on Cobalt, and finished with more courage than usual. Miss Manage, which was well up at the start, lost her rider at the first quarter.

Jockey Robinson was in good form and, besides winning with Madge F., also scored handily with Besthoff in the third race, at five and a half furlongs. Besthoff had all the speed of the race and, after being sent away to a flying start, opened up a gap of five lengths in the drive through the stretch Flying Witch made a game effort to catch the leader. Robinson was able to ease up his mount and still win by a length and a half, though Flying Witch easily disposed of the others and took second from Bone Dry by three lengths.

Plenty was an easy winner over a large field of selling platers in the sixth race, at a mile and a sixteenth, and beat Lazy Lou by five lengths, while Medusa was third. Plenty made up ground after a slow start and then drew away in the stretch.

J. Heffering's Marauder was home first in the mile and an eighth event which closed the card. Marauder was under restraint until he reached the head of the stretch, when he moved up fast and disposed of Bubbling Louder and General Byng, but had to be hard ridden in the final hundred yards. Bubbling Louder lasted to take second, but Alexander caught General Byng tiring and took third by a nose.

A. A. U. BRANCH FOR MAINE.

Ryan Receives Authority to Establish New Organization.

It became known yesterday that a new branch of the Amateur Athletic Union would be formed in the State of Maine in the immediate future. Definite steps in this direction have already been taken, and a preliminary meeting will be held at Lewiston late this month.

Mike J. Ryan, who coached the athletes of Colby College until three years ago, when he became an army athletic instructor, left this city last night to return to Colby, and he has been authorized to proceed with the formation of the new branch. Before leaving he stated that Bates, the Lewiston American Legion Post, Colby, the University of Maine and the Portland Athletic Club were sure to join the association and that he expected four or five of the leading Y. M. C. A.'s of the State to enroll at the outset. The announced that Bowdoin College would not become affiliated with the organization at this time, preferring to wait until after it had been definitely instituted.

"We shall hold a meeting the latter part of the month," said Ryan, "and I fully expect that at least fifteen delegates will be present. The organization, of course, will be closed to the State of Maine."

The 22d Regiment of Engineers yesterday applied to the local headquarters of the Amateur Athletic Union for a sanction to hold a five-mile open handicap run on Feb. 22. It was announced that the regiment had determined to encourage distance running among its members and that it would offer a half dozen medals, to be awarded to the first six members of the regiment to finish in the run.

Joe Sherman of the Kings County Athletic Association has made application for permission to compete as an unattached athlete. He is a long-distance runner and is a member of the 47th Regiment. It is understood that he will eventually represent the regiment in competition.

WILD BILL DONOVAN WINS.

Former Baseball Star Is Victor in Three-Cushion Billiard Match.

Two matches were played in the handicap three-cushion billiard tournament at John Doyle's Academy last night. Wild Bill Donovan of baseball fame was a principal in one of the matches. He defeated John Anderson, not of baseball fame. Donovan is favored with a handicap of 4, while Anderson plays from scratch. It was this handicap that enabled the former manager of the Yankees to win, 25 to 23.

In the second match William Tarbox, who plays from scratch, defeated Harry Griffith, handicapped at 6, by a score of 25 to 20. Tarbox was in excellent form and soon overcame his opponent's handicap. From then to the finish Tarbox played strongly.

FAVORITE PLAYERS GET A HARD JOLT

Six Straight Choices Are Defeated in Day of Upsets at Havana Track.

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 2.—The favorite players experienced their worst day of the present meeting when six straight choices were defeated at the Oriental Park today. The first four events were short races.

Brizz, carrying 113 pounds, ran five and one-half furlongs in the fast time of 1:00 flat. O.d Red showed himself to be a fairly good youngster when he won the first race by a head from Ravensea, which in turn was a nose in front of Hello Pardner. The second event went to Marty Lou, defeating the 20 to 1 shot, Sea Beach, by a length and a half.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For three-year-olds; claiming; purse $600; five furlongs. Old Red, 100 pounds, (H. Garner), 2 to 1, 4 to 5, and 2 to 5, first; Ravensea, 104 (Pickens), 8 to 1, 3 to 1, and 8 to 5, second; Hello Pardner, 109 (Ornes), 8 to 5, 7 to 10, 1 to 3, third. Time—1:00 4-5. Annabelle, Ford, and Northern Belle also ran.

SECOND RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; five and a half furlongs. Marty Lou, 105 pounds (Koppleman), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, and even, first; Sea Beach, 107 (Hirst), 20 to 1, 8 to 1, and 4 to 1, second; Misericorde 101 (Carmody), 2 to 1, 4 to 5, and 2 to 5, third. Time—1:07. Iron Boy, Redlita V., Pollyanna, Galaway, and Herder also ran.

THIRD RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; five and a half furlongs. Ed Garrison, 107 pounds (Murray), 7 to 2, 7 to 5, and 7 to 10, first; Encore, 107 (Dominick), 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2, second; Mike Dixon, 105 (Brown), 7 to 2, 7 to 5, and 7 to 10, third. Time—1:07 1-5. Leoti Fay, The Gleamer, Beverly James, Pomerene, and Blanche Donaldson also ran.

FOURTH RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; purse $600; claiming; five and a half furlongs. Brizz, 113 pounds (Pickens), 5 to 1, 2 to 1, and even, first; Little Nephew, 107 (Murray), 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2, second; Blazeway, 105 (Carmody), even, 3 to 5, and 1 to 3, third. Time—1:06. Pretty Baby, Sky Man, Blanca, Colonel Harrison, and Helen Atkin also ran.

FIFTH RACE—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; one mile. The Talker, 106 pounds (Garrigan), 4 to 1, 8 to 5, and 4 to 5, first; Ralph S., 108 (Carmody), 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2, second; Bill Simmons, 113 (Finley), 5 to 2, even, and 1 to 2, third. Time—1:40 4-5. Lamp Post, Baby Rasch, Sayeth, and Jose de Vales also ran.

SIXTH RACE—For four-year-olds and upward; claiming; purse $600; one mile and twenty yards. Biernan, 111 pounds (Dominick), 8 to 5, 3 to 5, and 1 to 3, first; Great Gull, 111 (Pickens), 2 to 1, 4 to 5, and 2 to 5, second; Rhymer, 111 (Kederis), 3 to 1, even, and 1 to 2, third. Time—1:41. Golden Chance, Tim J. Hogan, Zodiac, and Assign also ran.

JACK FROST WINS TWICE.

Long Branch Ice Yacht Makes Fast Time in New Jersey Races.

Special to The New York Times.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Jan. 2.—Captain James O'Brien's Jack Frost, sailing under the colors of the Long Branch Ice Boat and Yacht Club, won a double-header today over the fifteen-mile Shallow Point course, with The Imp second, and The Drub, an oldtime favorite, third. The first race was for the Price-Patterson Cup and the Jack Frost sailed the fifteen miles in 56:03, with The Imp second in 37:13, and The Drub third in 37:50.

Captains Sexton and Duryea sailed the winner. In the second race, for the O'Brien trophy, the Jack Frost beat the previous record of 35, covering the fifteen miles in 35:01, remarkably fast time. It was a pretty race between the Jack Frost and The Imp, the latter finishing only 5 seconds behind the winner, with The Drub third in 36:35.

The ice was in good condition and the yachts were favored with a good northwest breeze. Tomorrow there will be a number of races, including one for ex-members of the mosquito fleet.

SAY WHEN FINISHES FIRST.

Leads North Shrewsbury Ice Yachts in Speedy Ten-Mile Run.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, N. J., Jan. 2.—In a fresh northwest breeze and over good hard ice, which made the going fast, six third class ice yachts of the North Shrewsbury fleet competed today in a ten-mile club point race over the regular triangular course. Thomas Irving Brown's former champion yacht Say When, well handled by Mart and Oliver Haviland, led the field at the finish, covering the course in 24 minutes 20 seconds.

Commodore James B. Weaver sent the white-winged fliers off from the home stake, opposite the club house, at 2:25, the Say When getting away in the lead. George W. Bray's Daisey, which won the Commodore's race, passed the Say When near Blanchard Cove and led across the river to Fisher's Cove and back up the river to the home stake.

Henry Applegate's brand new craft Whim was also a close contender, and for three of the four rounds it was a nip-and-tuck race. Youth and inexperience on the part of the sheet tenders of both the Daisy and the Whim handicapped the tillermen, and the Say When, regaining the lead, steadily widened the gap and won by 2 minutes and 15 seconds. The Daisey was second and the Whim third. Andrew White's Brownie was fourth, Lester Pierce's Zero fifth and Harry L. Rider had to withdraw his Go To It when the gamit strap broke on the third round.

Women Golfers Tie at Pinehurst.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 2.—Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich and Mrs. J. D. Armstrong of Buffalo tied for the low gross honors in the Silver Foi's selected twelve holes tourney at Pinehurst today. Each played her best six holes out and each had a total score of sixty-two strokes. Mrs. Armstrong led te low handicap field with a net of 55 and was awarded the Class A prize. Mrs. Dwight R. Meigs of Pottstown, Pa., won the prize in Class B with a net of 64. Miss Dorothy Brown of Montclair had low gross at 64.

WALKER STARTS 1920 WELL.

Intercollegiate Golf Champion Wins Pinehurst Trophy Easily.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 2.—A. Lucien Walker, Jr., of Richmond County, captain of the Columbia University Golf Team and Intercollegiate champion, won the President's trophy in the final of the midwinter tournament at Pinehurst today, defeating Frank S. Danforth, of the North Fork Country Club, by 7 and 5. Danforth was plainly nervous and off his game, but at his best could not have kept pace with his opponent at the gait the Columbia student was going today.

Walker went over the championship course in 73, the best amateur round of the Winter season, and the 73 included two strokes lost by being stymied at the fifth and ninth holes.

A curious feature of the match was that Walker won both of the holes on which he was stymied and won one of them under par, the stymie robbing him of an eagle 3 on the fifth hole. He drove near the 300-yard mark several times and used his putter once only on seven of the last nine holes.

The summaries:

First Sixteen.

Second Sixteen.

FINAL ROUND—H. G. Phillips, Moore County, defeated J. V. Jenks, Harbor Beach, 1 up (19 holes).

BEATEN EIGHT—C. L. Becker, Ekwanok, defeated E. T. Manson, Framingham, 7 and 5.

Third Sixteen.

FINAL ROUND—George Van Keuren, Englewood, defeated J. D. Armstrong, Buffalo, 3 and 2.

BEATEN EIGHT—W. H. Watt, Hackensack, defeated N. W. Peters, Englewood, 2 and 1.

Fourth Sixteen.

FINAL ROUND—J. D. Montgomery, Toronto, defeated P. B. O'Brien, Detroit, 2 and 1.

BEATEN EIGHT—W. M. Sanford, Glen Ridge, defeated W. B. Merrill, Braeburn, 3 and 2.

LEVINE TAKES LEAD FOR CARROM TITLE

Breaks Tie with Flinn in Three-Cushion Tourney for State Honors in Billiards.

THREE-CUSHION STANDING.
New York State Championship.

Player.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
H. Levine	6	1	.857
W. H. Flinn	5	2	.714
A. Newman	5	2	.714
R. Naughright	4	3	.571
S. B. Burdett	4	4	.500
R. J. Mishler	3	5	.375
A. de Oro, Jr.	3	5	.375
H. L. Turk	3	6	.333
L. A. Servatius	3	6	.333
L. D. Sacks	2	4	.333

The tie for first place in the New York State three-cushion billiard championship tournament, being played under the auspices of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players, has been broken. Until last night, Harry Levine and William H. Flinn had been setting the pace for the eight other players. They played in separate matches at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night, and Levine won while Flinn was losing. As a result Levine is alone at the top of the standing and Flinn is tied for second place with Arthur Newman, who won the national as well as the State title last season.

Levine defeated Harold L. Turk by a score of 30 to 13, and Flinn was beaten by Ray Naughright, 30 to 29.

The game between Flinn and Naughright was as keen a battle as the score indicates. It took sixty-three innings to decide the issue and, from the thirty-eighth inning to the finish it was nip and tuck with the honors evenly distributed. Neither player had any edge and the breaks in the game were very evenly divided.

Flinn started off as if he meant to make short work of Naughright. At the beginning of the thirty-eighth inning he was gliding along in front, with the score 18 to 12 in his favor. Then Naughright made his high run of 6 and tied the score, his run coming within one point of equaling the highest of the tournament, a cluster of 7 made by Louis Servatius.

Harry Levine had an easy time winning from Turk. It was little more than a romp for the winner. At no time throughout the sixty-nine innings of play was he pressed. However, it cannot be said that Levine played brilliantly. He was as consistent as three-cushion players usually are, but most of his points were made on natural shots. In other words, he won by such a wide margin principally because Turk was unable to get going at any time.

The safety playing of Levine completely baffled Turk. Coupled with this, Turk did not enjoy any of the breaks. Most of the luck of play was against him from the start, and time and again he missed counting on the narrowest of margins. Could he have counted the close ones he might have won with something to spare.

It was originally intended to try to finish the tournament this week, but this has been made impossible. The holidays gummed up the schedule in a measure, and it will be necessary to postpone further play until the week after next. Starting on Monday, Willie Hoppe, Robert Cannefax, and Ralph Greenleaf will give a week-long series of exhibitions in balkline, three-cushion, and pocket billiards, and the amateurs will be temporarily side-tracked. Eight games remain to be played in the State tournament.

Bowlers Select Indianapolis.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Indianapolis was selected as the 1920 tournament city at the annual meeting of the Central States Bowlers' Association here today. The territory covered by the association was increased from a 175 to a 200-mile radius, which takes in Toledo and Huntington, W. Va.

7TH REGT. TENNIS WILL START TODAY

Bassford and McAllister, Last Year's Finalists, to Meet in First Round.

The annual indoor tournament for the championship of the Seventh Regiment Tennis Club will begin this afternoon on the board courts of the armory, at 66th Street and Park Avenue. Sixteen members have entered the Class A singles. Several of the regular Class B players also will take a chance in the faster company as well as in their own more limited ranks. Among these is S. G. Rossell, the first member of the regiment to be awarded the Croix de Guerre in France and a notable all-around athlete.

Prominent contenders for the club championship this year include the Anderson brothers, Fred and Frank, of whom the latter was recently runner-up for the national junior title; Abraham Bassford, 3d, the present holder of the regimental tennis honors; Samuel R. McAllister, last season's runner-up and captain of the club team; J. D. Ewing of Williams and W. Dickson Cunningham of Yale, W. B. Cragin, Jr., and J. L. Anderson.

The draw brings last year's finalists, Bassford and McAllister, together in the opening round, and this match should be the feature of today's play. The committee, which includes H. L. Follett, C. M. Ammerman, T. A. Bruno, and S. R. McAllister, has ruled that the first round must be completed by next Saturday.

CLASS A, SINGLES—FIRST ROUND—F. C. Coughtry vs. J. D. Ewing, Frank T. Anderson vs. T. A. Bruno, Abraham Bassford, 3d, vs. Samuel R. McAllister, Harold Moore vs. S. G. Rossell, G. G. Moore, Jr., vs. C. M. Ammerman, A. C. Postley vs. W. Dickson Cunningham, M. E. Mackaoud vs. W. B. Cragin, Jr., J. L. Anderson vs. Fred C. Anderson.

CLASS B, Singles—Harold Moore vs. H. L. Follett, J. G. Ellewellyn vs. J. P. Kuser, M. E. Mackaoud vs. C. M. Ammerman, A. C. Postley vs. S. G. Rossell.

WANTS NEW TENNIS RULE.

Seventh Regiment Expert Advocates Change in Delivery of Service.

William Cunningham, the indefatigable chroinicler of the doings of the Seventh Regiment Tennis Club, is about to begin a series of articles on the rudiments of the game, which will appear in the official magazine of the organization, The Seventh Regiment Gazette. He will discuss in order the forehand and backhand drives, steadiness, the simple overhead serve, placing, volleying, smashing, and court tactics.

Mr. Cunningham advocates a new service rule, compelling the server to stand with his front toe upon a ribbon line eighteen inches behind the base line, with the privilege of assuming any position he pleases, and of going through any motions between the two lines. Essentially this proposition duplicates that of the newly proposed foot-fault rule, which merely requires the server to keep both feet behind the base line until his racquet has actually hit the ball.

Wrestlers Are Ready for Bout.

Jim Londos, the "little giant" who meets William Demetral Monday night at the 71st Regiment Armory, bubbled over with enthusiasm yesterday afternoon when he wound up his strenuous training. Londos is confident he will win; in fact, he is wondering just what inscription to have engraved on the $1,000 belt which will be presented to the winner. Wladek Zbyszko is ready to tackle Baldis, who comes here from South America with a great reputation. Then there will be Sula Hevompsa and Ivan Linow, who are bound to engage in a bout that will be replete with humor and sensations. The demand for tickets insures a record crowd at the show. Reservations are on sale at the Armory.

INTERPRETER TALKS FOR MAETERLINCK

PHONETICS ARE PUZZLING

Dr. Merle St. Croix Wright Reads English Text After Philosopher's Delivery in French.

A combination of English learned in six weeks and mysteries of "odic effluvia" came near last night to casting Maurice Maeterlinck, the Belgian poet, upon "The Unknown Shore" of which his first American lecture was to be an exposition.

However, Carnegie Hall was filled with worshippers seeking the bluebird of happiness and when it became apparent, after ten minutes, that the significance of the profound thoughts of the poet philosopher were being smothered through an attempt to convey them in immature English they would not be denied, but offered many suggestions which culminated in the reading of part of the lecture in French, followed by the English version by Dr. Merle St. Croix Wright, pastor of the Lenox Avenue Unitarian Church.

The forceful and scholarly delivery of Dr. Wright, with emendations offered from time to time by Maeterlinck, who stood close by and projected his delightfully genial personality into the utterances of his interpreter, gave the same pleasure to his hearers as would have been theirs had they all been able to understand the poet in his native tongue.

M. Maeterlinck began his address in a soft, purring voice quite adapted to the French, but which applied to the English soon found each sentence trailing off into inaudibility. From many parts of the house came the cry "En français," but the poet evidently felt that it was his duty to give to those who had come unprepared for French the benefit of all he was able to say.

He tried again, but with no greater success. Then Dr. Wright explained that M. Maeterlinck was reading from a manuscript in which the English was written out in French phonetics. For instance, the English word "issues" was spelled "ichouse" and the word "ended" was spelled "aindide." This made it difficult for any one else to read it. So a messenger was dispatched for the original French and English versions, and when they arrived the author read a small part of the former, and then Dr. Wright read the English text in full.

In an introductory address on "American's Appreciation of Maeterlinck" Dr. Wright warned the audience that the poet had begun his study of English only six weeks ago, and requested the audience to make known any inability to hear. The Belgian Ambassador, Baron Cartier de Marchienne, also spoke. Among others who constituted the honorary Reception Committee and sat upon the platform were Otto H. Kahn, Frederic R. Coudert, and Robert Underwood Johnson.

While "The Unknown Shore" was given as the title of the lecture, Maeterlinck preferred it to be known as "New Proofs of Immortality." The first half of these proofs were the old arguments "from design," calculated to demolish the contention of the materialist "summed up in the phrase, 'no thought without a living brain.'" To this the speaker said he could make the categorical reply, "no living brain without some previous thought." Before man or the higher animals existed, he held, there were involved in nature, in the flowers, in the insects, mechanisms, which even today were beyond the comprehension and certainly beyond the control of man.

"Where was the brain of nature then?" he exclaimed. "Probably everywhere. There must have been an intelligence without tissues and organs, these must have been the effects of a prior spiritual cause. Our own inventions are only the adaptation of the wonders of nature, the pump from the heart, the telegraph from the nervous system, the wireless telegraph from telepathy. Levitation gives another clue which we do not yet know how to utilize. We shall some day find in nature marvelous processes which we have hitherto not suspected."

The lecturer then told of the "odic effluvia" discovered by Reichenbach, the eminent Austrian scientist—"a magnetic or vital fluid emanating from the body every second, and which can be seen by hypnotic subjects in the dark, appearing bluish on the right side and yellowish red on the left, and varying in intensity with the state of the emotions in the person from whom they emanate." This vital force, he held, was responsible for the phenomenon of "table turning."

He described it as indestructible and susceptible of being infused into inanimate objects. This, he said, explained the practice of the old witch who would make a figure of wax in the likeness of the one she would torture and then animate it with a wisp of hair from the victim. When the witch stuck pins in the figure the person whom it represented would feel pain in the corresponding part of the body. This vital fluid, so independent of the body and impossible to destroy even by fire, Maeterlinck held, might well be the spiritual principle which does not perish with us and points to immortal life.

SHOW HOLLYER ENGRAVINGS

Old Pictures of New York in the Public Library.

There was opened yesterday in the Art Department of the Public Library, Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, third floor, an exhibition which will give pleasure to everyone interested in old New York. The exhibition is made up of engravings by that veteran workman, Samuel Hollyer, who died on Dec. 27, 94 years old, working up to almost the last. There are 150 of the engravings. The artist has reproduced old pictures of New York, and the collection makes an interesting pictorial history. There are two delightful pictures of the town and country houses of Peter Stuyvesant, in 1658, the latter simple in line with its stiff box-bordered beds, and the other just on the edge of the water.

There is the first French church with its old graveyard in 1668; the Water Gate, earlier, 1652; the Old Fulton Ferry in 1746, a peaceful looking place with an ox team drawing a bay cart in the foreground; Hunt's Mansion shows the beauty of New York as it used to be. Coming up to the time of comparatively young New Yorkers is the old shot tower on Centre Street, which Chief Frank Weitenkampf, of the Division of Art and Prints of the Library, has dubbed the "First New York Sky Scraper."

There is Wall Street in 1815; the old Park Theatre in 1831, the Thalia Theatre and Atlantic Garden on the Bowery in 1860; Poe's Cottage which we still have; the Van Cortlandt House as it looked in 1820; the Miller House at White Plains is a beautiful old place; the New York City Reservoir would never be recognized without the title and New York Harbor as it was 100 years ago, was a very different place from the harbor in 1920. The old Anderson estate is shown in a view in 1871, not so long ago, but Dr. Weitenkampf notes a mark of real antiquity—a couple of boys, who give life to the picture, are playing ball, and the one with the ball is giving an "underhand" throw.

The exhibit will be shown for the next six weeks.

FIGHT FOR CLOSED SHOP.

Steel Erectors Will Strike if Non-Union Men Are Employed.

At a conference yesterday afternoon between committees representing the Building Trades Employers' Association and the Building Trades Council the employers were notified that, beginning today, union men on jobs of the Iron League of Steel Erectors would quit work where the employers insisted upon employing non-union men. This will be the beginning of the show-down between the erectors' association and the Building Trades Council on the closed shop, or union principle. The council entered into an agreement some weeks ago with the Building Trades Employers' Association for the closed shop, and then the Iron League of Steel Erectors have announced that they would not be a party to the agreement.

WOMAN TELLS HOW SHE SAVED SCHOONER

She Brought Vessel Near to Land After Mate Deserted and Her Husband Died.

Special to The New York Times.

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 2.—With the mate a deserter and her husband slowly dying, Mrs. W. E. Oram, expert navigator and woman extraordinary, brought the schooner Jean E. Somerville from Las Palmas to within seventy miles of land before the vessel was driven from its course by strong headwinds and an appeal for salvage was necessary.

"My husband took sick the day we made Las Palmas," she explained. "When the attack took him I advised against putting back to sea for Mobile, but he laughed at my worriment, declaring that he would be all right in a few days. The mate deserted in Las Palmas and the cook also, so we began to experience difficulties from the start.

"Shortly after we left Las Palmas the attack took my husband so violently that he was unable to walk, and as the mate was gone it devolved upon me to take over the navigation of the vessel. I kept my husband on deck most of the time, and together we took the readings and set the course."

Upon arriving at San Juan Mrs. Oram advised her husband to allow himself to be taken ashore and another master placed aboard the vessel, but he persisted that he would be able to make the voyage to Mobile, where he would receive the necessary medical attention.

"My husband grew steadily weaker and Saturday night, when off San Antonio Light, he said: 'I can't help you get the sun tomorrow.' He died Saturday night," said Mrs. Oram quietly.

She told of hailing a fruit steamer in the hope of placing her husband aboard and getting him to shore before he died. She signaled the steamer, Captain sick in bed." The message was interpreted "Captain dead in bed," and so the word was carried to the shore. The steamer could offer no material assistance, for the sea was too high to lower a boat, explained Mrs. Oram.

"I could not get the sun for three days, and the strong headwinds that we had been meeting all through the voyage soon blew the vessel out of its course. When I managed again to get my bearings we were almost 200 miles out of our course. I brought the schooner into her course again and began the battle of beating into Mobile Bay against the headwinds. We were unable to make any progress. Some of the sail was carried away, but the schooner did not leak.

"After two days of buffeting by the headwinds we sighted the steamer Moosehausic and signaled for assistance. She towed us off Pensacola," concluded Mrs. Oram.

Lilly Lena Arrives from England.

Lilly Lena, the English music hall artist, arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Celtic to make a tour of the Keith circuit in the Eastern States and Canada. She was here six years ago and made a tour to the Const. The singer said that theatrical, vaudeville, and moving-picture business had never been so good as it is today in England. The people had been saving their money through the war and now they were spending it.

Miss Carlotta MacDonnell, an English dancer, also arrived on the Celtic, and said she was going to Bermuda for a rest before starting her engagements in America.

Richard Buhlig in Piano Recital.

Richard Buhlig last evening gave the fourth of his seven piano recitals in an all-season series at Aeolian Hall, in which he has attracted serious interest and discussion—a task of large proportions in the survey of classic music, and not least so on this occasion, when Beethoven filled the program with three sonatas, following the thirty-two "Variations" in C minor. The sonatas were the "Moonlight," so called, otherwise Op. 27, No. 2, in C sharp minor; that in E major, Op. 109, and the "Hammerklavier" sonata in B flat, Op. 106.

Rabaud's "Marouf" Sung Again.

Rabaud's "Marouf" was repeated at the Metropolitan last evening, the cast including Mmes. Alda and Howard, Messrs. De Luca, Rothier, and others, and Mr. Wolff conducting.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Forbidden" will end its engagement at the Manhattan Opera House tonight.

Rehearsals of "The Cat Bird," with John Drew as its star, have been begun by Arthur Hopkins.

"Nightie Night" will end its run at the Princess Theatre on Jan. 17.

Marie Carroll will play the leading role in "My Golden Girl," now on the road.

"Every Little Thing," a farce by Wilson Collison, has been played in rehearsal by Arthur Klein. The cast includes Arthur Aylesworth, Frederick Ozab, William H. Powell and others.

Arthur E. Hohl will play the principal role in "The Power of Darkness," opening at the Garrick on Jan. 17.

AUTO SHOW OPENS THIS AFTERNOON

NEW MAKES IN HOTELS

Event to Continue Next Week from 10 A. M. to 11 P. M., and Close Saturday Night.

New York's annual automobile show will be opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock with a larger variety of distinct types of motor vehicles than ever has been brought together in a national exhibition. For the first time in the history of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the show is held, passenger cars and commercial motor vehicles will be exhibited during the same week. The passenger cars will be in Grand Central Palace, Lexington Avenue, Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Streets, while the trucks and smaller commercial vehicles will be displayed in the Eighth Coast Artillery Armory, at Jerome Avenue and 194th Street, Bronx Borough.

It has been two years since a national show has been held in New York. The return of the big national motor event this season will be signalized by exhibitions of their latest passenger car models by eighty-four different makers, several of whom are appearing in New York for the first time. Three new makes will have special exhibits in two hotels. At the Hotel Commodore will be the eight-cylinder Lafayette car, made in Indianapolis, and the Argonne, a new high-powered four-cylinder car. In the Astor Hotel lobby will be the new four-cylinder H. C. S. special designed by Harry C. Stutz.

The eighty-four makes of cars in the Palace will represent a display of more than 350 open and closed models. Nearly every exhibitor will show from four to five cars. More than half of them will exhibit a finely polished chassis, affording the motor student of mechanical construction an opportunity of observing every intricate detail in the engine, brakes, springs, transmission, ignition, and other important elements in the efficiency and operation of a motor vehicle. Six-cylinder cars will predominate. In this type several new features will be seen. There will also be many popular medium-priced four-cylinder cars, of which some new arrivals will add to the general interest of the show. The usual number of eight cylinders will be seen. The twelve-cylinder types will be limited to two or three makes. More than 250 makes of accessories will have exhibits. Sixty-nine different motor truck makers will show utility vehicles, ranging from the light half-ton delivery cart to the big five and seven ton motor transport trucks in the Bronx Armory, which is the largest building of its kind in the country, having a floor space 600 feet long by 300 feet wide. In connection with the truck show a conference on highway transport subjects has been arranged, with sessions every afternoon next week.

The conference will be opened tonight at the armory with addresses by Robert Lee Bullard and General David S. Shanks on motor transportation.

The show will continue next week in both buildings, being open every day from 10 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night, closing on Saturday.

RIP VAN WINKLE IN OPERA.

Chicago Company Gives First Performance of De Koven's Work.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—American opera, based on native folk lore and sung in English, was presented for the first time here tonight when the Chicago Opera Company produced Reginald De Koven's "Rip Van Winkle." The libretto is by Percy Mackaye.

The presentation marked the fruition of plans by Cliofonte Campanini for opera that would be understood by the American public, but the maestro did not live to see his dream come true.

In his music Mr. De Koven has introduced grand opera fashioned on light opera lines, with several tuneful melodies.

Mr. Mackaye has treated the familiar legend of the Catskills with poetic license, and has eliminated the famous dog, Iowa, for which was the feature of Joseph Jefferson's drama. Love interest is furnished through the introduction of a new character, Peterkee, whom Rip eventually marries. A magic flask belonging to Hendrick Hudson, the contents of which restore Rip and Peterkee to youth, is another new phase.

Church Notices on Page Twenty-three.

A PHILHARMONIC NOVELTY.

Fibich's Overture to Comedy, "A Night at Karluv Tyn," a Revel.

The Philharmonic Society at its matinée in Carnegie Hall yesterday brought forward a novelty, Fibich's overture to the comedy, "A Night at Karluv Tyn," or "Charles's Castle," built by Charles IV., King of Bohemia and Roman Emperor, and—"O Tempora, O Mores!"—for purposes of this comedy, visited by his Queen disguised as a page at a stag party.

A Bohemia, this, with a difference; warning horns bid proletariat and Prohibitionists be off, and there is a love melody as the Page is discovered—"Gentlemen, the Queen!" The music, by a countryman of Conductor Stransky, was no weighty matter; a revel, and as such aptly chosen for the orchestra's first matinée of the new year.

Rosita Renard, the Chilean pianist who has been heard in recital, made her first appearance with a New York orchestra on this occasion, playing Brahms's Concerto in D Minor. She is a musician of promise, sent to Europe by the Government of Chile, and has gained self-confidence as an artist since her début here. The concert concluded with familiar matter, the "Manfred" symphony of Tschaikowsky.

Guy Maier Plays Music for Young.

Guy Maier, never content with one piano, used to give concerts for two pianos with his partner, Patterson, before his army days; yesterday in Aeolian Hall, Mr. Maier played alone, a concert of music for young people, and prefaced his pieces with brief talks. In particular, Debussy's "Toy Box" ballet, "La Boîte a Joujoux," was said never to have been heard in this city. There were others of MacDowell and Hill, well played, and little pieces from Bach to Poldini, Paul Juon and Leschetizky.

HOUSE ENTERTAINS GREY.

Colonel is Host at Dinner to Returning British Ambassador.

Colonel and Mrs. Edward M. House entertained at dinner Thursday night at the Old Colony Club in honor of Viscount Grey, British Ambassador, who is returning to London. There were about fifty guests, among them a number of former diplomats, prominent educators and others well known in public life. Colonel House said last night that the affair was of a purely social nature and that he did not care to give out a list of his guests.

In some quarters interest was excited by the fact that Viscount Grey, who was unable to see President Wilson during his stay in this country, because of the President's illness, should have been entertained just before his departure by Colonel House. The incident gave rise to some speculation because of stories, invariably denied, that the President had broken with his former chief diplomatic adviser, Colonel House and the Viscount had met before on frequent occasions.

Host to Viscount Grey.

Cecil Roberts, English Poet, Here.

Cecil Roberts, the English poet, arrived here yesterday to deliver a series of lectures under the management of the Lee Keedick Bureau. Two of his subjects will be "A Poet With the Fleet" and "Through Eyes of Youth."

FOR A TOPPY, TASTY BREAKFAST
that puts you on your toes, mentally and physically: Heat two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven (to restore their crispness); pour hot milk over them; salt or sweeten to suit the taste. If you don't like milk pour hot water over the Biscuits, drain off the water, place a small bit of butter on each. The tasty goodness of the baked whole wheat is a joy to the palate and supplies all the nutriment needed for a half day's work.

ALLOTS $8,000,000 FOR NEW SCHOOLS

TO CONTINUE OLD POLICY

Will Provide Seats for Elementary Pupils Before Serving Needs of High Schools.

At the first meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to be attended by the new President of the Board of Aldermen, F. H. LaGuardia, and President of the Borough of Manhattan, Henry H. Curran, the main business was the passing of an $8,000,000 appropriation for new school buildings, thus completing the $25,000,000 three-year program. Last Tuesday $7,000,000 was appropriated, and a year ago $10,000,000.

President Curran asked that the matter be laid over for a week, as he had just received the long report by the Controller upon which the program was based, but when the urgency of action was explained to him, both he and President LaGuardia voted in the affirmative, reserving, however, the right not to be bound by the sites as presented in the report. Although a plea for a new building for the Julia Richman High School was made by Commissioner Veska, the board decided that its policy would be to provide a seat for every elementary school child before serving the needs of the high school children.

The question of building high schools with the elementary schools came up, and Commissioner Yeska told the board that within twelve months the board would build enough elementary schools to give every child in the city a seat, and that then they would have no place for the children who wanted a higher education.

The Controller called attention to the fact that in some schools there were empty seats, while in others there were not seats enough and the children were on half time. Commissioner Yeska admitted that he did not know that such a condition existed, and promised to look into the matter.

Chicago Manufacturers Urge 5½ Per Cent. for Five Years.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Legislation which will enable railroads to earn 5½ per cent. net on invested capital for the next five years was urged today at a meeting of manufacturers' representatives in the Union League Club.

A sub-committee to incorporate the recommendations of the meeting into a message to Congress was appointed. It was instructed to urge the following:

That the rate rule as provided in the Cummins bill provide for net operating income of not less than 5½ per cent. in each of three groups of classification territory for a period not exceeding five years.

The meeting was called at the instance of the Railroad Legislation Committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. The conferees were unanimous that the roads must get enough revenue to support themselves and to establish credit.

CITY COAL SUPPLY GROWS.

Bituminous and Anthracite Receipts 40 and 20 Per Cent. Below Normal.

While the coal supply of the city is still below normal, it is gradually approaching that point, A. T. Hardin, Regional Director of Railroads, said yesterday at his office in the Grand Central Terminal. He stated also that Dec. 26 set the low record mark for the receipt of bituminous coal at the New York coal ports. On that day only ninety carloads were received.

At the present time, Mr. Hardin said, the bituminous supply is only 40 per cent. below normal and the anthracite supply only 20 per cent. below what it should be. As illustrating normal, Mr. Hardin gave the figures for carload shipments on Sept. 9 and 24. On the former date 1,178 cars of anthracite and 1,194 cars of bituminous coal were received at the terminals. On Sept. 29 840 cars of anthracite and 1,073 cars of bituminous coal were received. On Dec. 29 831 cars of anthracite and 691 cars of bituminous coal were received. The figures for the next day were 831 cars of anthracite and 695 cars of bituminous coal.

COPPER GOING TO GERMANY.

Large Shipments Account for Heavy Business Done by Companies Here.

Large quantities of copper are going into Germany, this in part accounting for the heavy business which the copper companies have been doing during the last month. There seems to be some mystery as to just how Germany is arranging the credits, for the payments here are in dollars. It is believed that the credits recently advanced by both Great Britain and Holland are being used in part to buy dollar credits here. The copper, it is understood, is being cleared through Rotterdam. Two reasons may account for this, one the congestion at certain of the German ports, including Hamburg, and the other a desire to feed the copper more directly into Western Germany. The lack of rail facilities at the German ports has made distribution of any imports difficult.

Most of the copper that has gone to Germany has been shipped through the Copper Export Association, but no figures are available as to the actual number of pounds. A man prominent in the industry said yesterday that the shipments had been substantial. Germany, it is said, is planning to expand its manufacture of electrical appliances and copper is the raw material most needed in such a project.

RECORD YEAR FOR MINTS.

Made 838,911,195 Coins for United States and Foreign Countries.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Establishing a new record, mints of the United States during 1919 produced 838,911,195 coins for this and foreign Governments, Director Baker announced today. The production in 1918 was 598,000,000.

The total number of coins of American money produced was 738,642,000, valued at $20,777,000, including 3,679,000 half dollars, 15,104,000 quarters, 54,529,000 dimes, 76,395,000 five-cent pieces and 588,935,000 pennies.

Coinage in foreign denominations included 9,440,000 pieces for the Philippines; 10,000,000 pieces for Siam; 3,000,000 pieces for Salvador; 850,000 for Nicaragua; 3,200,000 for Venezuela, and 20,750,000 for Peru.

Detzer Closes His Testimony.

Captain Karl W. Detzer, who is before a general court-martial on Governors Island, charged with cruelty to prisoners at Le Mans, France, concluded direct testimony in his own behalf yesterday.

Asked by Lieutenant Thomas L. Heffernan, counsel for the defense, if he knew the origin of the case against him, after several minutes of hesitation Captain Detzer replied that he did not.

The defendant related his experiences while a prisoner in stockades in France, where he was confined with enlisted men. He told the Court that other prisoners jeered at him and counted his steps as he passed.

MAKE I. C. C. SUPREME ON RAILROAD RATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—An agreement to give the Interstate Commerce Commission supreme authority in fixing railroad rates, with power to suspend and annul rate orders of State Commissions, was reached today by the Senate and House conferees in considering the Esch-Cummins Railroad Reorganization bills.

The commission, under the agreement, would be authorized to substitute its findings and rate orders for those of State Commissions when the latter gave an unfair advantage to or discriminated against interstate commerce.

The agreement provides for little change in the existing law, but more definitely establishes the supreme rate-making power of the commission and is designed to remove doubt, raised in several cases before the Supreme Court, as to the authority of the commission over local or intrastate rates which conflict with interstate tariffs. The power of State Railway Commissions, however, would not be hampered nor encroached upon by the Federal commission in the making of intrastate rates if such did not prejudice or discriminate against interests outside of the State or interfere with interstate commerce.

The agreement, Chairman Cummins announced tonight, provides for the adoption of the Senate bill's provisions. The House plan of authorizing the Federal commission to suspend State rates if such placed an "undue burden" upon interstate commerce, was believed to involve conferring on the commission power to supervise all State rates.

LEWIS SAYS OPERATORS SEEK TO BREAK UNIONS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 2.—John L. Lewis, Acting President of the United Mine Workers of America, said today that he had reports of operators of mines in the bituminous fields discharging workmen with a view of breaking up the unions.

The action of some of the operators is regarded by the miners as bad faith, Mr. Lewis said, because under the agreement with the Federal Government by which the miners returned to work, the status of Oct. 31, the day before the strike, was to obtain.

Mr. Lewis will go to Columbus, Ohio, tomorrow to attend the reconvened convention of the United Mine Workers next week.

NEW HEAD FOR THE B. R. T.

Menden Succeeds to Williams's Duties—Maher Quits Third Av. Line.

William S. Mender, connected with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company for many years, was appointed General Manager yesterday by Lindley M. Garrison, the receiver. He will do the work recently entrusted to Timothy S. Williams, who has resigned as President.

Colonel A. R. Piper becomes Assistant General Manager in control of the employment, welfare and medical bureaus; A. J. Coddell, Mr. Williams's secretary, will be assistant to the General Manager, Charles S. Crabbs is promoted to be Chief Manager of Ways and Structures, in charge of all construction, with H. J. Kolb as assistant.

Edward A. Maher, Jr., Vice President of the Third Avenue Railway Company, resigned to practice law. In December, 1913, Mr. Maher became Vice President to assist his father, who was then Vice President and General Manager, and later President of the company.

AUTO FATALITIES INCREASE.

Numbered 1,270 Last Year, and Col. Cornell Favors Stringent Laws.

Automobile accidents during the year 1919 caused the deaths of 1,270 persons in New York State, of whom 783 were killed in New York City, according to the annual report of the National Highway Protective Society. Compared with automobile accidents for 1918 these figures show an increase of 46 fatalities in New York State and of 35 deaths in New York City.

Unless the Assembly at Albany revises its automobile laws this Winter, said Colonel Edward S. Cornell, Secretary of the National Highway Protective Society, and provides for the licensing of all operators of automobiles throughout the State only after thorough investigation of the applicants' character and ability to drive, fatalities from automobile accidents are bound to increase.

HOPES TO ORGANIZE WOMEN

Miss Vale Will Try Again to Form Democratic Union.

A further effort to unite all the Democratic women of the country into one partisan, non-factional organization is to be made next week, according to announcement yesterday by Miss Margaret Vale. Miss Vale drafted the original plan which resulted in disagreement when it was presented a week ago to representative Democratic women at a meeting in the New York Women's Democratic Club.

Miss Vale said that the difficulties and misunderstandings were in a fair way to be ironed out and that not only will organization be perfected, but it is hoped that plans will be carried forward for a woman's Democratic national convention to be held in this city coincident with the national party convention next Summer.

ENTER MILLION-DOLLAR SUIT

73 Stockholders Name 7 Directors of Olympian Motors as Defendants.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Jan. 2.—Seven officers and Directors of the Olympian Motors Company of Pontiac are named as defendants in a damage suit for $1,000,000 filed in the Federal Court by Paul Weadock of Detroit, attorney for seventy-three complaining stockholders.

The complaint alleges that, in violation of the laws of Michigan and the rights of 4,000 stockholders, the defendants caused to be organized an enterprise known as the C. E. Callender Company, and that sums paid from the treasury of the Olympian Motors Company were in turn divided between St. Clair Couzens, C. E. Callender and others, it is said.

GOVERNOR SAVES SLAYER.

Orders Miguerltch Mihiterian Sent to Insane Hospital.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Warden Daniel J. Grant of Sing Sing announced today that Governor Smith, acting on advice of alienists, had commuted the death sentence of Miguerltch Mihiterian, and had ordered the prisoner taken to the Dannemora Hospital for the Insane. Mihiterian was sent to the death house for killing Gulabi Gulbenkian, a rug dealer, and his nephew, Seropi Gulgenkian, at 225 Fifth Avenue.

The Governor also commuted the sentences of George Rapelye, convicted in Queens County for grand larceny; Terence Riley of New York County for burglary, and James Murray of New York County for robbery. They will be released the day the Parole Board convenes this month.

TO SUE OPPONENTS OF MOTHER CHURCH

3,000 ATTEND A MEETING

Trustees of the Church Publishing House Will Be Attacked in Legal Proceedings.

By an almost unanimous vote, members of Christian Science churches of New York passed resolutions last night at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Ninety-sixth Street and Central Park West, calling upon churches of the same faith in New York State to take steps to support the Directors of the Mother Church in Boston in its fight against the Trustees of the Church publishing house. Such steps, the resolutions state, may be either legal or otherwise at the discretion of the State delegates.

This is the answer of the New York branch of the Chrisian Science Church to the Boston opponents of the Mother Church, founded by Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy. The publishing house, Scientists state, was established for the benefit of Christian Science churches and societies, and its profits are one of the sources of revenue for these organizations. Several weeks ago the Trustees of the publishing house obtained a temporary injunction in the Massachusetts courts restraining the Directors of the Mother Church from interfering in the conduct of the publishing business established by Mrs. Eddy. Once, it is said, the Directors of the Mother Church were found guilty of violating the injunction and were fined.

With a temporary injunction issued, the whole case has been brought for hearing before a master appointed by the Massachusetts Supreme Court, who has made a report which is not yet public. In the meantime, Christian Science churches are contemplating cutting off all relations with the publishing house.

Last night 3,000 members of the twenty-four churches and societies of Greater New York met in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, to discuss the advisability of supporting the Mother Church. The meeting was held behind closed doors, none, not even from the Mother Church, but New York members being admitted. B. F. Bailey of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, presided.

Martin Jackson, a former chaplain in the A. E. F., submitted the resolutions condemning the publishing society. The meeting was described as harmonious, despite the objections made by several members before the session that such a step as was contemplated would be suicidal for the faith. While some opposition was expected, little material..ed, it was said, and the resolutions were adopted with but twenty or thirty dissenting voices.

The resolutions request all the Christian churches and societies in the State to appoint one delegate each to attend a meeting here to decide upon measures to be taken against the publishing society.

It is said that there are 112 Christian Science churches or societies in New York State. Just what action will be taken by their delegates, who, it is expected, will meet within two weeks, is not stated officially, but it is thought by some members of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, that one of the first actions of the meeting will be the selection of a legal committee to institute proceedings in equity in the Federal courts against the Trustees of the publishing company in behalf of the Directors of the Mother Church.

WOMAN SUCCEEDS CURRAN.

Mrs. Jean H. Norris Receives Permanent Appointment as Magistrate.

Mayor Hylan yesterday appointed Mrs. Jean H. Norris a City Magistrate, to succeed Magistrate Henry H. Curran, the new President of the Borough of Manhattan. Magistrate Norris has been acting under a thirty-day appointment for the last two months and has been assigned to the Domestic Relations Court. She now takes an unexpired term, ending April 30, 1927. The salary is $8,000 a year.

The Mayor also appointed Jesse D. Silbermann of 426 East 140th Street as a thirty-day Magistrate to take the place of Magistrate Norris. Miss Rose Pedrick, who was Secretary to Governor Smith and later to Robert L. Moran when they served as President of the Board of Aldermen, was yesterday appointed Secretary to Daniel L. Ryan, Deputy Commissioner of Transit Construction in the Public Service Commission. The salary is $3,000 a year.

$10,000 JOB FOR MORAN.

Former Aldermanic President Made Bronx County Clerk.

Robert L. Moran, who was defeated for re-election as President of the Aldermanic Board, will succeed Joseph M. Callahan, elected a Justice of the City Court, as County Clerk of the Bronx. In his new position Mr. Moran will receive a salary of $10,000 a year, $2,500 more than that of President of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Moran received word last night that Governor Smith had decided to appoint him, with the understanding that he should become a candidate for County Clerk in the election next Fall to fill the office for the remaining year of the four-year term for which Mr. Callahan was elected.

ICE CONTRACT REVEALED.

Fidelio Brewery's Product Controlled by Knickerbocker Company.

The Joint Legislative Committee of which Senator Lockwood is Chairman brought to light an agreement by the Fidelio Brewing Company of First Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street to sell all the ice manufactured at its plant to the Knickerbocker Ice Company at 24¾ cents a cake of 300 pounds. The contract was made in 1916 for five years. Production was stopped in 1918, the reason assigned being to "help in the war."

The contract was modified in 1917 for a payment to the Fidelio Company of $2 a ton for ice instead of $500 a month.

Education Notes.

The course of lectures offered by the Teachers' Interests Organization in co-operation with the City College will open on Jan. 5, at 4 P. M., at the Manhattan Trade School, Twenty-second Street and Lexington Avenue. The schedule for the first week is as follows: Jan. 5, "Comparative Contemporary Literature," Professor Coleman; Tuesday and Friday, "Criticism and and Appreciation of Poetry," Dr. Newmann; Wednesday, "Teacher Representation," Dr. Ettinger; Thursday, "Bookkeeping and Accounting," Professor Jason; Saturday, "Geography and Science," at Washington Irving High School, 10 A. M., Mr. Ammerman.

The school of lip reading for hard of hearing adults will reopen on next Monday evening in Room 312 of P. S. 93, Amsterdam Avenue and Twenty-third Street.

The class in "Principles of Accountancy" of the Washington Heights Evening High School, 145th Street, near Broadway, will meet for the first session of the new term on Jan. 6 at 7:45 P. M. Bookkeepers, accountants, and teachers, and any one else interested are invited to register any evening.

The New York Evening High School for Women, 40 Irving Place, will resume its sessions at 7:30 P. M. on Jan. 5.

Teachers will not receive their December checks, it is said, until the second week in January.

The new Bronx School, No. 59, will cost about $5¼,000 to erect.

Mrs. Edna M. Bryant, President of the Progressive Elementary Teachers' Association, says that there are a number of things that hinder efficient work in the classroom. Among these things, she says, are an overcrowded course of study, unnecessary police work by teachers, inadequate pay, and a feeling of resentment toward supervision. Some Principals, she declares, by sheer force of personality, win the esteem, confidence, and co-operation of both pupils and teachers, while others, lacking this strong personality, resort to autocracy to bolster up their lack of ability. Autocracy, she asserts, kills the spirit of co-operation in both teachers and pupils. What is needed in public schools, she maintains, is a change of heart, not a change of system. Her association, she says, is working for harmony now obtained a temporary injunction in the Massachusetts courts restraining the Directors of the Mother Church from interfering in the conduct of the publishing business established by Mrs. Eddy. Once, it is said, the Directors of the Mother Church were found guilty of violating the injunction and were fined.

With a temporary injunction issued, the whole case has been brought for hearing before a master appointed by the Massachusetts Supreme Court, who has made a report which is not yet public. THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The weather has become much colder throughout the Atlantic States and severe cold continues in the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Valleys and the region of the Great Lakes. Temperature has risen over the Far Nortnwest, and moderate temperature pressure in all Far Western and Southwestern regions.

During Friday freezing temperature occurred as far South as the Gulf States, and temperatures were below zero in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern Michigan, Eastern Iowa, Northern Illinois, extreme northern New York and north Vermont.

Within the las; twenty-four hours there were light local snows in the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio and Missouri Valleys and rains in the Florida Peninsula. Fair weather prevails in other parts of the country.

The outlook is for fair weather Saturday and Sunday, generally east of the Mississippi River, except that snow flurries are probably in the Upper Lake region.

The temperature will be considerably lower Saturday throughout the Atlantic States. The temperature will rise Saturday and Sunday in the upper lake region and the lower Ohio Valley, and Sunday in Tennessee, the upper Ohio Valley, the lower lakes region, and the Middle Atlantic States.

FORECAST TODAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey—Fair and colder Saturday; Sunday fair, slowly rising temperature.

Western Pennsylvania, Western New York—Fair and continued cold Saturday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks and Liberty Bonds Display Vigor in Their Rise—Money Rates Easy.

A strong tone of stock market quotations yesterday morning grew stronger when it became clear that easement was under way in the money market. Prior to the announcement of the renewal rate of 15 per cent. for demand loans, the industrial list had moved forward gradually, but was inclined to become dull and steady around the maximum levels of 11 o'clock. Later, as supplies of funds increased the rise of stocks appeared to bear a direct relation to the decline of money to 6 per cent., the rate it commanded at the close of business. There were gains among manufacturing and oil stocks, which reached as high as 4 to more than points. The quality of buying had the earmarks of considerable accumulation for the long account, in addition to short covering. Really sharp advances of Liberty bonds and Victory notes lend a tone of relief from the selling pressure of the last fortnight coincident with continued acquisition of bonds by institutions.

Cheerful comment over the market outlook was heard in the commission houses, although the chief basis of it seemed to be the theory that with money easier speculation would be stimulated more in an artificial way than because of positive economic influences. The New Year opened under auspices quite different from those of early 1919. A year ago traders were doubtful of the industrial prospect, and in January discussion of a program to continue the railroads under Government domination for several years acted to disturb general market sentiment. It may be that traders will discover shortly that other factors are to be considered than a natural reaction in credit conditions. Since the Edge law was enacted it has been noticeable that discussion of foreign credit possibilities has become intensified in banking quarters. The feeling is growing more pronounced that unless means for buying goods in this country are put at the disposal of buyers the export movement is likely to display a declining tendency by Spring. Amid the comment on foreign credits the impression is to be found, however, that constructive plans are not coming to light and the extravagant theories heard in the last few days about great credits in the offing are belittled by bankers whose knowledge of the situation should be complete.

The decline of the call loan rate occurred practically on scheduled time, denoting the passing of the year-end strain. The Street expects to see moderate quotations for some time, and the thought prevails that a sizable amount of new financing will be put through in the next few weeks. Large unfilled orders on the books of many industrial corporations suggests an expansion of the demand for working capital, through the sale of securities and by means of bank loans. The application of such a movement upon the loan account is obvious and the high yields which good exisiting securities return indicate that new flotations must present unusual attraction to investors.

Foreign exchange rates advanced, sterling pointing the way. The recovery in this market was also a reflection of the advance of annual settlements at the various centres of finance. As in case of stocks, the first day of the year indicated nothing of what might happen a little later, for there are weighty problems to be studied in this field, of a kind to be molded by the ability of the foreign countries to obtain raw materials and extend their exports of manufactured goods.

ASK FAIR RAILWAY RETURNS.

Insufficient Dividends Blamed for Transportation Difficulties.

In referring to the failure of railroad facilities in the United States to keep pace with the growing transportation requirements, the insufficient return on capital investment in the rails is mentioned as the leading reason for present conditions in the January letter of the Mechanics & Metals National Bank. The letter says in part:

"What is really to the point in the matter of income return is not what the law thinks reasonable, but what the prospective investor thinks reasonable. The law can keep the investor from getting a large return; it cannot compel him to invest. After all, what constitutes a fair return is not a question of opinion but a question of fact. We must consider or investigate the returns that capital is getting in other lines and what they average, for only by knowing this can we know what return will be sufficient to attract capital to the railroads.

"The 'fair return' dare not be rigid, a figure drawn from the inner consciousness of Government officials, but should vary as the returns in general business vary. For the capital already in the railroads it might be thought that legislators could fix any return they chose, so long as it was something more than operating expenses, because capital already in cannot escape; and any return, no matter how low, is better than no return at all. But if old capital is not treated fairly, new capital will not come in. We must be fair to capital already invested, if not for the sake of justice itself then for the sake of the effect of fairness or the lack of it on the investors we seek to attract."

D., M. & N. Earnings Decreased.

The annual report of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway Company for 1918 showed net corporate income, after deduction of Federal charges and taxes, amounting to $3,473,435. This was equivalent to $84.43 a share earned on the $4,112,500 capital stock, as compared with $116.98 a share earned on the same stock in the preceding year. The road was one of those which did not enter into a compensation contract with the Railroad Administration.

Fisher Body Corporation Dividend.

The Fisher Body Corporation has declared an initial dividend of $2.50 a share on the common stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred, both payable Feb. 2 to holders of record Jan. 15.

LIQUIDATION RUMOR IS DENIED BY BAYNE

Chairman of Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Says No Plans Have Been Made.

HURT BY FEDERAL CONTROL

Hoped That New Legislation May Relieve Situation After Road Is Returned.

Howard Bayne, Vice President of the Columbia Trust Company and Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway Company, commenting on the report that security holders had started a movement to liquidate the company, said:

"No definite plans have been made to that end. The railroad underwent a drastic reorganization in 1916 and the entire bonded debt including more than $14,000,000 first mortgage bonds, and more than $2,400,000 Alabama Terminal Company first mortgage bonds, together with all the stock, were wiped out. At the same time the security holders paid in $3,600,000 cash. There only remains a small underlying bond issue amounting to approximately $4,000,000, which is still outstanding, and $5,000,000 receiver's certificates which were exchanged for 5 per cent. income bonds, which are still outstanding. The capital stock amounts to $30,000,000.

"The railroad, therefore, has a comparatively small amount of bonds outstanding and a large amount of common stocks. It had started construction of an extension to Jacksonville, but this was interrupted by the Government control of railroads. The road was earning its fixed charges, income bond interest, and a small amount on the common stock at the beginning of Federal control.

"The railroad has been under a great disadvantage on account of the unfair division of rates allowed to it by other railroads on traffic coming to it and passing to other carriers. It is a comparatively heavy traffic line, having a greater freight density than the other railroads in its territory, but the average ton-mile rate, due to the unfavorable division of rates, is so low that with the recent increased cost of operation it has lost money during the period of Federal control."

Mr. Bayne said that liquidation of the property might produce considerably more than the market value of its securities, but that it was hoped that new railway legislation, particularly with regard to the division of rates and increased rates in general, would make the road profitable to operate.

Unless some provision is made providing the company with sufficient funds to meet its payrolls and other expenses in the period following the termination of Federal control, liquidation may have to be resorted to.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR STEEL.

Railroads Embarrassed and Output Shows Little Sign of Increase.

Future bookings are so heavy in the iron and steel industry that the taking of new business in some lines will be precluded for many weeks, according to The Iron Age in its weekly review of conditions.

The publication says:

"Our summary shows that nine new open-hearth furnaces were completed in 1919, capable of producing 623,000 tons a year. Today twenty-two are under construction, with annual capacity of 875,000 tons. In the four war years beginning Jan. 1, 1915, no less than 14,000,000 tons was added to the country's open-hearth steel capacity by new construction.

"Though for several years new pig-iron capacity has not been built to keep pace with the increase in steel plant, only two blast furnaces were completed in 1919 and only four, with total annual capacity of 700,000 tons, are now under construction.

"With so little prospect of increased output from rolling mills, the expected demand for steel from the railroads raises a problem, as the mills will scarcely put aside orders long on their books to give the railroads the early deliveries many of them will want."

Bank to Pay Interest on Deposits.

It was announced yesterday that the Importers and Traders National Bank has adopted a policy of paying interest on individual and mercantile deposits. This is one of the last of the larger banks to allow interest on such deposits, most of the other banks having altered the old practice of allowing no interest several years ago.

LOOKS FOR LOWER PRICES.

City Bank Says Decline Will Follow Diminishing Exports.

There will be a turn in prices as our exports to Europe begin to diminish, according to the National City Bank in its January circular letter, and, while this time may not be very near, nevertheless it will be well for our business men and labor leaders to take account of this coming change in formulating their policies. Discussing the outlook, the circular says, in part:

"Assuming that order is preserved in Europe this Winter, by the help of supplies of food and such materials as are necessary to the employment of the people, production will be gradually resumed, the demands upon the United States will take the form of regular trade, and prices there and here will be readjusted to a normal basis. The present exchange rates will stimulate exports from Europe to this country as soon as goods are available for shipment, and will certainly have an effect upon prices and industrial conditions here. Such raw materials as cotton and copper will be taken from us in larger quantities than now, but the products of Europe will be competing with us in all markets, including our own. A turn of prices will come as Europe begins to take less from us and to export in increasing quantities to all markets, including our own. Our business men and leaders of industry among both employers and labor leaders should be prepared to adjust their policies to the new conditions as they develop."

NEW MOTORS PLAN ASSURED

The recapitalization plan of the General Motors Company could not be ratified at the meeting on Dec. 30 because there were not sufficient proxies from the holders of the 6 per cent. debentures. The common and preferred stockholders voted for the plan in excess of the 50 per cent. requirement. It is provided, however, that 75 per cent. of the debenture holders must ratify the plan. This stock is widely distributed, and the proxies could not be gathered in quickly.

It is said that the proxies now in hand, however, are sufficient to assure ratification oh Jan. 5, when another meeting will be held. Among other things, the plan of recapitalization provides for an exchange of common stock for new shares on the basis of ten of new for one of the old.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Money Easier.

The call money market at the opening stood at 15 per cent., with renewals made at that figure, but in the afternoon there was a decided change in the tone of the market and the rate fell to around 6 per cent. The time money market, however, remained firm at about the recent high levels, which range anywhere from 7 per cent. to 9 per cent. But at that, there were evidences that the worst of the strain had passed and in banking circles there was a disposition to look for an easier state of affairs from now on.

U. S. Steel Earnings.

There is a high degree of curiosity regarding the earnings which the United States Steel Corporation will show for the final quarter of last year. It was during this period that the company faced the steel strike and, following that, the coal strike, both of which interfered with operations. October took the brunt of the steel strike and low earnings, it is expected, will be reported for that month. It was the estimate of one man yesterday that the full quarter earnings would be in the neighborhood of $31,500,000, this comparing with $40,177,232 in the September quarter. This would provide an excess after all charges of from 1-3 to ¾ per cent. above the quarterly dividend requirements. These figures, of course, are based on the presumption that tax allowances will be relatively the same as those of preceding quarters.

The Big Speculators.

There has been a theory for several weeks that the turn into 1920 would find the stock market deluged with selling by the big operators who up to that time had been unable to take profits because of the heavy toll that the Government tax would command. The idea was shattered insofar as yesterday was concerned. The strength of the market might almost imply that the big speculators had decided that it was better to take profits while they existed in 1919 rather than wait for the lower taxes of the new year. At any rate the market moved forward buoyantly with few if any issues pressed for sale. Some liquidation of the kind mentioned may come into the market later but to those who watched the tape yesterday it appeared that the danger had been much exaggerated.

Record Bank Clearings.

Yesterday, the first business day of the new year, witnessed a new high record in local bank clearings. The new record, $1,385,807,181, was only about $1,200,000 ahead of the previous high record, which was $1,384,614,056, made on Dec. 16, but it was a new high, nevertheless, and unless there is an unusual and altogether unexpected strain later in the year; for example, on one of the tax-due dates, it is likely to stand as a record for some time to come. Balances at the Clearing House amounted to $122,635,043, while the Federal Reserve Bank had a credit of $111,333,824. All of these figures show graphically just what an enormous turnover there was at the end of the year and do much toward explaining the reasons for the high money rates which have been obtaining for the last few days.

Exchanges Strong.

One might argue from the fact that the foreign exchange market went up yesterday that there "is something" in the fantastic story of a gigantic loan to England. Or, if the other angle were desired, it could be pointed out that a rise of several cents in the rate for sterling was a refutation of the tale of bankruptcy and dire calamity abroad which some people seem to believe. As a matter of fact, the explanation of the dealers—and the dealers sometime know what is going on in their own market—was that the volume of business had fallen off considerably, with a greatly reduced flow of offerings, due almost entirely to the passing of the period for the year-end settlement.

Liberties Advance.

Liberty bonds were in better demand—or in less supply—and some of the issues scored fairly notable advances. The market, thanks to the calendar, is now free from "tax selling," and is getting back to a more normal basis, and with the technical position freed from its artificial handicap of the last two months, there is the prospect of a substantial further rise; at least, bondmen feel that there is, for, they contend, the present investment basis of all of the war bonds is such that it should prove extrmely attractive to investors, both individual and corporate.

Bank of England.

Yesterday's weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a condition which surely would have been alarming were it not for the universal belief that the situation was due entirely to the year-end settlements and that it will be considerably improved next week. The proportion of reserve to liabilities was down to 9.20 per cent., the lowest it has been at any time during the war period and, in fact, the lowest in more than fifty years. Both exchequer and private loans increased, the former by £23,794,000 and the latter by £21,598,000, while private deposits rose £47,277,000, against a contraction of only £1,125,000 in Government deposits.

Dividends and Interest $398,652,905.

A total of $308,652,905 in dividends and interest charges will be paid during this month, according to compilations of The Journal of Commerce. The payments will be made by railroad, industrial, and traction corporations, Greater New York, and the National Government. In the corresponding month of 1918 the total was $355,117,096.

Rail Shares Recover.

Those who had looked for a substantial rally by the railroad stocks on the first business day of the new year, on the theory that the elimination of sales for income tax purposes would relieve the bulk of the pressure on those issues, were not entirely disappointed, as there were several net gains of from 1 to 3 points. In the main, however, the advance was fractional, with such issues as Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Reading remaining at about the same levels throughout the session.

Gas Shares Improve.

Consolidated Gas was easily the leader in this group, closing for the day with a net gain of more than 3 points. This was based apparently on the rumors that the Directors would act favorably on the dividend at their approaching meeting. Brooklyn Union Gas was also firm, the shares moving into substantially higher ground on a comparatively light turnover. The recent ruling of the courts in favor of Bronx gas companies as regarding the 80 cents gas rate, continues to be somewhat of a factor in the market action of the gas shares.

Shipping Shares Move Up.

The shipping shares moved into higher ground with comparative ease in the first trading session of the new year. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies recorded a substantial gain at the closing, while the Mercantile Marine shares also were fractionally higher and United Fruit gained more than a point. This was in sympathy with the trend in the general list, although sentiment in the shipping world seems to show some degree of improvement with the turn of the year.

November Railroad Earnings.

Of the November railroad earnings so far received by the Interstate Commerce Commission and made public, there are only a few which show improvement. The majority of the statements show a considerable decrease when compared with the figures for the corresponding month in 1918, and this argues ill for the final operating deficit which will be shown for 1919 by the Railroad Administration. The Director General of Railroads attributes the deficit which will be shown for November to the coal strike, which cost the railroads dear. Just what that cost has been is not even estimated now.

PORT'S 1919 TRADE SETS NEW RECORDS

DUTIES WERE $170,787,743

Local Figures Exceed Country's Foreign Trade of $5,333,267,542 in Fiscal Year 1915.

Commerce passing through the Port of New York last year, including both exports and imports, reached the unprecedented total of $5,505,050,124, as compared with a total valuation of $3,811,736,039 in the preceding year. The total for last year compares with an estimated total for the whole country of $11,957,275,375.

Total duties collected at the Port of New York were placed by the Collector at $170,787,743, against collections made at all ports estimated at about $255,000,000, from preliminary figures appearing in the daily Treasury statement. The figures for the commerce passing through the port last year were greater than the foreign trade for the whole country during the fiscal year 1915, when the aggregate of both exports and imports was $5,333,267,542.

The figures showing imports and exports of merchandise at the Port of New York for each of the twelve months of 1919, compared with the months of 1918, are as follows:

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER—Receipts two days, 6,958 packages. All grades of table butter are lower and weak; supplies fairly liberal, but trade is taking hold reasonably well. Creamery, higher than extras, a lb., 68½@69c; extras, 92 score, 68c; firsts, 90 to 91 score, 64@67c; firsts, 88 to 89 score, 60¼@63c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 56@59½c; lower grades, 53@55c; held, higher than extras, 68c; extras, 67@67¼c; firsts, 60@63c; seconds, 56@59c; unsalted, higher than extras, 71@72c; extras, 70@70½c; firsts, 63@69c; seconds, 57@62c; State dairy tubs, finest, 67@68c; good to prime, 60@65c; common to fair, 52@59c; renovated, extras, 58c; firsts' 56@57c; imitation creamery, firsts, 52@53c; ladles, current make, firsts, 50@50½c; seconds, 48@48½c; lower grades, 46@47c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 48c; No. 2, 47c; lower grades, 43@46c.

EGGS—7,094 cases. The fresh-gathered eggs are firmer today, largely under the influence of renewed severe cold weather in producing sections and advices of moderate supplies in transit. Exchange sales were made of firsts at 71@73c, and these prices are fairly well supported on the later trading from store. Storage eggs show little change in the range of values. There is a fair demand and on really choice grade eggs the tone is fairly steady. Quotation of firsts is changed slightly because of a reduction in the grading requirements from now on under the Exchange rules. White eggs are in fair demand and steady. There has been a reduction of the previous accumulations of Pacific Coast stock, and the market shows some firmness in the range of prices quoted. Fresh-gathered, extras, a dozen, 76c; extra firsts, 74@75c; firsts, 71@73c; seconds and poorer, 60@70c; dirties, No. 1, 56@58c; checks, good to choice, dry, 46@48c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, charges paid, 54@56c; firsts, 51@53c; seconds to firsts, on dock, 46@50c; under grades, 30@45c; sterilized, 53@60c; dirties, 35@42c; checks, 35@38c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, extras, 81@82c; firsts to extra firsts, 77@80c; under grades, 72@76c; gathered whites, firsts to extra firsts, 77@80c; pullets, 68@72c; Pacific Coast, whites, express, extra firsts to extras, 80@82c; firsts, 74@77c; pullets, 65@72c; other Western and Southern, gathered whites, 72@77c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby, hennery browns, fancy, 77@79c; gathered brown and mixed colors, graded, fancy, 75@76c; fair to choice, 71@74c.

SEES PERIL IN PATERNALISM

Kingman Robins Says Government Policy Menaces Banking System.

In a communication addressed to the American Bankers Association, Kingman Nott Robins of Rochester, assets that paternalistic tendencies in government have manifested themselves recently in matters of finance as well as in other activities and that government maintained and controlled agencies are to be found today, in the field or proposed, in nearly all of the fields of banking.

"Can any scheme be more un-American?" Mr. Robins asked. "Can any scheme be more disastrous to the welfare of the country—than to substitute a privileged political machine for our present splendid independent banking system?

"That the menace is real and not imaginary can be readily demonstrated by a brief reference to the extension of one form of government subsidy as bestowed on its own instrumentalities to the exclusion of all private agencies—viz., tax exemption."

C. N. CERTIFICATES OFFERED

$7,500,000 Issue for Railway Equipment Pays 6 Per Cent.

William A. Read & Co. are offering an issue of $7,500,000 Canadian Northern Railway Equipment trust 6 per cent. gold certificates, due 1920 to 1929, at prices to yield from 6¼ to 6½ per cent., depending on maturity date.

The Canadian Northern Railway which guarantees the payment of the principal and dividends of the issue, is Government-owned, $100,000,000 of its capital stock having been acquired by the Dominion of Canada which selects its Board of Directors. Under Canadian statutes rentals for railroad equipment rank as a working expenditure and constitute a claim against earnings before both principal and interest of mortgage debt.

The issue is due in twenty semi-annual installments of $375,000 each, the first being due June 1, 1920, and the last Dec. 1, 1929.

SIR GEORGE PAISH VISITS WALL STREET

NOT ACTING FOR BRITAIN

Denied That England Is Seeking Accommodations Here or Will Be Before October.

Sir George Paish visited the financial district yesterday but, so far as could be ascertained, attended no formal conferences and simply paid informal visits to some of his friends. He was the guest of R. F. Loree of the Guaranty Trust Company at luncheon at the Bankers' Club. Mr. Loree declined to say who else attended the luncheon, but insisted that there was no significance to it and that it was purely a personal matter.

At the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. it was said that Sir George had no connection with the British Government, and it was added that communications from Government sources in London said that the British Government had no program which contemplated appeals to the American investment market in the near future. England, it was learned, is not likely to be in this market for accommodation until October, at the earliest, when the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan matures.

It is expected that Sir George will go to Washington within a few days, and it was considered likely yesterday that he would see prominent officials there and might discuss with them the general situation abroad.

Lieut. Col. Norman K. Thwaites, head of the British Military Mission at 44 Whitehall Street and general representative of his Government in this city, said yesterday that there appeared to have been some misunderstanding in New York regarding the visit of Sir George Paish. "I do not think for one moment," Lieut. Col. Thwaites continued, "that Sir George intended to convey the idea that he was here on behalf of the British Government. He has come to America on private business of his own and also to ask aid for the Fight the Famine Fund in Austria, where the people are dying of starvation.

"Sir George is not connected with the British Government in any way at present, and the statement that he was raising a big loan for England in this country is absurd. Any views that he has expressed for publication are entirely his own and do not represent the British Government in any way.

"Viscount Grey, the appointed British Ambassador to Washington, is sailing tomorrow on the White Star liner Adriatic for Southampton to attend to some urgent affairs in London which require his attention, and while he has seen a number of prominent American officials and Cabinet members in Washington, discussing foreign affairs, he has not had anything to do with loans between this country and Great Britain in any way.

"It is regrettable that Viscount Grey has not been able to present his credentials to the President and become the accredited British Ambassador to the United States, but the circumstances at Washington were such that it was impossible."

Viscount Grey, who arrived on Tuesday from Washington has been stopping at Mrs. Whitelaw Reid's house, 451 Madison Avenue, and is expected to go to the Adriatic about noon today with his suite and take luncheon on the liner before she sails at 2 P. M. Among those accompanying the Ambassador are Sir William Tyrrell, K. C. M. G., his private secretary, and Major Crauford Stuart.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Harriman National Bank has declared a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent., payable today. The bank shows undivided profits of $1,500,000 for the last year.

John Clausen, formerly Vice President of the Chemical National Bank, has been elected a Director and Vice President of the Union National Bank of Seattle, Wash. He will go to his new post in the latter part of this month.

Reazell & Chatfield of Cincinnati are offering $750,000 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the Whitaker Paper Company to net investors 7 per cent.

The Mercantile Bank of the Americas announces the opening of a branch of its Venezuelan affiliation, the Marcaribo, the Banco Mercantil Americano de Caracas.

The American Trading Company has announced payment of the annual 2 per cent. quarterly dividend on its $2,500,000 preferred stock, and in addition a 4 per cent. dividend on the $2,500,000 stock of the company from the 1919 earnings. This dividend is payable Jan. 15.

An analysis of the investment basis for American International Corporation stock is contained in a circular just published by Chandler Brothers & Co., 34 Pine Street.

JANUARY COTTON ADVANCES 46 POINTS

SPOT PRICES GO DOWNWARD

Big Export Clearances Over the Holiday and Yesterday Considered Especially Bullish.

As was the case on Wednesday when the big advance in Liverpool spot prices dominated our market and caused some fairly substantial advances here, yesterday's local market was again inspired largely by what had happened earlier in the day at the chief European centre. However, instead of spots at Liverpool being the sensation, yesterday it was the future market which performed in unusual manner. Spots, as a matter of fact, underwent a downward readjustment, losing 34 English points from Wednesday's high level of 20.50d., but futures were sensational, with the January option going up 98 points net on the day, February 95 points, and March 84 points. The more distant months were up anywhere from 42 to 53 points.

These advances were a great deal more than the Liverpool market was due to advance to be in keeping with our closing of Wednesday, and the trade was inclined to make much of the situation. This added a lot of buying orders to those which had accumulated in the mails over the holiday and during the session the market rose 45 points for January, and 70 to 87 points for the other active months, closing within about 10 points of the day's high.

Advices from abroad, sent over to explain the movement there, spoke of the great boom in the Manchester goods market and of the pressing demand both for spots and futures which is being received not only from British interests but also from Continental inquirers. This demand appears to be more brisk now than at any time this season, and the reports from overseas say that it is likely to continue for some time to come.

Under the circumstances, the big export clearances reported over the holiday and yesterday were considered especially bullish. Exports on Thursday amounted to 35,626 bales, and yesterday 92,181 bales went out, making the total for the week 216,090 bales. Of yesterday's big total, 67,600 bales were shipped to Great Britain, out of Savannah and other ports, and 24,581 bales were dispatched to China and Japan.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

HIRSCH QUITS FIGHT ON RENT PROFITEERS

NOT PRAISED IN REVIEW

Chairman Says City Failed to Turn Over Part of Moneys from Sale of Army Food.

Because of the failure of Mayor Hylan to provide funds to carry on the work of the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering and Taxation, Nathan Hirsch, Chairman of the committee, announced his resignation yesterday. This turn of affairs came as a surprise. The relations between the Mayor and Mr. Hirsch have always been of the friendliest. The Mayor wrote to Mr. Hirsch on Nov. 17, when the latter asked permission to resign for business reasons, assuring him that "no man has ever performed a greater service to the citizens of this city than you, and, whether you like it or not, I am not going to permit you to resign."

The immediate reason for the break is the failure of those in charge of the $500,000 fund derived from profits on army food to set apart a portion of this money for the work of the Committee on Rent Profiteering, even after the Mayor had publicly promised that this would be done. It is stated, however, that a contributing cause lay in the fact that in a review of the committee's activities published in The World last Sunday the Committee on Rent Profiteering was practically the only activity of the city government not to receive definite praise. In referring to the refusal of the O'Malley committee to turn over part of its funds to the Rent Committee Mr. Hirsch says: "The refusal of this committee to carry out your express wishes places us, may I suggest, even your Honor, in a most awkward and humiliating position."

Correspondence with Mayor.

Mr. Hirsch made public yesterday the correspondence with the Mayor. It concludes with a letter to the Mayor dated Dec. 26, which follows, in part:

"If this work is to continue it is imperative that sufficient funds be forthcoming at once. The committees have grown out of their swaddling clothes and can no longer exist by begging, borrowing, or 'stealing' office assistants from one department or another. If the work is to be properly conducted, with the greatest efficiency and with a minimum expense to the city, they should have the proper force without having them at the pleasure of the Commissioners from whose offices they are borrowed at present.

"If you are of the opinion that an appropriation of about $30,000 cannot be procured for the year 1920, I respectfully suggest that you dissolve and discharge the committees from further work.

Century Theatre Incident.

Regarding the Mayor's promise of funds to Mr. Hirsch's committee, the latter issued a statement which read:

"Dec. 14 last the Mayor attended the benefit performance given at the Century Theatre to add to a contingent fund to be used to alleviate distress caused by evictions among the poor. Between the acts the Mayor caused Captain Charles A. Goldsmith of the committee to announce on his behalf that a part of the $300,000 fund, gained by the city through overcharging for army food, would be used to further the work of the Rent Profiteering Committee. Applause caused by this good news filled the auditorium. Thereafter Mr. Hirsch was taken by the Mayor to the committee having the disposal of the fund in charge, but in spite of the Mayor's public promise Mr. Hirsch was told that the poor he represented would get no part of the fund. In a letter to the Mayor, dated Dec. 26 last, Mr. Hirsch dealt plainly with this situation."

Since the appointment of the committee, Mr. Hirsch has met a large part of the expenses out of his own pocket. Since Nov. 1, 1918, the committee has received through appropriations by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment 10,537.50. The fund is now exhausted.

THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

The trade reviews of the last week note that commodity prices continued to show an upward trend, with the momentum gained through the latter part of last year likely to carry the list along for some time this year.

Dun's Review says:

With business having gathered great forward momentum in 1919, the movement may conceivably carry some distance further; but its duration will be largely dependent upon conditions which have not as yet assumed concrete form, and it is significant that there are signs of increasing caution among conservative interests. The problem of high prices, becoming more complex as some markets tend steadily upward, is plainly one which is not devoid of disquieting possibilities, as has been frequently reiterated, and the continued evidences of extravagance in personal expenditures are the reverse of reassuring. That the inflation of prices and of buying has been carried beyond the limits of prudence and safety is the contention in not a few quarters, and the question as to how soon and in just what way the inevitable readjustment will manifest itself is one of no little importance.

Bradstreet's says:

Less than normal holiday quiet in wholesale and jobbing lines, a heavier than usual volume of past holiday clearance sales at retail, few notable exceptions to reports of almost uniformly strong commodity markets, especially marked strength alike of demand and prices in iron and steel, lumber, and other building materials, active stock market speculation at advancing prices despite next to highest call money rates and highest time money quotations of the year, and industry active and sold ahead three to six months, are some of the salient features of what has been in ordinary years a quiet week in trade and industry. An upturn in the weekly food index number due to sharp advances in hogs, eggs, and dried fruits, with steadiness in most other foods, is an additional element of the week's news.

Meeting of Clothing Travelers.

The Men's Apparel Club of New York State will hold a meeting on Monday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the Blue Room of the Hotel McAlpin. The organization now consists of over 200 members who are salesmen in the clothing and furnishing goods trades. Representatives from houses in these branches are invited to attend the meeting, which will be for the purpose of discussing plans for receiving buyers who will visit the market during February.

An Invidious Comparison.

While it might not have been the intention of the store to discredit low-priced goods, a show window was seen yesterday that contained a rather sharp contrast between what a high price would secure and what could be obtained for less money. The display of low-priced garments appeared to be in keeping with the economy sales advocated by the Government. Alongside of these ill-fitting and carelessly made models were shown some designs combining perfect workmanship with excellent materials. For the poorly made garments as much as $24.50 was asked, and to show these off to their worst advantage were models priced up to $85.

Ordnance Silk Is Ready.

The McLane Silk Company will show samples of the army ordnance or cartridge bag cloth on Monday in their show rooms. Following this the goods will be offered for sale by the company and by the Bush Terminal Sales Company, who combined to make the purchase from the Government. The converters of the fabric in preparing it for commercial use have worked to procure finishes and designs that will meet as many requirements as possible so that the material will have the widest distribution. It is understood that those who have the marketing of the goods will feature the cloth in models designed by some of the leading dressmakers.

Adopt Ready-to-Wear Clothing.

It would be no mistake to say that the leading makers of men's ready-to-wear clothing are putting forth their best efforts during this period to increase the sale of the perfected and well-styled garments. That their efforts are not without effect is seen in the increased use of ready-to-wear by exclusive shops that formerly would have nothing to do with manufactured lines. Such stores, however, first put in overcoats, and in many cases have dropped their tailoring lines and substituted ready-to-wear garments. In this city the strike of tailors hastened this move, but the advantages enjoyed by the manufacturers both in the buying and production end have also been largely responsible for such changes.

Quiet in Garment Trade.

While the local women's garment industry is in a ferment from the standpoint of the labor situation, the same activity is not apparent in the line of business. Houses that specialize in resort wear are fairly well occupied, but the remainder of the trade awaits the coming of buyers. In line with their cautious policy the retailers will want to visit the market before placing orders the manufacturers believe, and consequently there is less actual business coming in than in a normal season. With a threatened strike to add to their troubles the garment makers have prospects of a very troublous period.

Record Toy Fair Next Month.

What leading manufacturers of toys assert will be the largest event of its kind ever held here will start early next month. The annual toy fair, which begins on Feb. 2 and which will continue until March 13. All lines of toys will be on display, from the simplest set of wooden blocks to the most elaborate dolls and mechanical playthings. The largest number of exhibits will be located in the Hotel Imperial, where about 175 domestic manufacturers have already reserved space. A number of exhibitors will make their headquarters at the Hotel Breslin, where between 75 and 100 reservations have been made to date. Smaller groups of manufacturers will exhibit at one or two other hostelries.

Hard Coal Supplies Lighter.

Anthracite production has been curtailed about the usual extent by holiday shutdowns, Saward's Journal will say today, and, in addition, mining and transportation have been hampered much of the time since the middle of December by weather conditions. Low temperatures and snow storms have been particularly troublesome in the case of tidewater shipments. Many days in the past three weeks the anthricite piers in the harbor have handled only from two-thirds to three-quarters of their normal tonnage. However, the heavy Summer distribution placed an unusual number of consumers in a position where they do not have to send in rush orders for coal whenever the mercury takes a drop. Bituminous shippers are beset with many difficulties in trying to restore market conditions to something approaching normal.

Another Gray Goods Record Made.

The new year in the local gray goods market got away with a fine start yesterday, when 32 cents was paid for spot 39-inch 80 squares, the highest price on record for a printcloth construction. Among the other printcloths to show great strength were 38½-inch 64-60s, all the "spots" of which that were available at 21 cents being cleaned up early. Bids of that figure later in the day failed to bring out goods, as holders were firmer in their demands for 21½ cents. Nineteen cents was paid for 38½-inch 60-48s for delivery during this and next month, while, for shipments of 39-inch 72-76s running from February to May, 26 cents was paid. February-March lots of 39-inch 68-72s brought 25½ cents. Not a great deal was done in sheetings or specialties, but in the fine-yarn cloths sales of combed lawns were made for January-March shipment at high prices. Included in this business were 40-inch 88-80, 8.50s, and 40-inch 80-80, 9 yards, at 40 and 38 cents, respectively.

Should Study Them Carefully.

The December letter to the members of the National Association of Credit Men calls attention to the need of careful analysis on the part of credit men of financial statements rendered to them by buying concerns. One thing which should be guarded against, the letter points out, is the statement that is too general in character and that could not be used if necessary for prosecution in event of the maker's insolvency. The need of having the statement show the recent annual sales of the customer is strongly stressed, for it is contended that without this information it is very difficult to determine whether the buying concern is going ahead or falling back. Among the other things the annual sales will show, the letter says, are whether there is a sufficient turnover of merchandise and a proper turnover of accounts, whether the credit sales of the concern are out of proportion to its capital, and whether there is an overextension.

FURS SCARCE AND HIGH.

No Immediate Prospect of a Reduction in Prices of Them.

Little hope for lower prices on furs for some time is held by Norman H. Bacon, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, who has just returned from an extended business trip which took in Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Winnipeg, and Edmonton. Everywhere, Mr. Bacon said yesterday, he was met with reports of short catches, especially of muskrats.

"Several reasons were advanced for the smallness of shipments to the leading receivers of furs," Mr. Bacon went on, "particularly in the case of muskrats. At least so far as Northwestern Canada is concerned, however, the scarcity of these skins is chiefly attributed to the drying up of the sloughs. Whatever may be the actual reason, the fact remains that 'rat' prices are very high and are advancing daily. The same thing is true of all other kinds of furs. The trappers are very much alive to the fact that the principal markets have advanced sharply, and they are making the most of the situation. So are the country dealers who collect from the trappers. Dealers of this type, especially in Canada, who bought early and held their purchases are now making large profits. As between the trappers and the dealers, however, I believe the former have the better of it.

"I found the fur business active in all of the cities I visited, and in Canada I found general business much better than it is generally thought to be. The premium on American funds there is hampering trade between the two countries somewhat, but it is also having the effect of diverting practically all shipments of Canadian furs to the United States. The Canadian collectors were quick to take advantage of the fact that by shipping their skins to this country they could obtain the equivalent of about a 10 per cent. increase over the prices paid by the big Canadian dealers."

P. S. SMITH IS TRADE ENVOY.

Schenectady Man Will Study South American Industrial Markets.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Philip S. Smith of Schenectady, N. Y., was today appointed trade commissioner to study South American markets for industrial supplies for the Bureau of Commerce. He will leave New York for Buenos Aires early in February.

Appointment of Lincoln Hutchinson of California as commercial attaché at London also was announced today by the Bureau of Commerce. Mr. Hutchinson was formerly Professor of Commerce at the University of California. During the war he represented the War Industries Board in London and later went to Prague for the American Food Relief.

No Newsprint Embargo by Canada.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Authoritative denial of rumors that the Canadian Government contemplates an embargo on the export of newsprint paper has been received by the Bureau of Commerce. Canadian mills were said to be running at capacity, turning out about 2,775 short tons daily, of which 90 per cent. is exported, most of it to the United States.

COMMODITIES PRICES.

An Excess of Advances Especially Marked in Foodstuffs.

Commodities prices, as reflected by Dun's list, did not celebrate the coming of the new year very auspiciously from the consumer's point of view. In fact, it was quite the other way, for 43 of the 54 changes shown by the list were advances. Last week, when there were 62 revisions, there were but 29 advances. Nearly one-third of this week's fluctuations took place in the foodstuffs, which showed three advances to every decline. A feature was the drop of 25 cents a barrel in the price of Spring patent flour.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

*Government maximums. †Nominal.

There was no change in Winter straights flour in the local provisions market this week to accompany the break in Spring patents that was reported above. However, both bacon and hams were higher. At Chicago the only break was in Middle Western lard, while the single advance shown was recorded by live hogs. The market there was quieter than for some time, live beef, live sheep, mess pork and short ribs all showing a change.

In the dairy products no change was seen in butter or in the best cheese, but there was an advance in the under grades of the latter. The nearby fancy eggs moved up a cent a dozen, but remained a similar amount below the comparative 1919 price. The best Western eggs advanced 3 cents a dozen this week, and now cost 6 cents more than they did at this time a year ago.

The change in the listed fresh and dried fruits consisted solely of an advance of $1 a barrel in fancy apples and a decline in cleaned currants. Vegetables prices established a new record for steadiness, the only change being a rise of $1 a bag in onions. This put them at $4 a bag, against $1.25 in early 1919. Neither the coffees nor the teas showed a revision one way or the other, but in the spices declines in black pepper and cloves offset a further rise in nutmegs. Open-kettle molasses advanced again at New Orleans, in sympathy with the increasing cost of sugar. Corn and malting barley contributed the declines to the grains list, with the advances shown in oats, rye, prime timothy hay and long rye straw.

While fewer than for several weeks, all of the changes in the metals list were upward. The seven advances shown were in No. 2X and valley furnace basic pig iron, open-hearth billets, electrolytic copper, spelter, lead, and tin. The combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils showed but nine changes, of which six were advances. One of the few features was a drop of $2 a barrel in the price of Norwegian codliver oil, which now costs $27 a barrel less than at this time a year ago. The revisions in the naval stores consisted of advances in resin and turpentine.

The paper market was generally firmer, showing advances in news roll, M. F. book stock, chip boards and straw boards. The tobacco list showed three advances, all of which were in the burley varieties. For the first time in many months neither advances nor declines were seen in the quotations on hides and leathers. Hemp was higher, and the same was true of tallow.

Not a great deal of activity marked the week in the textile fields. Burlaps took on a slightly firmer tone, but for the most part it was of a sentimental order. In the cotton goods prices were firmly sustained all around, quotations on gray goods for early deliveries being especially strong. In the silk trade time was marked pending the completion of inventories, while in the woolens and worsteds interest centred in the coming openings for next Fall.

BRITAIN PLANS BIG TRADE OFFENSIVE

HOPES TO 'INVADE' AMERICA

He Advocates Friendly Commercial Rivalry in This Country's Home Markets.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The British Government is planning a great overseas trade offensive, declared Sir Hamar Greenwood, head of the Department of Overseas Trade, in the course of an interview today in which he outlined the scheme. It includes sending of touring trade exhibitions to South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Canada.

Sanction for the plan has already been received from the Treasury Department, Sir Hamar said, and it was proposed also to send similar exhibitions to South America and the United States.

He said that 1920 promised to be the greatest year in the history of British trade, barring strikes. He added: "We desire to strike a blow at the fetish of German cheapness, fostered by the Leipsic fair."

Regarding America, Sir Hamar said: "I am for friendly commercial invasion of the great American Republic. Some of our products now are in greater demand by the United States than they ever have been, and the limitations of our productive capacity form the only limit of our export trade to the United States."

A statement issued by the American Chamber of Commerce here says that Great Britain faces a year of unprecedented trade, if the nation can escape further labor trouble and clear away transport congestion.

American business men are urged to invest in foreign securities and enterprises in order to aid in the balancing of exchange, which now is forcing Europeans out of American markets.

The Chamber of Commerce says it expects an early settlement of the strike of molders, which for fourteen weeks has been "slowly strangling the productivity of shipyards, railway workshops, motor factories and engineering establishments." This labor tie-up, which is said to be the only important one at present, is represented as vitally affecting the railways and adding to transportation congestion, in view of the fact that thousands of cars cannot be repaired without castings, and because new cars are not being built, since private enterprises are unwilling to invest their money until the Government settles the issue of the nationalization of the railroads.

Settlement of the molders' strike and a decision by the Government on the nationalization issue, the statement of the Chamber of Commerce points out, will clear the road for a great industrial advance.

UPHOLDS DAKOTA PROGRAM.

Court Sustains Laws Establishing State-Owned Industries.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 2.—The State Supreme Court today held constitutional the laws providing for a State industrial program.

The decision validates bond issues for the inauguration and maintenance of State-owned industries and enterprises within the scope of the program.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

One of the largest recent sales of Broadway property adjacent to the old wholesale dry goods district was closed yesterday when the Morgenstern Brothers syndicate of operators purchased the seventeen-story bank and office building, occupying a plot 150 by 75 feet, on the northeast corner of Broadway and Pearl Street. It was sold by the Central Syndicate Building Company, which held the property at $3,-000,000. The buyers paid all cash and negotiated a renewal of the lease of the ground floor with the Citizens National Bank at a considerable increase of rent.

Known as the Citizens National Bank Building, the structure was erected in 1900 by the selling company for the purpose of providing a permanent home for the bank. It yields a gross annual rental of about $300,000, is of fireproof construction and well located within a block of the new Court House to be erected in the plaza north of the Municipal Building.

That half of the leases of the building expire May 1, 1920, was an important factor for the purchasing syndicate in buying the building.

In addition to the bank the building has as tenants the Arkwright Club, the Standard Textile Product Company, each occupying two entire floors; the United States Finishing Company and many other prominent bleachery and cotton houses. H. L. Moxley & Co. were the brokers in the transaction and negotiations are reported in progress for a resale of the entire property.

The Morgenstern Brothers syndicate have recently acquired over $2,000,000 of the finest type of twelve-story fireproof lofts in the city; among them being the Rockton, 122 to 130 West Twenty-seventh Street, on a plot of 100 by 100; also 130 and 132 West Twenty-ninth Street on a plot of 40 by 100, and 24 and 26 West Twenty-fifth Street, on a plot 50 by 100, near Broadway.

James Butler Leases the Ormonde to J. C. La Vin for $2,500,000.

At a gross rental of $2,500,000 for a term of twenty-one years the Hotel Ormonde property, at Broadway and Seventieth Street, has been leased by the James Butler syndicate to J. C. La Vin, formerly proprietor of the United States Hotel at Saratoga Springs. Harvey B. Nelvius negotiated the transaction. The property, which is now being rebuilt, will be renamed the United States Hotel and opened about August, 1920, as a family and transient hostelry.

Exchange Buffet Corporation Acquires John Street Site.

The property at 17 to 23 John Street was sold yesterday to the Exchange Buffet Corporation for the Volkening estate after negotiations stretching over a period of three years for a sum approaching $700,000. The property covers a plot of over 10,400 feet, and the buyers are preparing plans for the erection of an office building on the site. They will utilize the ground floor and basements for a lunch room, and will sublet the upper floors. Manning & Trunk negotiated the transaction.

Knox Building, Fifth Avenue and Fortieth Street, Leased to Syndicate.

The ten-story Knox Building, at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fortieth Street, has been leased to a syndicate that plans extensive improvements.

The structure occupies a plot fronting 33 feet on Fifth Avenue and 110 feet on Fortieth Street. The Farmers' Loan and Trust Company is the owner of record.

Recently there was formed at Albany the Fortieth Street and Fifth Avenue Corporation, capitalized at $50,000, and having for Directors B. Mordecai, E. C. and F. G. Potter.

John Street Corner Plot Assembled for Office Building.

With the purchase yesterday of 109 John Street from the Stevens estate, Sigsbee Graham has assembled a plot of 5,500 square feet at the corner of John and Pearl Streets fronting 27 feet on Pearl and 40 feet on John Street. Plans are being prepared for the erection of a twelve-story office building on the site. Charles F. Noyes Company negotiated all the deals involved in assembling the site.

Demand for Office Space Far Exceeds Supply.

The following bulletin has been issued by the Building Managers and Owners Association of New York: "The demand for offices is far in excess of the supply which will be available on May 1 next. This is particularly so in the financial district and in the neighborhood of Forty-second Street. It might be well for building managers to attempt to relocate in their districts those lines of business that do not find it absolutely necessary to be in these restricted areas. This, if developed, will be of great benefit in relieving the serious congestion of business in these districts."

Realty Note.

SMITH ASKS PARLEY ON GARMENT WAGES

Workers and Employers Will Send Conferees on 30 Per Cent. Demand to Albany.

UNION DISAVOWS STRIKES

Forty-seven Factories Are Reported Closed and 5,000 Out—Figures on Which Rise Is Asked.

Governor Smith took a hand yesterday in the threatened strike of garment workers, who are dissatisfied with the wages they are receiving under a three-year contract entered into May 29 last, and are asking an increase of 30 per cent. A telegram was sent by Governor Smith to both the Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Protective Association, representing about 325 manufacturers who refuse to grant the demands of the workers, and to the Joint Board of the Cloak, Suit and Reefer Makers' Union, proposing that representatives of the two bodies meet him in Albany on Monday afternoon next to discuss the situation. The manufacturers announced that they would send a committee, as requested, and it is understood that the workers also will be represented. The telegram read:

"Noting in today's press that a crisis is imminent in the important cloak industry that may involve the families of 40,000 workers, I consider it a matter of serious public concern. I therefore request that you send representatives of your organization to meet me in the Executive Chamber of the Capitol at Albany on Monday, Jan. 5, at 2 o'clock, to confer with me on ways and means of solving the questions now agitating the industry with a view of preventing a general stoppage."

Morris Sigman, manager of the Joint Board of the Cloak, Suit, and Reefer Makers' Union, declared that there would be no general strike, and asserted that the union had not and would not sanction the action of workers who have stopped work in forty-odd shops. He said the union expected to live up to its agreement, which runs for three years from May 29 last. The union, he said, had requested an increase of 30 per cent. in wages, based on the increase cost of living since the agreement was entered into, and also contended that the minimum scale provided in the contract was about 30 per cent. lower than it should have been under the cost of living then prevailing. He added that, while it was not a part of the contract, it had been customary in the industry to revise agreements when conditions warranted it.

Mr. Sigman said he thought about 2,000 workers had stopped work. The manufacturers said the number of plants stopped had increased yesterday from 42 to 47, and that the total number of workers out was 5,000.

"According to Bradstreet's," Mr. Sigman said, "the rise in the cost of living since August, 1915, is about 75 per cent. The United States Government figures show 85 per cent. In August, 1915, the minimum salary of a cutter was $27.50. We got an increase in August, 1916, which brought it up to $29, although, according to Bradstreet's, the figure then should have been $32.18. In August, 1917, the cutter got $31; August, 1918, $35, and in May, 1919, $39, the present minumum wage for the cutter. This makes the total increase $11.50, or less than 60 per cent. According to Bradstreet's the increase should have been $20.63, or 75 per cent., to keep pace with the cost of living."

FIND BROWN'S PEN IN SOLDIER'S HANDS

Mrs. Vester Says She Gave It to Admirer Before the Murder.

WIDOW AGAIN EXAMINED

Special to The New York Times.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 2.—The likelihood that the murderer of J. Stanley Brown may be traced through some of the personal effects of the slain man was suggested this evening when it was learned that Brown's fountain pen was in the possession of Ben Sorenson, a Camp Custer soldier who has been friendly with Beatrice Vester, the woman held on the charge of murdering Brown.

This fact was made known to the authorities through the receipt of an anonymous letter sent to Alan Straight, chief of police. The letter was postmarked Camp Custer and said Sorenson was not only displaying the fountain pen formerly belonging to the murdered Mount Clemens man but had openly boasted that the Vester woman was regularly "trimming Brown."

Word was immediately sent to the commanding officer at Camp Custer, who said he would make an investigation without delay. Mrs. Vester admitted giving to Sorenson a fountain pen formerly belonging to Brown, but said she had taken it from him some time before his death and that the soldier had it before Dec. 22.

It was reported today that members of a law firm, counsel for Lloyd Prevost, now held without warrant, were on the track of the missing money belt of the dead man.

A systematic search was begun today for bloodstained clothing. It is inconceivable, say the Sheriff's deputies who examined the car in which the crime was committed, that the murderer could have escaped contact with the blood that was smeared about the interior of the automobile.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 2 (Associated Press).—Alex J. Groesbeck, Attorney General of Michigan, took a hand today in the investigation of the Brown murder. Before a Macomb County Justice of the Peace he planned to bring proceedings in the nature of a Grand Jury inquiry. His first act was to examine Mrs. Hugh Ruth Brown, the slain man's widow.

GIFT FROM ROCKEFELLER.

Baptists Announce $2,000,000 Contribution to Victory Fund.

A gift of $2,000,000 from John D. Rockefeller was included in a sum of $8,000,000 which the National Committee of Northern Baptist Laymen announced yesterday had been raised in their victory campaign which closed Dec. 31. Mr. Rockefeller contributed $1,000,000 to the American Baptist Home Mission Society and $1,000,000 to the Foreign Mission Society.

These gifts were in addition to $2,000,000 recently given by him to the Baptist Ministers' and Missionaries' Benefit Board, which will apply to the $100,000,000 foundation which the Baptist Church is organizing. The church program for the next five years includes Americanization work among the foreign born, educational aid for American Indians and negroes, organization of family groups in local churches for social and civic purposes and increases in ministers' salaries.

DAVID BELASCO PRAISES THE WAYFARER PRODUCTION

Belasco, Famous Producer, Impressed with Spectacle, Audience "Held in Spell of Reverence, Realizing Import of the Greatest of All Human Dramas."

To The Interchurch World Movement.

Gentlemen:

Allow me to express to your great organization my admiration of the high purpose that has prompted your fine production of "The Wayfarer" at Madison Square Garden. Aside from its undoubted success as a dramatic spectacle, with its artistically devised scenes, and its beautifully handled story of The Messiah, I was especially impressed by the note of earnestness and sincerity which seemed to inspire its throngs upon the stage that even a matter-of-fact New York audience was held in a spell of reverence, as if realizing for the first time the true import of the greatest of all human dramas, enacted in Palestine over nineteen centuries ago.

It is a presentation not merely for one creed or one faith. It may be seen and enjoyed by Jew and Gentile, Catholic and Protestant; for, after all, its lesson is for humanity, and its dramatic appeal is as sure as human sympathy itself.

That the Interchurch World Movement should have undertaken to present this great story in its present form, and to do it in so masterly a fashion, is the most hopeful sign of the universal good that can come if henceforth church and stage will only work in friendly alliance.

Let me thank you for a wonderful evening!

Faithfully,

David Belasco

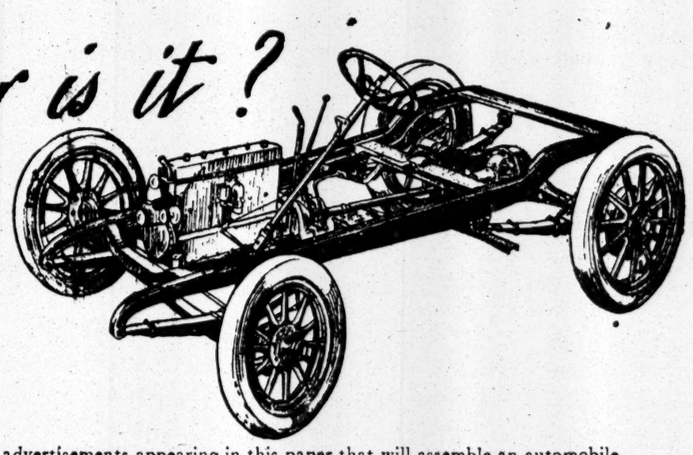
What car is it?



Feature No. 4.

What car has a six cylinder (cast en bloc) valve-in-head motor with detachable cylinder head, totally enclosed valve mechanism and adjustable silent chain drive for camshaft and accessories?

THIS is the fourth of six advertisements appearing in this paper that will assemble an automobile before your eyes. Upon each successive appearance of the advertisement there will be added one of Five Distinctive Features in high-class motor car construction—the first, second and third being the features previously described and now listed below, the fourth feature being included in the assembly today. To test the knowledge of the public and its appreciation of the vital points of automobile design, a prize will be awarded to the writer of the letter which, in the opinion of the judges, most convincingly and tersely describes the advantages of these Five Distinctive Features.

What the letter must contain

In last Sunday's paper the assembly started with the first of these Five Distinctive Features—a pressed steel frame tapering in a straight line from the greater width at the rear. The letter will start with a presentation of the advantages inherent in this particular design of frame. The advantages of the second, third and fourth features in turn will be described in your letter. When all Five Features have appeared, your letter may be completed. As, so far as we know, there is but one car that contains all Five of these Features, your letter will naturally establish the make and name of the car.

The Prize is the Car Itself

Touring Model

The American public justly prides itself on its knowledge of and ability to classify the various makes of automobiles. Almost every American citizen is a potential car-owner, and he wants to understand the important points of high-class construction, so that when he does buy he will know exactly what he is getting for his money. The car referred to in this contest contains, among many other items of excellence, ALL FIVE of the quality features enumerated in this series of advertisements. To the best of our knowledge and belief, it is the only car containing ALL FIVE of these distinctive features.

Five Distinctive Points of Excellence

In illustrating one at a time, the Five well-known Distinctive Features, the name of the car will not be mentioned or suggested in any way. The illustrations and descriptive matter in each case will be general, but the features can be recognized, both by those familiar with motor car construction and by prospective car owners who give the matter careful study.

The Features Previously Described

No. 1—A pressed steel frame tapering in a straight line from the greater width at the rear.
No. 2—Semi-elliptic springs both front and rear, of high carbon and chrome vanadium steel with bronze bushed eyes; front axle, a drop-forged I-beam with chrome nickel steel spindles; a floating rear axle with spiral bevel gears.

No. 3—Four 12-spoke artillery type wheels on Timken adjustable bearings; steering gear of the worm sector type, irreversible and adjustable.

Great Automobile Prize Contest

1. All persons directly connected with the manufacture or sale of automobiles, or concerned in the production and publication of this series of advertisements, are barred from entry. The Judges reserve the right to withhold the award from anyone shown to be so connected or concerned and in that case to award the prize to the writer of the letter judged next in merit.

2. Only one letter allowed to each person, but several members of a family may send a separate letter for each individual.

3. The writer of the letter which most convincingly and tersely describes the advantages of the Five Distinctive Features, thus establishing the make of the car containing them, will be presented with one of these great American cars (latest Touring Model) absolutely free.

4. Letters must be in the hands of the Judges not later than midnight of the 5th day of January, which is 3 days after the opening of the Automobile Show.

THE JUDGES

C. F. CLARKSON, General Manager Society of Automobile Engineers.
H. C. BROKAW, Technical Director West Side Y. M. C. A. Automobile School.
A. G. BATCHELDER, Executive Chairman American Automobile Association.
ALFRED REEVES, General Manager, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.
ALEXANDER JOHNSTON, Editor "Motor."

How to Enter the Contest

Jot down the names and prices of all the cars you can think of which have a pressed steel frame, springs and axles of the types described above, four 12-spoke artillery type wheels with Timken bearings, the worm sector steering gear, irreversible and adjustable, and a six cylinder (cast en bloc) valve-in-head motor with detachable cylinder head, totally enclosed valve mechanism and adjustable silent chain drive from camshaft and accessories. Reason out in your own mind just why each of these features has certain advantages and make notes from which you can write the first part of your letter. Then you will be ready to consider the 5th Point of Excellence which will be published in this paper tomorrow.

When you have all five points before you and finally see a picture of the body of the car—and the car itself, if you visit the Automobile Show—you probably will have little difficulty in establishing what car it is that has ALL THE FIVE POINTS OF EXCELLENCE BUILT INTO IT. After that it is merely a matter of completing and mailing your letter.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF WINNER

The car itself, which can be seen on the streets of New York in ever increasing numbers, will be one of those on exhibition at the National Automobile Show at the Grand Central Palace, from January 3rd to January 10th, where the announcement of the winner will be made on Wednesday evening and the car awarded. Thursday's paper, January 8th, will contain the name of the winner and all the news regarding the contest.
